Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Fortas Resignation?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Monday he has "very reliable" information that Justice Abe Fortas will resign this week from the Supreme Court.

Fannin said the information came to him from a Washington attorney in a position to know. At the same time, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed that he met secretly with Chief Justice Earl Warren to give him "certain information known by me which might be of aid to him."

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Stage Perfect Holdup

NEW YORK — Four bandits escaped with $150,000 in cash yesterday after staging a perfectly executed holdup in Brooklyn's largest department store, while thousands shopped unaware.

Police said the three holdup men and a driver got away in a Volkswagen after seizing a payroll bag from the Abraham & Straus department store. They took a guard for the U.S. Trucking Co. with them but dumped him out a few blocks away.

Asks Softer 'MP' Law

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren yesterday gave tentative endorsement to a controversial proposal to ease the penalties on first offense on marijuana charges.

It was Warren's first official agreement with a report of his technical advisory committee on drug abuse. Meanwhile, Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery called on the Assembly State Affairs Committee for tougher penalties and "the total suppression of illegal drugs."

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

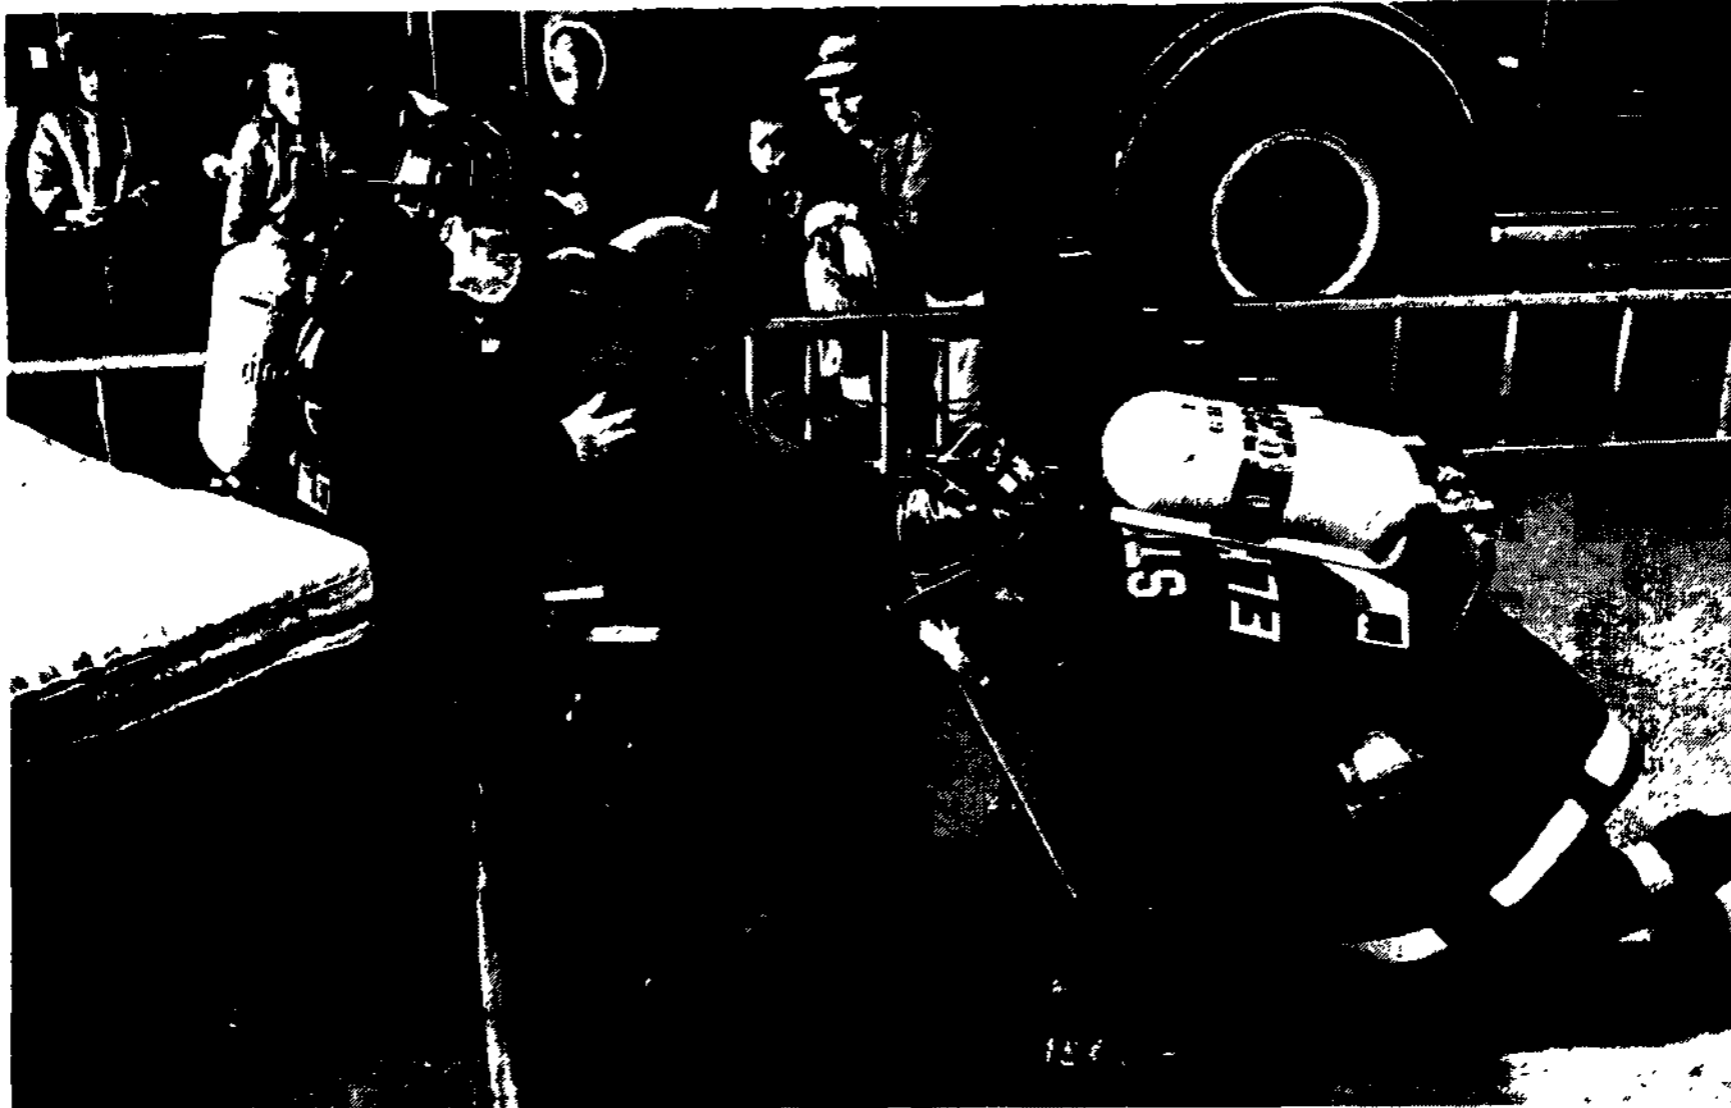

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3½-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot

Eviction of Migrant Tenants Ordered

by MARTHA KOPER

Instructions to immediately evict all tenants from several migrant housing locations in Palatine Township were issued to two property owners Monday morning by Cook County officials.

At an administrative hearing, Francis Hogan, acting violation supervisor for the county building and zoning department threatened legal action if the tenants are not gone within 10 days.

Charged with zoning violations are Ivan Vasylyaty, who lives at 600 W. Wood St. and owns property there and at 1000 N. Smith Road and 263 N. Quentin, and Mrs. Jesse Morales, resident and property owner at 136 N. Quentin.

Hogan plans to contact the state attorney's office today to discuss seeking an injunction to force compliance with the law.

"We can get a court order, if necessary," he said.

VASYLYATY SAID he intends to contact an attorney before evicting tenants. He was told to return with his lawyer to another hearing next Monday.

Mrs. Morales agreed to evict a family and several single men from her house by the end of the week.

The owner of several shacks at all three locations, Vasylyaty said he rents living quarters to migrant workers "because they have no other place to go."

He said he charges $5 a week to a single man and from $60 to $80 a month to a family.

"But I don't need the money. I need the help," he said.

In the landscaping business, Vasylyaty said some of his tenants also are his employees. Then later, he said that most of the men work in factories in the area.

County officials were trying to decide if housing on his property could be classified as a migrant camp outlined in a 1941 Illinois statute. But they determined definite zoning violations since tenants are charged rent and all are not employees.

A COUNTY official asked, "Why don't you tear the shacks down?" after Vasylyaty said he can't refuse homeless migrants when they knock at his door.

"I've even let them sleep in my own bedroom and in my car. Maybe I could fix up the shacks," Vasylyaty suggested.

But Ed Hennessey, county plumbing supervisor, said, "There's no possible way you could bring those shacks up to standards which would comply with our ordinance."

The Cook County Public Health Department also has investigated the migrant housing locations and reported "conditions unfit for human habitation."

The report indicates substandard sanitary conditions, litter and garbage in the yards and evidence of rats, according to Hogan.

In addition to undesirable living conditions on the Morales property, county officials were concerned about abandoned autos on the two-acre tract.

Mrs. Morales, who said she's been renting rooms to single men from Mexico and Texas for the last eight years, said most of the cars were left on the property last year by men transported back to Mexico when police discovered their illegal entry into the country. She said the cars and tenants would be gone by Saturday.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

"Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or ill at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next?" D. H., Fresno, Calif.

"Dear D.H.: Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy." Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., a man who claims the powers of extra sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during

Bonds Are Issued

by GEOFFREY MEHL

It was sort of like a box full of Herald front pages when it arrived — interesting reading, but in terms of dollar value not worth much more than the paper it was printed on.

When it left, it was worth nearly $1.5 million.

The scene was the conference room yesterday morning at Elk Grove Village Hall, and the chore was putting two signatures on each of 286 pieces of paper worth $5,000 each after they were signed.

Out of a plain, cardboard box came the bonds — purple, green and orange. The purple ones represented a municipal complex in various stages of planning for the last two years; green represented fire stations in the industrial park and west of Illinois Route 53. Orange was for the refurbishing of the building in which bonds were being signed.

words "village clerk," and finance director Donald Eppley checked them over to make sure there were the correct number of bonds, that they were signed properly, and put back into the box in correct numerical sequence.

Harry Jenkins sat watching it all, providing the security of the chief of police, backed up by a guard outside.

Pahl sipped coffee and talked about legislation before the general assembly, an idea to work an arrangement out with the park district, the smoking issue at Elk Grove High School, and good and bad investments.

Mrs. Turner talked of travel and her interest in historical sites and shrines; Eppley wondered aloud what he would do with $1 million; Jenkins punctuated conversation with comments in a variety of directions.

It was plainly a chore, something which had to be done, signing documents which were nothing more than a formality. But

Papal Order Draws Critics

The Pope spoke, and there were fewer saints.

Pope Paul VI announced last week that more than 10 saints would be dropped from the Roman Catholic church's calendar and their traditional feast days will no longer be celebrated by the church.

Among those saints stripped of their sainthood are the popular St. Christopher, the patron saint of travelers, St. Nicholas, the beneficent bishop whom legend turned into Santa Claus, St. Alexis, and St. Simeon.

The purpose of the change is to stress that Jesus Christ is the center of the Christian year, but the Pope's decision to drop St. Christopher from sainthood has made many Catholics unhappy.

"The change has not been well received by my customers," explained Ronald Jedlinski, manager of Roman's Religious Goods in Chicago. "These saints are traditional, especially St. Christopher, and the Pope's quick removal of them from the calendar has frightened many Catholics.

"The fact that St. Christopher is a legendary figure is no great revelation in itself, but discontinuing his feast day and degrading his popular reputation has hit like a bomb," he said.

Since the Pope made his decision known to the public, most of the religious goods stores in the area have experienced an increase in the sale of medals of the excommunicated saints.

"St. Christopher medals are selling better than ever," said Jedlinski. "I guess people think that if St. Christopher is really on the way out, medals commemorating him will become collectors' items."

A SPOKESMAN FROM Universal Religious Objects in Chicago said that business has doubled since the Pope desanctified the 10 religious figures.

Universal has had more calls and requests for St. Christopher medals than the shop can supply, including orders placed by long distance telephone. The customer reaction at Universal has been one of grave disappointment with the Papal decree.

"I doubt seriously if manufacturers will discontinue making St. Christopher medals, despite the Pope's decision. St. Christopher has been around a lot longer than Pope Paul VI, and the people are just not willing to drop their devotion just like a hot potato," said the Universal spokesman.

"It's the Pope's privilege to cut the saints from the calendar, but the people that I've talked with at the store are tremendously disappointed, especially the older believers," remarked Mrs. A. Garvin from Ecclesiastical Goods in Chicago.

"So far we haven't experienced any decline in business because it's a little too early yet to tell, but I'm sure we'll have one. It's hard to estimate at this time what the sale decreases will mean in dollars and cents, but we're bound to be affected by the change," she said.

"THE CHURCH HAS posed a very delicate problem for its members. How do you tactfully discourage the veneration of a traditional saint without undermining someone's faith?" asked Jedlinski from Roman's Religious Goods.

Local priests have refused to comment on the change, since they have yet to receive the official report from the Pope. Their answers seemed to indicate that they hoped that the press had invented the story and it was the media's mistake, not the Vatican's.

A chaplain at St. Alenius Hospital in Elk Grove Village, when asked about the Pope's decision to eliminate St. Alexis from sainthood in view of the hospital's name, quipped, "Oh, you mean Elk Grove Community Hospital?"

Dental Education, Too

The dental service project to be launched this Wednesday by Norwesco will be accompanied by another first, the start of a dental education program for low-income families of Elk Grove, Barrington, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Palatine and Hanover townships.

Mrs. Dennis Moore, chairman of the project, announced that more than 400 people are now scheduled to receive the preliminary examination and participate in the dental hygiene program Wednesday.

The Cook County Public Health Department will coordinate the dental health program, to include a 30-minute film and a demonstration by local dentists of basic dental hygiene procedures. This meeting will be held in the meeting room of the J. C. Penney store in the Golf Mill Shopping Center, Niles.

TEN LOCAL dentists will donate their time in giving free preliminary examinations to needy families in a large office in the shopping center, the first step of the dental service project. Mrs. Moore said that this may be the first formal program in the United States in which dentists donate their time and professional care.

Two major goals set for this screening session are, first, to chart the dental needs of those examined and make referrals to local dentists on the basis of this information, and secondly, to provide the statistics necessary to secure permanent funding for the program.

A group of 11 area dentists has been working with the dental service committee and will ask, through the Chicago Dental Society, that local dentists give their services on a no-charge or low-cost basis after the need has been documented through the examination Wednesday.

Transportation will be provided for families participating in the project. Application blanks for the program are available through the Northwest Opportunity Center, Rolling Meadows, 255-3456.

Agency Fund Has a Hearing

Mrs. William Trevor of Rolling Meadows, a member of the advisory committee to the Northwest Opportunity Center, and Mark Seever, active in St. Peter's Lutheran Church youth group in Arlington Heights, will appear before a House committee in Springfield tomorrow.

House Bill 1429 which would allow distribution of surplus township funds to be voted to self-help agencies which are nonprofit and nonsectarian, will be discussed by members of the House County and Township Committee.

Mrs. Trevor, past president of the League of Women Voters of the Arlington Heights-Mount Prospect area, will describe activities of the Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows, which would be eligible for a share in township funds under the proposed bill.

A COORDINATOR of the Hike for the Hungry in the Northwest suburbs, Seever will present a young person's viewpoint on citizen responsibility to local agencies. One-third of the Hike's proceeds went to the Opportunity Center.

Co-sponsors of the bill are State Reps. Eugene Chapman, Eugene F. Schlickman, David J. Regner, Anthony Scariano and Leland H. Rayson.

At the present time schools, mental health organizations, "Over 50" clubs for senior citizens and historical societies receive surplus Wheeling Township funds.

Like these groups, self-help agencies would receive township funds if electors attending the annual township meeting approve transfer of monies.

Study Merit Pay

Harper Junior College trustees tonight will go over a merit pay plan drafted by the college faculty.

A faculty committee will present the document which calls for evaluation of each college teacher by both college administrators and his peers.

At the 8 p.m. meeting on the Harper campus Algonquin and Roselle Roads, trustees will also discuss some recommended appointments to next year's teaching staff and act on a proposed 1969-70 college calendar.

This is the second time round for the college faculty evaluation proposal which will form the basis for a merit pay plan at the community college.

The evaluation system has been reworked since trustees over it a couple months ago.

Prof. George Makas, head of the division of humanities, told college trustees that although the evaluation document has been reworked, only "minor changes" have been made.

Adoption of the evaluation plan will not mean merit pay for the Harper faculty during 1969-70.

If approved this spring, the merit pay plan will go into effect for the 1970-71 school year.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Way We See It

End Bill Suffocation

With seven weeks remaining in the current legislative session, a huge backlog of bills is once again building in the General Assembly.

Even with annual sessions of the legislature, record numbers of bills have been submitted. Many of these measures have little chance of final passage, or if approved, signature by the governor. Many of them have narrow application or deal with subjects of less than statewide concern.

These "nuisance" bills occupy an enormous amount of time better spent on pressing problems of Illinois.

First, the Legislative Reference Bureau must put them in legal form. The bureau drafted more than 3,500 bills for legislators before the May 5 deadline this year. This enormous effort occupied the full-time attention of 13 lawyers and a pool of typists, working since the start of the current session.

Merely having a deadline for the introduction of bills will aid legislators, because they will have more time to deal with this pile of legislation. Whether seven weeks is enough time, however, is doubtful, because the legislature will have to devote an enormous amount of time to the critical problem of state revenue.

Typically, the closing hours of a legislative session witness a steam-rolling of legislation. Legislators work around the clock to approve or kill bills with which they have little familiarity.

In the past, the legislature has passed some bad legislation and left to the governor the job of vetoing numerous bills which legislators should have stopped. This invests in the governor unwarranted legislative power, and it shifts the burden of full study to his staff.

Something must be done to reduce the number of bills law-makers are asked to consider. Without stifling the individual legislator's right to introduce legislation, it might be helpful to have a formal screening process established through which party and legislative leaders could indicate to him what chance his bill would have of building support.

One of the bills criticized this session as a nuisance bill was a measure repealing the state's horse thief act. It was well intentioned, but perhaps what it suggests is a review of all state legislation to weed out antiquated measures rather than time-consuming individual repealers.

The legislature has taken significant steps to improve its handling of legislation; more work remains.

Give Thanks to Planners

by MARY DRESSER

People don't appreciate a good municipal zoning code until they sell their houses.

Homeowners are usually out of town before they realize they owe a debt of gratitude to the zoners who rigidly enforce codes.

That may be why it is hard to interest qualified people in serving on zoning boards and commissions. They always hear the gripes and rarely get a pat on the back.

A building commissioner has to have a

Mary Dresser

"It's my kids, in my back yard, in my swimming pool," snaps a housewife. "It's my business, not the village's."

THE GRIPES about garbage collection ordinances, parking ordinances, monotony ordinances, sewer and water ordinances, are part of everyday conversation among suburban homeowners.

Everyone hates to lose freedom, even if that freedom only means parking cars in the street all night.

It is not until the homeowner is ready to move that he realizes the strict codes improved his property value and put real money in his pocket.

BY THEN, it's too late for him to take back all the impetuous things he said about the village municipal code.

Developers holler even louder than homeowners, because a tough, strictly enforced building code makes them build better but more expensive houses and apartments, thus cutting into their profits.

However, some of the builders eventually see that the codes they so bitterly resent increase the value of their developments.

Last week, at a luncheon honoring retiring Arlington Heights Building Commissioner Harold (Red) Best, shrewd and articulate builder Ben Pekin gave this toast:

"TO RED. I never thought I'd be sorry to see him go. But now I know that his policies made me, inadvertently, a 'quality builder'. Today my developments are selling better than ever before and I am making more money."

A tough code made Pekin's property more valuable. A tough code adds, literally, thousands of dollars to the homeowner's net worth.

The best service a village can give its taxpayers is a tough code, strictly enforced.

The irony is the homeowner rarely sees this until he leaves the village.

hide like a rhinoceros to protect him from irate homeowners and developers who contend he is inflexible, heartless, and a . . .

Members of plan commissions, zoning boards, and boards of local improvements, are considered, by some, the natural enemy of a homeowner's individual freedom.

IT WASN'T too many years ago that zoning codes were opposed by rugged individualists who insisted codes violated a man's right to dispose of his own property.

The same arguments used against fair housing legislation were used against zoning codes.

"No government agency has a right to tell me what I can and cannot do with my own property," zoning opponents contended.

Zoning codes are accepted now, but with little enthusiasm.

"What right have they got to say I can't park my trailer any place I please on my property?" snarls the camper.

"If my neighbor doesn't complain, why can't I build my garage right up to the property line?" a homeowner asks.

"I should be able to build a fence any height I like," says another.

Minds Dulled by Smoking?

The forlorn, haunted and bewildered expressions on the faces of some Elk Grove High School students (see the picture in the April 28, issue of the Mount Prospect Herald) is an exhibition, not of manliness and courage, but of utter helplessness and futility of the young people to cope with the Lady Nicotine, our nation's malignant enemy as branded by the American Medical Association.

These young people are assembled there with a petition demanding that the school administration establish a smoking area, where they could freely indulge themselves in undermining their health.

In my opinion this ignominious situation is the result of the weakness our young generation has become heir to. In this case, the craving for tobacco has superseded the craving for education. "We must get what WE THINK is good for us," is the motto of today's young people, and many of them are prone to ignore what their educators preach IS good for them.

Is it not disgusting to a teacher who has labored so conscientiously to impregnate his or her pupils with the principles of good health, see them at the end of the period rush out of the classroom and hurry to the smoking area to blow it all away in smoke?

And if you would ask, why they do it they would likely answer, "Because it pleases our nerves."

And most of them are not aware, or they don't care, that this kind of pleasure may, in the future, lead to painful consequences. As Jane Porter, the English novelist, once said: "When the cup of any sensual pleasure is drained to the bottom, there is always poison in the dregs."

Count Change at Toll Road's End

Weekend in Wisconsin? Let's see, there's 15 cents to get on the tollway at Highway 53. Stop at Elgin for a ticket. Cash it in at South Beloit for $1.20. Total cost for highway use — $1.35. From South Beloit on it's free-way.

Those were the good old days.

On May 1, the ticket booths at Elgin and South Beloit were closed.

and the periodic stop-and-pay system in use on other segments of the tollway system were opened on the Northwest Toll Highway.

We took a May Day ride on the Northwest to report to you on the improvements that had been brought about.

Let's see. On at 53 — that's 15 cents. Stops to deposit 35 cents at four toll plazas.

The toll attendants were perfectly friendly. The occasional stops made the trip seem shorter. The road seemed smooth as ever. At the end, there was still that great freeway.

Let's see, something important must have changed. Oh, the total cost for highway use — $1.55.

Palatine Today

Let's Bring Back Our 'Downtowns'

by ED MURNANE

One of the first indications of a town's maturity, and the first impression it generally makes on an outsider, is the appearance of its downtown business district.

There are other things, obviously, which make impressions on a newcomer, such as the style of home construction, the number of trees, the churches and schools and, in general, the atmosphere a town projects on a short drive through its streets.

Similarly, the tax base, the quality of the schools, the kind of government in the town and the services offered to residents are usually more important to the taxpayer than the appearance.

But an outsider driving into a strange town doesn't always notice these things. He might not see a school or church or a park while driving down main street, but he will see the downtown area.

THAT'S WHY it has always puzzled me why some communities do absolutely nothing to improve their appearance.

It's even more disturbing to see the new towns develop unattractive downtown areas which would lead a visitor to think the town must be cold and heartless.

In this area, there are three or four communities which have been here for many years and were not part of one particular suburban area or just a stop on the commuter line to Chicago.

Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect are three in particular which were established long before there was a need for O'Hare Airport and thousands of acres of tri-level homes.

EACH OF THE THREE had its own stores, a few barber shops and bars, and the other businesses that make a downtown area.

Some of the older buildings in many of the towns have become rundown, and many have been restored or remodeled. But they still are there and they give the town a personality of its own.

The visitor driving through one of these towns might not know a thing about the community but he can at least tell that he is in some town and he can see things that make this town different from the others he has passed.

BUT IT NOW APPEARS that the downtown area, which is so important in establishing a town's personality, is becoming a thing of the past.

The new towns — those which have developed in the past 15 years — have all but eliminated the downtown area.

Look at the new suburbs in this area — Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, Elk Grove Village — and you'll see that the

by JAMES VESELY

A few weeks ago one of my colleagues took on automotive dealers, implying some of them were giving less than fair service for the money.

I agree with that premise, but last week I ran into another group of entrepreneurs who match car dealers toe to toe.

It's the people who sell carpeting. Like many new homeowners, my wife and I set aside some money for carpeting. Our funds are meager, but should buy reasonably good carpeting based on current prices.

We went to a shop, saw something we liked, and then talked to the saleswoman about it.

IN EFFECT, she said she would give us a better price if we dealt exclusively with her. She asked a description of the house and then we arranged to place a hold on the price and type of carpeting we desired.

Then we made a mistake. We gave the saleswoman a $50 deposit.

Jim Vesely

Well, weeks went by, the saleswoman was reported in the hospital, and we waited for her return.

When she came back, we discovered that the price of carpeting had suddenly gone up. We would have to pay a little more.

Next we learned that the carpet company took our brief description of the house and made a diagram of the amount of carpeting we need.

THE STORE MANAGER now says the diagram was done at our house and that it shows the exact amount of yardage we "ordered." The date on his diagram places his measurements at a time before our house was built.

So, we said no deal. We are not interested in that kind of pressurized selling.

And I guess that means we have said goodbye to our $50, because the company refuses to return our deposit.

DESPITE A CHANGE in price, despite inaccurate drawings of the amount of carpeting needed and despite the fact that they rendered no service whatsoever, the $50 is gone.

Lessons like that are expensive, but sometimes it takes a jolt to your budget to be wary of carpetbaggers.

I pass this little message on to you for what it is worth. The next time you walk into a store, watch out.

Someone might be trying to pull the rug over your eyes.

Newcomers To Sponsor A Gay Night in Paree

Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization will benefit from proceeds of the "Parisian Carnival" dance to be given by the Mount Prospect Newcomers Saturday, May 17 at the Bensenville Fire Hall. The dance will carry out the French cabaret theme both in decor and floor show.

A chorus line, all members of the club, will can-can on stage under the direction of Mrs. Donald C. Small. Sultry French songs will be sung by "The Coachlitters" in special barbershop harmony, and a few "funny and very French" skits will be performed by Mrs. Jack Anderson and Mrs. Robert Ufford.

Bob Nord and John Bus-jager will emcee the evening and music and dancing will be to the tunes of Mike Dell's band.

"THE COACHLITTERS" represent the Arlington Heights chapter of the SPEBSQSA. Members are Craig Huotari, singing the lead, Don Frantz, tenor, Bill Sprenger, baritone and John Gatto, bass.

Mrs. Small, the dance director, studied dance at Indiana University, and performed in that school's Jordan River Revues. The University's dance troupe, of which she was a member, toured army bases in and around Indiana and danced for the Metropolitan Opera Company in a reciprocal performance.

Dancers in the line will be Mrs. John Bus-jager, Mrs. Anthony Di Benedetto, Mrs. John Dunn, Mrs. David English, Mrs. Larry Hinkemeyer, Mrs. Tom Horan, Mrs. Kenneth Kwiatk, Mrs. Ray Lynch, Mrs. Martin Perman, Mrs. Richard Ruffalo, Mrs. Alfred Wiczorek and Mrs. Charles Yuse.

After the Necessities, Art

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — After dishwasher, dryer, washer, blender and other necessities, most owners of mortgaged cottages these days are doing the newest "in" thing—shopping for an original, preferably oil painting.

New York alone has 500 little art galleries with paintings billed to fit the average person's pocket. Nationwide, recently a franchised art gallery business has made a bid to make the art shops almost as popular as the fried chicken places.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"The main thing is it has to have lots of pigeonholes for unpaid bills."

Most people shopping for art the first time feel on strange ground. Mrs. Dene Ulin, head of an art consultancy service in New York, says the average buyers find the occasion "difficult to horrendous."

"But this needn't be," according to the woman who's been advising clients nationwide for nine years, including many making their first purchase.

"Buying art is like a successful marriage—frustrating at times, but bearing the rewards of living with something you love," she said.

Mrs. Ulin is a specialist in what is good in the young "today scene" in art. She has discovered and promoted several artists who had not gained sufficient recognition to be represented by a gallery.

She represents some 30 artists in various media from oil paintings to light sculpture, mercury paintings and plastics.

To those who are about to wet their feet in the art marketplace, she suggests:

—If you haven't had a great deal of exposure to art, go to the library for some basic learning. Visit the museums and art galleries in your town. Keep an open mind and open eyes. "You can't acquire a taste for art without exposure—and the more the better."

—Decide what you like. "Because something is new or in in art today is no criterion that it is good or that you have to like it."

—Avoid frustration by knowing your price range. If one is looking for a good $100 print, it is a waste of time to shop a

Caricaturist Is Newcomer Guest

Newly-elected officers will be installed at the Hoffman-Schaumburg Newcomers Club meeting Thursday, May 22, at the Indian Lakes Country Club, Bloomingdale.

Highlight of the evening will be a performance by caricature artist Bob Bowman, who will choose members of the audience for his sketches.

The Newcomers will have cocktails and dinner at the club beginning at 6 p.m. For reservations, members may call Mrs. Neil Hartman, 894-1077, or Mrs. Andrew Kenar, 894-2856. For those not attending the dinner, the social hour will begin at 7:30 p.m., followed by the business meeting at 8 p.m.

OFFICERS FOR the 1969-70 season to be installed at the candlelight ceremony are: Mrs. Donald Swan, president; Mrs. William Krear, first vice president; Mrs. Larry Linkin, second vice president; Mrs. Ronald Deering, recording secretary; Mrs. Jeffrey Burch, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Schuster, treasurer; and Mrs. Jules Johnson, historian.

Newcomers to the Hoffman-Schaumburg area are invited to attend the dinner and meeting. Members and newcomers should call Mrs. George Knauer, 894-1494, for reservations for the meeting.

Kathy Midle, New Rainbow Advisor

Wheeling Assembly 81, International Order of Rainbow for Girls will be meeting for installation of officers, Saturday 8 p.m., in the Wheeling Masonic Temple, 16 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling.

The newly-elected worthy advisor, Miss Kathy Midle of Deerfield, will be installed by her cousin Miss Pat Anderson of Des Plaines, a past worthy advisor of Wheeling Assembly. Other installing officers will be Miss Susan Seebler, Miss Ruth Anne Seebler, and Miss Mercedes Wimer, all of Wheeling and all past worthy advisors of Wheeling Assembly.

The Excalibur Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will give the Nine O'Clock Interpolation. Miss Carol Sommer of Wheeling, Worthy Advisor of Wheeling Assembly for the past four months, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Big Dance and Sound Of the '40s Returns

The Mount Prospect Music Makers, a 15-piece band which brings back the sound of popular dance music of the 1940's, will be featured Saturday for "The Big Dance Band Sound." The whole family is invited to the dance which will be held at the North Shore Unitarian Church, 2100 Half Day Road, Vernon Township.

According to the chairman, the dance will give young people an opportunity to dance to the sound their parents enjoyed during the years of the big bands. If they can't keep up with their parents on the floor, there will be old W. C. Fields and Laurel and Hardy movies in another room.

At intermission, the "Incredible Lite-show," produced by Gary Gand, will be presented to give adults an opportunity to see the newest entertainment popular with the children.

Salad Potluck May 21

Women of St. Mark Lutheran Church will be holding their annual "Favorite Salad Luncheon" Wednesday, May 21, at 1 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the church. A potluck affair, hostesses will provide rolls and dessert.

An added attraction this year will be a program of songs by children of St. Mark Nursery School of which Mrs. Roger Johnson and Mrs. Willard Pingel are teachers. There will be a nursery available for small children.

—Try to know the reputation of the gallery from which you are buying. Sometime one's local museum is a good source of reference.

—Before making the purchase, if a major one, take the work of art home and live with it for a few days. Most reliable galleries and artists will agree to this. Factors to consider: Lighting, color complements or contrasts.

"And, please, don't rely on your friends' opinions," Mrs. Ulin said. "You will be living with the painting or sculpture. Friends only visit it."

Regina Auxiliary Nominates Officers

Regina Auxiliary of Knights of Columbus Council 4837 in Wheeling-Buffalo Grove will elect officers at its May 14 meeting in the community room of the Ranch Mart, Wheeling.

The proposed slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee at the April meeting.

Nominated to serve for the coming year were Mrs. Patrick Voyce, president; Mrs. Joseph Leo, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Waymel, treasurer; Mrs. William Spinelle and Mrs. James Mallay, secretary; Mrs. John Walsh, one-year trustee; Mrs. Joseph Mangan will be retained as one-year trustee.

Honor Nursing Graduates

Thirty-five young women make up the first graduating class of Harper Junior College's nursing course and will take their state examinations as registered nurses in June. Each will receive an associate degree in nursing.

They were honored recently at a luncheon hosted by the Northwest Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary. The student nurses had utilized the local hospital for lab courses and had worked with the hospital staff and volunteers during their two-year course at Harper.

OF THE CLASS of thirty-five, seventeen were on the staff at Northwest Community Hospital as nurses aides, technicians and practical nurses before enrolling in the Harper course. Eight even continued part-time during their two years of intensive college training and would be seen in the hospital one day in a student nurse's uniform and the next day in a surgical gown.

Among the nurses honored at the luncheon was Rosemary Grabowicz of Wheeling who was the recipient of the Auxiliary's scholarship awarded to a second-year Harper Junior College student majoring in the health field.

rector of nursing, at a recent Auxiliary luncheon for the first graduating class of nursing students at Harper Junior College. Rosemary has a scholarship from the Auxiliary.

Storm Warning: Stay Safe in Car

The soft gentle rains of springtime can be deceptive. Sometimes they turn into cloudbursting, electrical storms. But unless the downpour causes poor visibility there's no need for a motorist to stop his car.

If, however, you're forced to pull over and wait out a storm, one of the safest places to avoid lightning is in your car — at the open.

Rubber tires insulate a car and keep the current from grounding the vehicle, so there is little danger that lightning can harm passengers, advises the Chicago Motor Club-AAA.

If you decide to pull over and wait for the storm to pass, the motor club offers these safety suggestions:

Don't park under a tree or pole. If struck by lightning, it might fall on top of your car.

Try to avoid parking under overhead powerlines strung along the roadside. During severe storms many of these lines are knocked down.

It is impossible to tell just by looking at a line if it is a "live" wire. If a wire hits your car, you are safe when you stay inside. Since you can't tell the condition of the wire, sit tight and wait.

But avoid touching any metal parts inside the car. If you must summon help, use a wooden or plastic object to activate your horn.

Scholarship Winner, Elections for Nurses

Announcement of the nursing scholarship winner will highlight the meeting Tuesday, May 20, of Mount Prospect Nurses' Club. An added attraction will be the movie, "Mrs. Reynolds Needs a Nurse!"

Election of officers will also be held. On the slate are Mrs. Anthony Konstant, president; Mrs. Donald O'Rourke, vice president; Mrs. Daniel Kendrick, treasurer; and Mrs. Kermit Davis, secretary.

All registered nurses in Mount Prospect are invited to the meeting which will be held in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Richard Becker, 805 S. SeeGum at 7:45 p.m. Further information about the nurses' organization or the meeting may be obtained by calling 259-0899.

Friday Card Party

It will be ladies' night out Friday for women of the Catholic Woman's Club of St. Joseph the Worker Church, Wheeling. The affair, a card party and penny social, will be the final ways and means project of the group and will be held in Nazareth Hall of the church at 8 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased at the door and all women of the area are invited.

Musical Art Program For the Elks Ladies

Artist John Mosiman, creator of an art form which blends painting and music, will entertain Arlington Heights Elks Ladies Auxiliary at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The evening will begin with cocktails at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 8. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Carl Pasquale at 253-6422, or Mrs. Richard Sterne, 392-7504. Guests are invited.

The speaker studied at Wheaton College and Northern Illinois University, and served as art director of a radio-TV station in Ecuador, South America, where he developed the techniques used in "Musical Painting."

La Leche Meeting

"Advantages of Breastfeeding" is the subject of the La Leche meeting being held tonight (Tuesday) at 8:30 in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Raymond Hornbostel, 2112 E. St. James St.

Mrs. Quentin Ford and Mrs. Roland Shepard will lead the discussion. Mrs. Hornbostel may be reached at 392-2724 and Mrs. Shepard at 259-3784 for information regarding the group, organized in 1956 to help mothers nurse their babies.

Natural Disaster Is Main Focus Of Civil Defense, Nurses Told

Natural disaster and the role of civil defense were topics at the recent meeting of the Hanover Township Nurses Association. Guest speakers were Mrs. Henry Benning, Mrs. James Cuchirara, Robert Bingham, and George Venzke, all of Streamwood Civil Defense.

After the presentation of a movie, "tornado," the four discussed civil defense in Streamwood. They stated that although CD was originally conceived for defense against nuclear attack, its main focus now is natural disaster.

Tornado season is CD's busiest time of year, they explained, as men from CD act as tornado scouts when tornadoes threaten. These volunteers from the community go out to look for signs of a tornado. If one is spotted, the information is radioed back and the siren is sounded.

THE CD MEN stressed that once the siren is sounded, residents have at most five minutes to take shelter. The best places for shelter are in a basement, against an inside wall or under a heavy piece of furniture.

Next meeting of the nurses association will be Wednesday, May 28, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Margaret Smullen, 229 Maxon, Streamwood. Officers for 1969-70 will be sworn in, and the annual scholarship winner will be announced. All area RN's are invited.

Peggy Biermann Becomes Bride Of George Szwiec on April 14

After a romance of seven months, a Rolling Meadows couple, Peggy Lee Biermann and George Franklin Szwiec, became Mr. and Mrs., and are now residing at 452 Bode Road, Hoffman Estates.

Both are graduates of Forest View High School, Peggy in June '68 and George in June '67. The groom is with Murphy Carpet and Furniture Co., Elk Grove Village, and until her marriage, the bride was employed by Perfection Spring and Stamping Co. in Mount Prospect.

Their marriage took place April 14 in Trinity United Methodist Church, Niles, Mich. with Rev. Michaels performing the noon time service. For her marriage, the bride, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Biermann, 3410 Campbell Ave., Rolling Meadows, and the late Mr. Biermann, chose a green velvet dress with matching accessories and handbag. Her corsage was of white carnations and baby pink roses.

THE GROOM'S parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Szwiec, 2208 Willow Lane, Rolling Meadows, served as witnesses for the marriage service. The Szwiecs also hosted a wedding party in their home on May 3 when 40 relatives and friends from Chicago and suburbs met their new daughter-in-law.

The couple honeymooned for five days in Niles, Mich., before taking up residence in Hoffman Estates.

Mom-Daughter Fete

The Women of Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, 930 W. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, will hold their annual mother-daughter banquet Friday at the church. Tickets are available through Mrs. Glenn Coffin, 529-5389.

Penney Howe

Donna Carole Dearen

Rhonda Narter

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Howe, 1337 Michele Drive, Palatine, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Penney to Christopher Ferro, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Ferro of Evanston. An Aug. 23 wedding is planned.

Miss Howe is student teaching at Kimball Hill School in Rolling Meadows. While attending Northern Illinois University, she became affiliated with Delta Zeta Sorority. She will graduate in June from Northern where Mr. Ferro will begin his graduate studies.

Kathleen Sinek

Miss Kathleen Sinek's engagement and wedding will take place on May 24 to Richard E. Sinek Jr., son of the senior Richard E. Sinek of Cleveland, Ohio. She is being married by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sinek, 2704 Owl Lane, Rolling Meadows.

The wedding will take place in St. Columba's Church in Rolling Meadows.

Miss Sinek is a graduate of Forest View High School and Moser Business College. She is employed as a secretary at Inland Steel Co., Chicago. Her fiancé attended Alameda College and Northeast Louisiana State University and is now in the service.

An Aug. 16 wedding in Bardstown Baptist Church, Bardstown, Ky., is planned by Miss Donna Carole Dearen and Franklin Keith Reyher Jr., son of Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Franklin Keith Reyher Sr. of Ashburn, Ga. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage are announced by Miss Dearen's parents, the William H. Dearens of Arlington Heights.

The bride-elect will receive her B.S. degree in mathematics in June from Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., where she is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta Sorority and Kappa Delta Epsilon honor society. The future bridegroom received his B.S. degree in biology from Emory and is presently a candidate for his master's degree in microbiology at Georgia State College, Atlanta, Ga. While at Emory, Mr. Reyher was a member of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Sigma and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

Linda Ann Wheeler

The engagement of Miss Linda Ann Wheeler to Douglas Hilton, son of the Karl Hiltons of Angola, Ind., is announced by her parents, the Donald Wheelers, 714 W. Elm St., Arlington Heights.

Miss Wheeler, a '66 graduate of Arlington High School, also studied at the University of Illinois. Her fiancé, a '65 graduate of Angola High School, is in the Navy, a boatswain's mate, third class, stationed at Norfolk, Va. The couple plans a June 7 wedding.

Hoffman Estates residents, the Richard J. Heckers, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Alice E., to Michael A. Skoneczka, son of the Chester Skoneczkas, also of Hoffman Estates. A July wedding is planned.

Both young people attended James B. Conant High School. Miss Hecker also attended Maine South High School for three years before transferring to Conant. She is employed by A. B. Dick Co. and her fiancé is employed by Shell Gas Co.

At the Moraine-on-the-Lake Hotel in Highland Park on June 14, Miss Rhonda Narter will become the bride of James Freitag of Niles. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage are announced by Miss Narter's parents, the Bernard Narters of Wheeling.

Miss Narter was graduated from Arlington High School in 1964 and attended Northern Illinois University. She now works for United Air Lines. Her fiancé studied at Valparaiso University and now attends North Park College, Chicago.

Design Thai is in the unique position of screen printing its own poplin and silk. Prints taken from Thai ceramics, wood carvings, temple walls, tapestries and china give these fabrics the freshest and most original look. Tracery quilting brings the patterns into bold relief. Prices on clothes in the new collection from Bangkok range from $35 to $135.

Party or at-home versions of the slacks suit for men include such marks as: shirts with cadet collars, chest yokes and fly fronts; others with squared-off bottoms. Sleeves are cut very full and relatively close-fitting cuffs are deeper than usual. The shirts are meant to wear over the trousers. Suggested accessory touch: broad belts slung low over the hips.

Enrico Caruso believes "hair should move." Now what that means, the hair-stylist explains, is: "It should have a youthful gait, like a little girl in a mini-skirt." To achieve this movement, he recommends a middle of the neck length, semi-tapered cut, only a little bit of setting lotion with conditioner to keep hair lithe and full of movement.

The flying cube, in case anyone asks, is a new foldaway mini-case for a wig. It totes like a handbag. When not in use, it unsnaps, folds flat and is stashed. It comes complete with Lisa wig brush-comb and refillable flacon of special formula wig lustre.

There has been a lot of emphasis on the shaped look in double-breasted jackets, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, but the single-breasted silhouette continues popular in low set two-button models, three-button models with close button placement and four-button models. All have the features of shape—wide lapels, deep vents and longer coats.

For many years, the seven fold tie (self-lined rather than wool lined) was a big feature of quality neckwear. It's coming back. Another revival is the shirt suit—with tailored tops and slacks of the same fabric in the same color.

Breakfast Idea Breaks Tradition

Here's a question for breakfast? What if you ask nutritionist Frances "Fran" Hagan? Especially where young people are concerned, the important thing is to get the right nutrients into the breakfast. One of the excuses for skipping or skimping on breakfast is that it's "old-fashioned." They're right, it is old-fashioned.

Miss Hagan, assistant director of nutrition research at the National Live Stock and Animal Health Board and mother of two college students, believes that there's nothing new about eating with the same old thing, if that happens to be eggs and/or bacon or sausage and/or milk and fruit.

"BUT YOU don't have to belong to the most generation to know traditions are being broken all over the place," including so-called established food patterns. She said "Look how many people are eating breakfast-type foods, like eggs and pancakes, for supper, cereals for lunch etc."

All of us should get a fourth to a third of our daily required nutrients at breakfast and teenagers require even more nutrients than adults. So what does it matter whether it's hamburgers or hot dogs or pizzas or ham sandwiches for breakfast—perhaps with milk shakes or soft drinks—so long as they eat?

Handel's 'Maccabaeus' on NW Chorus Bill

The story of a brave people—the Israelites—has a heroic moment in their history. The capture of Jerusalem by the Romans in 70 A.D. is the subject of Handel's oratorio, "Judas Maccabaeus." It will be performed by the Northwest Choral Society, Sunday, May 18, at 8 p.m. on Sunday, May 18, at the Church of the Holy Spirit, 1000 N. Lincoln St., in Chicago.

"Judas Maccabaeus" is rich in its structure of stirring choruses and heart-rending solos such as "Hallelujah, Amen" and "Ah! Wretched Israel." In continuing our efforts to expand the musical horizons of our audiences, we are pleased and proud to be able to bring this masterpiece to them.

A 21-PIECE orchestra will fill out the accompaniment, plus the regular piano accompanist of the chorus, Pauline Lord, at the harpsichord and Susan Chamberlin at the organ.

Thunder teaches music at Maine West High School and serves as organist and director of music at Christ Church as well as teaching organ, piano and voice privately.

The Northwest Choral Society, a non-profit, non-demonstrational community chorus, draws its membership from the greater Chicago area. It is open to all the residents of Illinois and after this concert, new members will once again be accepted.

Admission to the concert will be by advance donation only. Infant care will be provided at the Church that night. Further information can be obtained from Carol Iverson, 259-6414; Sue Carson, 595-0510; or Leona Weight, 427-1618.

Backache—What It Means to You

If you're suffering from an aching back, how you feel in the morning may provide an important clue to diagnosis, according to Dr. John Mennel, chief of physical medicine and rehabilitation service at Brentwood Hospital.

Dr. Mennel emphasized that back pain may accompany anything from a cold to a tumor. In fact, backaches are probably the most commonplace of all symptoms.

If a night's sleep relieves the pain, Dr. Mennel said, you may have a slipped spinal disc. If, however, your back feels stiffer, your muscles may be strained or injured.

If rest heightens the pain, then infection or disease is indicated. When activity at first relieves the pain but then the pain returns more forcefully later, the disease probably involves only the back. If the pain is not relieved by rest or activity, the disease may be developing anywhere.

Taking your temperature will also help distinguish a disease from simple muscle or disc pain, the physician pointed out.

You can. You can make better coffee.

Palatine's Mitchell, Riehm To Leave District Positions

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Bernie Mitchell has lost 20 years of coaching experience . . . according to District 211, that is.

Bob Riehm was too rough with the boys he coached . . . according to Palatine principal Leonard B. Newendorp.

And Palatine High School and high school District 211 has just lost athletic director Bernie Mitchell and wrestling coach Bob Riehm.

District 211 has established a salary schedule for the upcoming 1969-70 school year. The salary schedule procedure states that an instructor would be paid on the basis of each year the instructor taught in District 211 and up to eight years outside District 211. Thus, Bernie Mitchell, who has been in District 211 for two years, has 20 of his 28 years of coaching and teaching experience outside District 211 since only eight of his years outside District 211 will be counted on his salary schedule.

In other words, according to District 211's salary schedule, Bernie Mitchell has 10 years experience instead of 30. Due to this, Mitchell resigned.

"It doesn't seem right to me," Mitchell said at the Prospect District track meet Saturday. "I'm doing the same job as the other athletic directors (Dick Welty at Fremd and Charlie Feutz at Conant) in this district but this year I'd be making $2,600 less than they do. They have put in more years in the district and they should be getting more than I do. But $2,600 more?"

"I think that Dick and Charlie deserve what they are getting. But I can't see why my salary should be that much less than theirs."

"There's no hard feelings between me and the district," Mitchell went on. "They set up the salary schedule and that's the way it is."

Mitchell, whose resignation was announced at an open meeting of the District 211 board meeting last week, has not yet made concrete plans as to what he will do next.

"I'll probably go back to the West Coast (where he coached for four years) or I might try and get a job with a junior college somewhere," Mitchell said. "I won't be doing real hard for a while. I've gathered a little love through the years."

Riehm's offered 1969-70 contract was approximately the same as his 1968-69 contract except for one item — Riehm's wrestling duties were taken from him.

"Mr. Newendorp told me that I was relieved from my wrestling duties because I was too hard on the kids," Riehm said.

"Well, I've always felt that I've had a good relationship with my wrestlers. I've had very few complaints made to me from either the boys or the parents. Mr. Newendorp never discussed this with me during the season. In fact, he's never said anything like that in the three years I've been here."

"It wasn't until six weeks after the season was over," Riehm continued, "that Mr. Newendorp said that there were complaints that I was too hard on the kids."

"Personally, I don't feel that I've done that bad a job."

Nevertheless, Riehm's 1969-70 contract had no wrestling clause in it and so, Riehm resigned.

"I'm disappointed with education," he said. "I think I'll get out of it and take a job offer in a securities office in Fort Lauderdale."

Palatine High School and District 211, then, will be searching for an athletic director and a wrestling coach this summer.

Card Netmen Win 7th; EG Victim

Arlington's tennis team, long a power in the area and in the state, rolled up their seventh Mid-Suburban League triumph recently.

This time the victim was Elk Grove on the Grenadier home courts by a 5-0 count. The singles duels went this way: Greg Harris captured first man honors besting Jay Thomas, 7-5, 6-3; Ken Jorgensen whitewashed Pete Tullio, 6-0, 6-0, for the second singles crown; and Bob Crockett put away Jack Carriglio, 6-1, 6-0 in third singles action.

In first doubles the Cardinal pair of Bill Stelling and Paul Stevens dumped Pete Loisele and Dave Griffith, 6-2, 6-1. And a duo of Rob Baer and Scott McKay whipped Rich Mark and Knute Bauer, 6-4, 6-1.

The frosh-soph match was interrupted by rain and will be finished this Wednesday.

Today the Cards will head up to sister school Hersey and the Grenadiers will travel to Prospect for MSL encounters.

Golden Midwest Track Meet June 7

The first Golden Midwest Invitational track and field championships have been reset for York high school, Elmhurst, on Saturday, June 7.

The meet will bring high school champions from all over the midwest to York. Entries will come from the Big Ten and Big Eight states plus Arkansas and Kentucky.

All track coaches in those states with outstanding performers have been asked to enter them in the meet by contacting Tom Rosandich, athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, Parkside campus.

The meet will come before the annual Golden West Invitational at Sacramento, Calif., which attracts the top prep thin-clads in the country.

All standard high school events will be included in the meet with the exception of the 880-yard and mile relays. In addition, there will be two events for girls — the 100-yard dash and the 880-yard run.

Plans call for the top eight competitors in each event throughout the midwest to participate. Thus, the meet will serve as a midwestern championship meet.

Only high school seniors will be invited. Their invitations will hinge on seasonal and state meet performances.

Joe Newton, York High School track coach, will act as meet director. The Northeastern Illinois Track Coaches Assn. will provide officials for the meet.

Weeks Vault Heads Marks

Tom Weeks of Conant became the second pole vaulter in District 211 to clear 13 feet by going over the bar at 13 feet, 1 1/4 inches Thursday as the Cougars defeated Prospect and Niles in a triangular track meet.

Palatine's Guy Zajonc hit 13 feet in the Palatine Relays.

Conant scored 72 points, Prospect 62 and Niles East 20. It was each team's final tuneup before the district meet at Forest View.

The times, distances and heights were relatively poor due to a driving rain which persisted throughout the meet.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Fortas Resignation?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Monday he has "very reliable" information that Justice Abe Fortas will resign this week from the Supreme Court.

Fannin said the information came to him from a Washington attorney in a position to know. At the same time, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed that he met secretly with Chief Justice Earl Warren to give him "certain information known by me which might be of aid to him."

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Stage Perfect Holdup

NEW YORK — Four bandits escaped with $339,000 in cash yesterday after staging a perfectly executed holdup in Brooklyn's largest department store, while thousands shopped unaware.

Police said the three holdup men and a driver got away in a Volkswagen after seizing a payroll bag from the Abraham & Strauss department store. They took a guard for the U.S. Trucking Co. with them, but dumped him out a few blocks away.

Asks Softer 'M' Law

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren yesterday gave tentative endorsement to a controversial proposal to ease the penalties on first offense on marijuana charges.

It was Warren's first official agreement with a report of his technical advisory committee on drug abuse. Meanwhile, Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery called on the Assembly State Affairs Committee for tougher penalties and "the total suppression of illegal drugs."

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3½-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

HERY YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3½ miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,835,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Route for relocated Wilke Road has not been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out. Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

IN OTHER AREA road improvements, March said Golf Road and Interstate 90 are slated for some project lettings at a May 23 bid opening.

Louis L. Beaudry, manager, Rolling Meadows Holiday Inn, petitioned to retain access for the motel from both east and west.

Harold Bell, executive director of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, asked about deceleration lanes from Route 62 for industry and March replied property owners should call the Dist. 10 office to tell what they would like to have.

"If there is a demand for right and left turn lanes, we'll expect some participation on their part," March said of industrial property owners.

In the most part, the median strip will be mountable, highway officials said. In response to a comment from Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, March said he would like to see some plantings in the median.

ALGONQUIN WILL have curbs and gutters and drain to Salt Creek, Higgins Creek and storm sewers, March said.

Robert Atcher, Schaumburg president and president of the Northwest Municipal Conference, complimented March and his officials on bringing better highways to the northwest area.

Other officials present were Rolling Meadows Mayor Roland Meyer, City Manager Gary Machunze, City Atty. Don Rose and Police Chief Cy Campbell; Arlington Heights Pres. John Walsh, Elk Grove Village Pres. Jack Pahl; Tom Fitzgerald, Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission director of regional development; Carl Kowalski, Dist. 10 traffic engineer; and Fred Tadrowski, Dist. 10 right-of-way engineer.

Ground Breaks in Rain

Despite steady falling rain, ground breaking ceremonies for Schaumburg High School were held Saturday, with plans calling for the school to be ready by the middle of the 1970-71 school year.

Among those attending the rain-soaked event were Lyle Johnson, president of Dist. 211 school board, Robert Atcher, Schaumburg mayor, Dist. 211 superintendent Gerald McElroy, Carl Weimer, principal-designate of the new school, Eric Jones of the architectural firm of Fitch, LaRocca, Carington, and Jones, and Henry Tonyan, construction superintendent.

Tonyan Brothers Construction Company won the contract with a low bid of $5,181,037.

The school is being built for a minimum of 2,500 students. It will open as a freshman-sophomore school and add a junior class one year, and a senior class the next.

The school will be air conditioned, and have many modern features.

The high school is being built with funds loaned to 211 by the Illinois State Building Commission. The title for the land is in their name and will revert back to the district, when the building is paid for.

Covering 40 acres, Schaumburg High School will have an area of 298,000 square feet. The three-story building will be 170' wide by 650' long.

The school will be the fourth high school in the district. Tonyan Brothers have worked on three previous projects in the district.

Science on Display At Schaumburg School

Parents attending the Schaumburg School PTA meeting tonight at 8 will be able to view a display of science projects.

Student exhibits are currently on display through Wednesday in connection with the Schaumburg Science Fair.

Also meeting tonight at 8 will be PTA groups at Hoffman, Fairview, Twinbrook, and Campanelli schools in Dist. 54.

Campanelli PTA will be having its final meeting of the school year tonight at the Dist. 54 school. School band students will perform under the direction of Richard Schleppe, Dist. 54 music teacher Richard Schleppe.

Also performing for Campanelli PTA members tonight will be the "Conant Conaires," chorus from J. B. Conant High School.

Dist. 54 To Sign Summer Students

Summer school registration in Dist. 54 will be held tomorrow in all district schools.

Pupils whose last names begin with A through K will be registered from 9 to 11:30 a.m., and those whose names begin with L through Z will register from 1 to 3 p.m.

Parents unable to register their children during the day may do so tomorrow evening from 7 to 9 in Schaumburg School.

Dist. 54 summer school will run from June 23 through July 25. The only charge is a $5 book fee.

Bus service will be provided on an optional basis by the Schaumburg Transportation Co. Students may be bused at a cost of $10 per child for the five weeks of summer school from their neighborhood school to the school having summer sessions.

APPROXIMATELY 2,000 pupils are expected to enroll in the Dist. 54 summer school program. All township residents are eligible.

Dist. 54 pupils in grades 1 through 4 will attend Campanelli, Lakeview, Hillcrest and Hanover Highlands schools. Upper grade students will attend Nathan Hale School and Helen Keller Junior High.

railroad cars, and he builds them for "O" gauge or standard size tracks.

The train hobbyist has been interested in scale model trains since he was in high school.

Formerly Brown constructed model train equipment in "HO" gauge (half the larger "O" gauge), but he switched to "O" gauge when he started building model Pullman cars. And Pullman coaches are now his specialty.

"You get more of the feeling of the size of the railroad equipment in the larger scale," said Brown, who lives at 1 Treebark Court in the Timbercrest subdivision.

"I ENJOY MAKING model Pullman coaches as much as seeing them run," the train hobbyist indicated.

Brown has written several articles on model train construction for Model Railroader magazine. And he has exhibited his models at the Northwest Suburban Fair and the Palatine Savings and Loan building during Model Railroad Week.

The Schaumburg resident developed his techniques for building model Pullman cars by constructing a few New York Central passenger cars. He then proceeded to build a complete replica of the nine-car Alton Limited which ran between Chicago and St. Louis. The train lights up for night travel.

"The models don't really begin to look like the original until they have been painted and lettered," Brown said. He noted that the Pullman car was a fairly standard piece of equipment on American railroads, replacing the wooden coach.

"I want to create models that look like the real train looked," Brown explained. He now plans to build a replica of the Lake Shore Limited, a predecessor of the

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

by JAMES VESELY

Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or ill at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next? D. H., Fresno, Calif.

Dear D.H. Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy. Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic New Letter

Team Likes Learning Centers

Various curriculum areas in the Dist. 54 educational program were evaluated by a state team of visiting educators. Today the report on the district's instructional materials program is presented.

The state evaluation report on Dist. 54 curriculum areas, the district's instructional materials program as above average in many areas, but limited in the elementary grades.

The report presents present learning centers in the district at MacArthur and Nathan Hale schools and recommends expansion of their use in the district.

It is hoped that this program can be expanded to include all students of all schools and facilities permit.

IN REGARD to program weaknesses, the report adds that a professional staff of two librarians and one audio-visual director is not sufficient for a quality program, although a collection of materials are available to students through aides and clerks.

Combined Effort Saves Her

by BARRY SIGALE

Cooperation by six law enforcement agencies and a radio station traffic helicopter may have saved a Hanover Park woman from death Thursday.

The woman was listed in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at St. Alexius Hospital Sunday after apparently taking an overdose of sleeping capsules.

Between 35 and 45 men were directly involved in the rescue, including members of the Hanover Park, Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Elk Grove, State and Cook County police force, and two forest ranger units, according to officer John Beegan of the Cook County Sheriff's office.

It all began when a state police officer found an abandoned auto on Freeman Road, a mile and a half north of Central in Hoffman Estates.

Pastor Wendel served as a staff member of the archaeological excavation at the city of Dothan, 60 miles north of Jerusalem now in occupied Jordan. Dothan is referred to in the Old Testament, and the excavation unearthed portions of the city which predate the time of Abraham. Artifacts from the time of King Solomon were discovered.

OTHER SITES in the film include Jeru-salem and the "Wailing Wall," the Sea of Galilee, the Dead Sea and caves where the Dead Sea Scrolls were found, Bethlehem, the Jordan River and a visit to a Samaritan community, where viewers will see the observance of the Passover by the only group in the world today which still observes Passover with animal sacrifices.

Minister To Show Middle East Film

The Middle East, Land of Peace and Turmoil, a film, will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Hillcrest Elementary School, 11111 N. Boulevard and Fremont Road in Hoffman Estates.

The Rev. John M. Wendel, pastor of the Highland Baptist Church, will show pictures of his four month trip to the Middle East which included visits to Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Israel.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Library Will Begin Loans of Recordings

Schaumburg Township Library will begin circulation of its new record collection in June.

The record library will include classical selections, semi-classics, folk music, ballads, and speeches and readings. "There is also a record on Yoga exercises," said Michael Madden, librarian.

Two stereo listening centers will be provided in the library building for library patrons.

"We have received about one-third of the estimated 1,500 records for the collection," Madden said.

Service will begin as soon as shelving space becomes available and all of the records have been catalogued.

Mrs. Ruth MacIntyre, 102 Buckeye Drive, Hoffman Estates, is in charge of the learning center at Helen Keller Junior High. Librarian at Robert Frost School is Miss Lorry Flerick.

Recommendations for developing the district's instructional materials program are:

- Provide for training of elementary pupils in lower grades in library skills and usage.
- A central catalog of audio-visual materials, both printed and audio-visual, would increase the use of such materials by students and teachers.
- Additional filmstrip viewers and cassette should be provided.
- Learning center concept should be promoted as rapidly as possible.

All materials, both print and nonprint, are well balanced, but in minimal supply, according to the report.

Nurses To Hear Panel On Psychiatric Care

"Psychiatric Care of Children and Adolescents" is the theme of a panel discussion scheduled for the regular meeting of the Hoffman-Schaumburg Registered Nurses Club Thursday.

The meeting will be held at the Hoffman Estates fire station on Flagstaff Lane at 8 p.m.

Panelists will include three members of the Elgin State Hospital staff—Charles Lavini, chief of unit; Charles Jones, supervising psychologist, and Dr. Edward Vicioso, clinical director.

The winner of the club's Jane Mannock Memorial Scholarship will also be announced.

Randhurst community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newsletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax herself, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said.

Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clapping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, that they were wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor. Attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life would be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a legal deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son

New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited. This train had the older wooden passenger cars.

According to the hobbyist, it takes about 15 to 20 hours from start to finish to build a Pullman model.

Brown begins construction of a scale model Pullman car by cutting the window pattern for the side. This pattern is then duplicated in several layers of styrene plastic and art board which are built up to form one side of the Pullman. When the two sides are completed, the top and bottom sections are added and the model is then painted.

"The Pullman cars do not really have any character until they've been painted and lettered," Brown stated. He works on the models evenings and weekends.

A STUDENT of American railroad history, Brown pointed out that the private Pullman car was once a status symbol for railroad executives and industrial leaders in this country.

As Mrs. William Vanderbilt said, "A private railroad car is not an acquired had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying 'this is the way we did it in China,' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

taste. One takes to it immediately."

"Many of the Pullman cars were named after American lakes or scenic places," Brown noted in discussing the era of passenger trains.

"The Pullman car is so basically standard that you can pretty much build any model from a picture," explained Brown, who is employed at Western Electric in Rolling Meadows.

The Pullman coach was owned by the Pullman Co. and leased to individual railroads, the hobbyist said.

"There are many youngsters who have never seen this equipment actually in operation," said Brown.

Fortunately, memories of the passenger train era will stay alive through Brown's scale replicas.

Road Plan Is Revised

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Fortas Resignation?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Monday he has "very reliable" information that Justice Abe Fortas will resign this week from the Supreme Court.

Fannin said the information came to him from a Washington attorney in a position to know. At the same time, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed that he met secretly with Chief Justice Earl Warren to give him "certain information known by me which might be of aid to him."

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Stage Perfect Holdup

NEW YORK — Four bandits escaped with $350,000 in cash yesterday after staging a perfectly executed holdup in Brooklyn's largest department store, while thousands shopped unaware.

Police said the three holdup men and a driver got away in a Volkswagen after seizing a payroll bag from the Abraham & Strauss department store. They took a guard for the U.S. Trucking Co. with them but dumped him out a few blocks away.

Asks Softer 'M' Law

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren yesterday gave tentative endorsement to a controversial proposal to ease the penalties on first offense on marijuana charges.

It was Warren's first official agreement with a report of his technical advisory committee on drug abuse. Meanwhile, Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery called on the Assembly State Affairs Committee for tougher penalties and "the total suppression of illegal drugs."

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

CLIFFORD ROYSE JR., a man known as Mr. Psychic, brought a touch of ESP to Randhurst Saturday. Among his predictions: an economic recession in July.

The Cook County Highway Department has submitted to Buffalo Grove its revised plans for the proposed alignment of Lake-Cook Road from Milwaukee Avenue to Arlington Heights Road.

The Cook County plan has been changed to satisfy some of the Buffalo Grove objections, but basic points of controversy remain the same.

The county still intends to tear up the present Buffalo Grove stretch of Lake-Cook Road because the road, donated by a builder, does not meet state standards necessary to obtain Motor Fuel Tax funds.

A spokesman for the highway department said the department regretted tearing up the road, but said it was impossible to use the road as a collector street. According to state standards, the road is satisfactory as a village street, but not wide or thick enough for an expressway.

THE VILLAGE contends specifications for the road were submitted to the Cook County Highway Department, but the highway department says it has no record of communication with the village until after the road was built.

The present Cook County plan calls for flattening out the curve in the road because the present curve can be dangerous to cars traveling at expressway speeds.

The Cook County proposal moves the road north to avoid the Buffalo Grove water reservoir and takes less area from the village park than previously planned.

The proposed road will still put the new municipal building on the north side of the village.

In order to allow fire equipment to cross at the intersection of the proposed road and Raupp Boulevard, a light will be installed to shut off the flow of traffic in an emergency.

If Buffalo Grove approves the revised plan, the highway department can begin to acquire property for the road. So far, Wheeling has presented no objections to the road, which cuts through the northern Wheeling area.

Dispute Renewed

by TOM WELLMAN

Gust Stavros, developer of the proposed 238-acre Three Lakes development: the Arlington Heights Park District; School Dist. 21, and the Village of Arlington Heights find themselves in a property dispute — for the second time.

The dispute concerns whether Stavros, who is hoping to develop his project on the northern tip of Arlington Heights, is going to donate land for a school and park site, or whether he will contribute money in lieu of land to Arlington Heights.

Ten months ago, it appeared that the problem had been resolved. On July 1, 1968, the Arlington Heights Village Board unanimously passed an ordinance approving, among other items, a $50,000 donation "in lieu of land" for the Stavros property.

APPROVAL OF that ordinance followed negotiations between Stavros, his attorney William Moore, and members of the village administration. One village official termed them "hard negotiations."

Approval of the money in lieu of land was agreed upon on Monday, June 10, (Continued on Page 2)

Cite School Paper

The Hersey High School newspaper, The Correspondent received second place recognition for overall excellence from the Northern Illinois School Press Association Saturday.

Four members of the Correspondent staff also received awards in the category which included northern Illinois high schools with a student enrollment of 1,000 to 2,000.

Michael Dresser, a junior, received first place for news writing and sophomore John Sienicki took second.

George Solomon received a third-place award for sports writing and Faith Ottery, a third for editorial. Both Solomon and Miss Ottery are juniors.

HERSEY'S SCHOOL PAPER received All American Newspaper status from the National Scholastic Press Association in March following its first semester of publication. Richard Nelson is the paper's faculty adviser.

Selections from high school newspapers in the northern Illinois area, including Chicago, were judged by members of the Journalism Department of Northern Illinois University in De Kalb.

Schools participated in the competition on the basis of their enrollment. The other four Dist. 214 schools were entered in the over-2,000 enrollment competition.

In that competition, Wheeling's Regina Lehrer received two awards — a second for news writing and a third for editorial writing.

FOREST VIEW HIGH School received three awards with Tim Priests taking a second for features, Nancy Cooper receiving a second for editorial writing, and Pam Granow getting a third for news writing.

Arlington High School students received two first-place awards with Sue Johnson taking honors for cartoon work and Ron Duenn for sports.

Glentbrook North received the first-place award for overall excellence in the competition that included approximately 100 schools in northern Illinois and attracted 1,000 students to Saturday's award presentation.

Residents Criticize Annex Bill

A form letter from residents in a Prospect Heights area fighting House Bill 1241 is being sent to representatives of the Illinois House, reiterating objections to the bill.

The group has five major objections. They feel the bill does not allow residents in an unincorporated area to vote either for or against a proposed annexation. Also, the group notes that an area under annexation proceedings can not block the annexation while arguments are being heard in court.

A third objection mentioned in the letter is that the bill, if passed, "would allow strip annexing of all commercial, industrial, and vacant property without regard to the needs and best interests of the adjoining residential areas."

THE LETTER points out the group's objection to what is described as a "disregard" for their rights as residents of an unincorporated area.

Still another objection of the group concerns the provision in the bill for disconnection from an annexing municipality. The bill stipulates three years must pass after the date of annexation before disconnection proceedings can begin.

Residents of the Prospect Heights area who are fighting the bill's passage are also engaged in a petition campaign. Copies of the petition are to be sent to the representatives with the cover letter.

Members of the group were in contact with representatives of the third District over the weekend, according to Mrs. Georgine Gardner, a leader in the fight against the bill.

Signals Not Up

In case you have not noticed, installation of temporary traffic lights for the Rand, Windsor and Thomas intersection near John Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, has not begun.

State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, noticed Friday that construction had not started. He called state highway officials and was told the installation of the temporary lights will begin this week.

"I told the state that if I got home this Friday and those lights were not started, they would hear from me again," Schlickman told the Herald yesterday.

The state promised the installation of temporary lights after petitions collected by students at Hersey were taken to Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by Schlickman.

Permanent lights are due for the intersection by Sept. 1.

chic? If so, what do I do next?" D. H., Fresno, Calif.

"Dear D.H.: Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy." Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Kind of grabs your mind, doesn't it? It should, because that is Mr. Psychic's business.

He and other seers are professional mind-grabbers. Royse believes that he has the powers of ESP. His followers believe it, and by the time you leave a two hour session with him, you begin to believe it yourself.

A session with Mr. Psychic is a journey to a different world, where every event is colored by the mysticism of ESP and clairvoyance.

Patrons of Mr. Psychic filed into the Randhurst community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra-trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax her-

Will Dispel Sex Rumors

"Truth squads" will be organized if necessary to dispel any rumors circulating about the Dist. 21 family living and sex education program, or any school program, according to Kenneth Gill, Dist. 21 superintendent.

In a letter to parents devoted to the current controversy over the district's sex education program, Gill this week encouraged parents to contact school staff concerning any rumors they hear about district programs.

"Do not be misguiding by materials taken from context and presented in an unrelated form to you," Gill warned in the letter.

The superintendent urged parents to give their opinions of the program to persons serving on the Family Living and Sex Education Program Review Committee. "Ask them to keep you informed concerning progress of the evaluation," Gill said.

"We unalterably guarantee the right of any citizen to question the programs of this school district," Gill said. "To my knowledge this right has never been threatened, despite documents being circulated which state that this is being done."

"THIS PROGRAM IS meant to enlighten students, reinforce family life, and support the moral codes of our society. It is not meant to replace family responsibility but to reinforce and support it."

"If and when we find any portion of the program not serving the welfare of the students, we will delete such portions of the program. The will of the majority of the citizens of this school district will be the final determinant, (as it can most effectively be determined by the legally constituted Board of Education) of the programs of the school district," Gill said.

Property Dispute Renewed

1968, by the legal committee. The ordinance was approved on July 1 by a 5-0 vote.

However, the struggle to determine whether public use should be dedicated for public use began almost two years ago in June, 1967.

Stavros told the Plan Commission in 1967 that he would not prefer a land dedication as it would take too much land out of a "high use" category.

In September, school officials in Dist. 21 which serves Buffalo Grove, watched Stavros' plans. Supt. Kenneth Gill remarked that Stavros had not set aside a school site, despite the need created by a single-family boom in the area.

In November, the village purchased a 36-acre landfill site south of the property from the Stavros brothers, Gust and Jim. The property, when filled in within 20 years, will be used as a recreation area.

THEN, IN JANUARY, 1968, officials of Dist. 21 attended a legal committee hearing and asked for a site. They said they anticipated about 300 children from the Stavros development. Money in lieu of land would give the village about $75,000 it was reported.

And the legal committee agreed with the request for land. Moore grumbled and said he'd meet with his client to discuss the "ultimatum."

In March, Stavros was told that it was either a land dedication or $300,000 in lieu of land. Stavros muttered, "They can have the 9.3 acres on the south side of the road if somebody is going to make up the difference."

In March, Stavros threatened to disannex from Arlington Heights. He complained about the $300,000 for land dedication, or a nine-acre school site. He charged that too many restrictions were placed on the use of the property.

However, after more talking, money in lieu of land was approved by ordinance on July 1. Total cost to Stavros: $50,000, which would be paid as the project was developed.

SO, WITH AN ordinance on the books approving the donation to the village, the plan commission voted last week to approve a preliminary subdivision plat for the property, but, as Cmr. James Ryan put it in a motion, "We call specific attention to the board that we don't feel the needs of the park district and Dist. 21 are met by the acceptance of money in lieu of land."

So, what is normally a fairly routine procedure — land dedication — has thrown up an obstacle which may make it difficult to satisfy all the parties involved.

The idea of land dedication for public use is a common Arlington Heights procedure in which developers on large projects are required to dedicate land — or money — for public use.

A land contribution goes to one of the school districts serving Arlington Heights or to the park district. Money, on the other hand, goes into a special village fund.

In most cases, the developer and the parties involved huddle to come up with most agreeable solution. In this case, the charges held, but the school district parties didn't satisfy.

SEVERAL POSSIBLE reasons are available to explain the approval of money, rather than a land dedication. First, the golf course, mingled with the apartment and single-family zone, is covered by a restrictive covenant that prohibits Stavros from ever using the land for any construction.

Base salary for teachers with the B.S. degree was raised by the Board of Education to $7,000 a year, beginning with the 1967-68 school year. Starting salary for teachers at this educational level was $6,400 for the 1966-67 academic year.

Maximum salary for persons with the B.A. degree is now $11,000.

Base salary for teachers with the M.A. degree is now $7,500 compared with a salary of $6,912 for 1966-67.

Maximum salary for teachers at the master's degree level is $12,740.

Teachers holding an M.A. degree plus 30 additional hours of course work will receive a base salary of $7,840. Maximum salary at this educational level is $13,020.

Park Your Camper? Hearing Set

Continuation of a Zoning Board of Appeals Hearing on the parking of camping and recreational trailers in Wheeling is set for 7 p.m. Friday.

The hearing, which originally drew close to 100 residents advocating and opposing changes in the ordinance which prohibits parking of any trailers in the village, was continued so the board members would have time to study a proposal from planner Thompson Dyke.

D. Wray Peale, a member of the village's public relations commission and a vocal group advocating trailer parking in the village testified at the first part of the hearing that there were over 100 trailers parked illegally within the village a year.

Dist. 21 Pay Raise Details Are Listed

Here are some details concerning the salary schedule adopted in Dist. 21 for the 1967-68 school year.

Base salary for teachers with the B.S. degree was raised by the Board of Education to $7,000 a year, beginning with the 1967-68 school year. Starting salary for teachers at this educational level was $6,400 for the 1966-67 academic year.

Maximum salary for persons with the B.A. degree is now $11,000.

Base salary for teachers with the M.A. degree is now $7,500 compared with a salary of $6,912 for 1966-67.

Maximum salary for teachers at the master's degree level is $12,740.

Teachers holding an M.A. degree plus 30 additional hours of course work will receive a base salary of $7,840. Maximum salary at this educational level is $13,020.

School Fact-Finding Set

A joint student-faculty committee has been named at Arden Stevenson High School to study a variety of subjects to improve academic and extra-curricular programs for the 1967-68 school year.

The committee, for fact-finding committee will meet about three weeks to gather information, evaluate it and submit recommendations to Supt. Harold Baner. "The committee is free to tackle any type of subject matter," Baner told the group during an organizational meeting Friday.

Some of the areas of investigation will probably include a review of Stevenson's 72-minute class period, attendance rules, smoking problems, homeroom activities, parking of parents and the limits of responsibility which can be readily accepted by teachers, he said.

Although a review of parking lot permit procedures may be one of the items which could be considered by the group.

Drunken Driving, Bribery Charged

A Chicago man was charged by Wheeling police early Sunday with bribery after being ticketed for driving while intoxicated and improper lane usage.

Walter L. Markiewicz, 48, 6435 N. Sardinia Ave., was arrested by Patrolman Bill E. Brown after the policeman received a report of a drunken driver at Dundee Road between 12th St. and the Soo Line railroad tracks.

Markiewicz said he saw a car driven by Markiewicz weaving back and forth over the center line of the street at about 1 a.m.

Markiewicz was taken to the Wheeling police station where he was given a breathalyzer test and formally charged, police said. At the station Markiewicz tried to persuade Sgt. Thomas Conte, Rolston and Officer Clarence Trausch from giving him a citation, according to police. While in the squad room, investigators said Markiewicz said, "Let's hold court right here and now."

WHEN INFORMED THAT there was no judge available at the time and that he would have to appear in court in Arlington Heights, Markiewicz said he wanted to settle the matter immediately, police said. He was told again that the station was no courtroom. He then handed the policemen five $10 bills and asked them to drop the charges and return his license to him, Conte said.

Conte then charged the man with bribery. Markiewicz is to appear in Arlington Heights Court May 16.

Concannon of Bears To Address Cub Pack

Jack Concannon, quarterback for the Chicago Bears, will address Cub Scout Pack 36 at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at Sullivan School.

At a meeting of the Pack April 17 awards were presented to members. Bennett Gorecki received the Bear award and John Walpole, Bradley Stemm, Remas Juchnevicius and Edward Peterson received Wolf awards.

John Walpole, Thomas Baxter, and Dean Peterson were awarded the Gold Arrow. Brian Caputo was awarded the Gold and Silver arrows.

Jeffrey Hadrick, James Lindell, Tim Phelan and Matthew Henry received Craftsman awards.

Outdoors, Naturally

A nature lesson outdoors is planned later this spring for the sixth graders at Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove. The day's activities will include a picnic luncheon and a discussion of trees, animal life and conservation. The students also will be asked to examine a square foot of earth and describe what they see in it.

In preparation for the day of outdoor education, the sixth-grade teachers at the school recently attended an outdoor workshop at Pottawatomie State Park in St. Charles, which was conducted by a park forest ranger.

Such a covenant cuts Stavros' use of the land and hurts him in the pocketbook. It makes every inch of available land more precious — and makes the thought of land dedication unpleasant, to say the least.

Second, the golf course cannot be used during the winter. As several plan commissioners pointed out Monday night, the property could be used as a park for sledding — if the owner of the course is willing to cooperate.

It is not clear what the solution will be to the dilemma. Whatever happens must be resolved in conference between the parties involved.

However, a triangular strip of land is at the base of the property, across Nichols Road. If Stavros wanted to give it up, it could be used for a school site, even though it is not ideally shaped for such use.

Open land is available near the site, and perhaps that land could be acquired and dedicated to Dist. 21.

Whatever solution is found, Stavros and Moore hope for a solution as soon as possible. They are anxious to gain final plat approval and break ground for the project, which has been on village maps for at least a year.

GENERALLY, however, the questions raised by Stavros and Dist. 21 raise another important point: Arlington Heights could tend to compete against a school district or a park district to purchase land.

Arlington Heights has an interest in gaining money in lieu of land — the village can use it for a land purchase later. Similarly, the park district or a school district would naturally want to use whatever property it gains from a developer.

Unless effective communication is established between various groups, there's a chance that resentment can be created. Perhaps it was the problem with the Stavros problem.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

self, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said.

Compared with the audience, Roysse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Roysse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Roysse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying 'this is the way we did it in China' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Roysse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is left in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Roysse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Roysse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses late-night personality Griswell as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Roysse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Roysse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future successes of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Some ground squirrels spend as much as three-fourths of their lives sleeping underground.

Officers Installed
Eugene Field School's PTA held a pot luck and installation dinner recently. Mrs. Anna Morris was installed as president and Mrs. Lloyd Theriault as first vice president. Both were reelected.

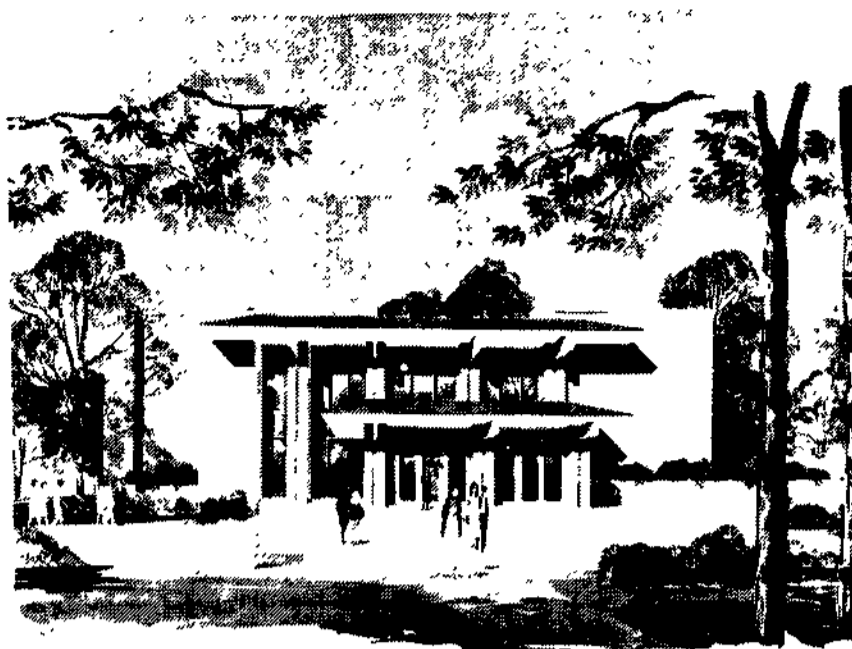

Other installations included John Jenkins, who replaced Mrs. Glenn Hartman as second vice president; Mrs. John Bajtos, who was reelected third vice president, and Mrs. John Bassett who succeeds Mrs. Donald Jackson as secretary.

Lloyd Theriault was reelected treasurer. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wenzel. Mr. Wenzel is the new district PTA director.

Also in attendance were Mrs. Charles Greene, past district director; Kenneth Gill, District 21 superintendent; and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nizzi. Mr. Nizzi is principal at Field.

Following the dinner, acts from the Jack London Junior High variety show, "Three on the Town," were performed and movies of the Wheeling variety show and slides of school children at work were shown.

AN ARCHITECT'S DRAWING shows the proposed James E. Roling Memorial Library at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn. It will be completed in about a year.

Hansen in Groundbreaking

Dr. Robert O. Hansen, 10 Stonegate Drive West, Prospect Heights officiated at the ground-breaking April 27 for the James E. Roling Memorial Library on the campus of Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn.

Hansen, a Prospect Heights dentist and chairman of the 21-member Trinity Board of Directors, was present at the ceremony along with 400 friends of the college and members of the Roling family.

PRES. HARRY L. EVANS said the development of the $750,000 structure will be completed in about a year with construction to begin this summer.

The library is being donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Roling, parents of Wurlitzer Co. executive James Roling who was killed in a 1960 airplane accident.

Hansen said the pressing need for a seminary library has been a concern to the administration and board due to the growing collection of books and rapidly expanding student enrollment.

Blood Debt Explained

A blood debt owed by a Wheeling man to an Evanston hospital does not involve the American Red Cross, the Herald learned Monday.

Victor R. Petersen, 315 E. Highland Ave., in Wheeling is seeking blood donations from local veteran organizations and individuals in replacing blood from the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank.

The blood was used by Petersen's son Victor L. Petersen, 36, of Prospect Heights who died recently from cancer at the Evanston hospital.

Petersen told the Herald that he lacked the funds to pay for the 106 pints of blood and needed donations of blood to repay the hospital's blood bank.

AN EARLIER Herald story reported erroneously that the blood was owed to the American Red Cross. All blood supplied by that organization is without cost, and the Red Cross is not involved in providing blood to the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank to which Petersen owes the debt.

Donations by area residents can be made at area hospitals and earmarked for St. Francis Hospital on behalf of Victor L. Petersen.

Further information on donations is available from Petersen at 537-4382.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Fortas Resignation?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Monday he has "very reliable" information that Justice Abe Fortas will resign this week from the Supreme Court.

Fannin said the information came to him from a Washington attorney in a position to know. At the same time, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed that he met secretly with Chief Justice Earl Warren to give him "certain information known to me which might be of aid to him."

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois for "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Stage Perfect Holdup

NEW YORK — Four bandits escaped with $350,000 in cash yesterday after staging a perfectly executed holdup in Brooklyn's largest department store, while thousands shopped unaware.

Police said the three holdup men and a driver got away in a Volkswagen after seizing a payroll bag from the Abraham & Strauss department store. They took a guard for the U.S. Trucking Co. with them but dumped him out a few blocks away.

Asks Softer 'M' Law

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren yesterday gave tentative endorsement to a controversial proposal to ease the penalties on first offense on marijuana charges.

It was Warren's first official agreement with a report of his technical advisory committee on drug abuse. Meanwhile, Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery called on the Assembly State Affairs Committee for tougher penalties and "the total suppression of illegal drugs."

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

CLIFFORD ROYSE JR., a man known as Mr. Psychic, brought a touch of ESP to Randhurst Saturday.

Puts You in Spirit of Things

by JAMES VESELY

In case you have not noticed, installation of temporary traffic lights for the Rand, Windsor and Thomas intersection near John Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, has not begun.

State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, noticed Friday that construction had not started. He called state highway officials and was told the installation of the temporary lights will begin this week.

"I told the state that if I got home this Friday and those lights were not started, they would hear from me again," Schlickman told the Herald yesterday.

The state promised the installation of temporary lights after petitions collected by students at Hersey were taken to Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by Schlickman.

Permanent lights are due for the intersection by Sept. 1.

chic? If so, what do I do next?" D. H., Fresno, Calif.

"Dear D.H.: Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy." Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

"We unalterably guarantee the right of any citizen to question the programs of this school district," Gill said. "To my knowledge this right has never been threatened, despite documents being circulated which state that this is being done."

"THIS PROGRAM IS meant to enlighten students, reinforce family life, and support the moral codes of our society. It is not meant to replace family responsibility but to reinforce and support it."

"If and when we find any portion of the program not serving the welfare of the students, we will delete such portions of the program. The will of the majority of the citizens of this school district will be the final determinant, (as it can most effectively be determined by the legally constituted Board of Education) of the programs of the school district," Gill said.

Will Dispel Sex Rumors

"Truth squads" will be organized if necessary to dispel any rumors circulating about the Dist. 21 family living and sex education program, or any school program, according to Kenneth Gill, Dist. 21 superintendent.

In a letter to parents devoted to the current controversy over the district's sex education program, Gill this week encouraged parents to contact school staff concerning any rumors they hear about district programs.

"Do not be misguided by materials taken from context and presented in an unrelated form to you," Gill warned in the letter.

The superintendent urged parents to give their opinions of the program to persons serving on the Family Living and Sex Education Program Review Committee. "Ask them to keep you informed

The Cook County Highway Department has submitted to Buffalo Grove its revised plans for the proposed alignment of Lake-Cook Road from Milwaukee Avenue to Arlington Heights Road.

The Cook County plan has been changed to satisfy some of the Buffalo Grove objections, but basic points of controversy remain the same.

The county still intends to tear up the present Buffalo Grove stretch of Lake-Cook Road because the road, donated by a builder, does not meet state standards necessary to obtain Motor Fuel Tax funds.

A spokesman for the highway department said the department regretted tearing up the road, but said it was impossible to use the road as a collector street. According to state standards, the road is satisfactory as a village street, but not wide or thick enough for an expressway.

THE VILLAGE contends specifications for the road were submitted to the Cook County Highway Department, but the highway department says it has no record of communication with the village until after the road was built.

The present Cook County plan calls for flattening out the curve in the road because the present curve can be dangerous to cars traveling at expressway speeds.

The Cook County proposal moves the road north to avoid the Buffalo Grove water reservoir and takes less area from the village park than previously planned.

The proposed road will still put the new municipal building on the north side of the village.

In order to allow fire equipment to cross at the intersection of the proposed road and Raupp Boulevard, a light will be installed to shut off the flow of traffic in an emergency.

If Buffalo Grove approves the revised plan, the highway department can begin to acquire property for the road. So far, Wheeling has presented no objections to the road, which cuts through the northern Wheeling area.

Dispute Renewed

by TOM WELLMAN

Gust Stavros, developer of the proposed 238-acre Three Lakes development; the Arlington Heights Park District; School Dist. 21, and the Village of Arlington Heights find themselves in a property dispute — for the second time.

The dispute concerns whether Stavros, who is hoping to develop his project on the northern tip of Arlington Heights, is going to donate land for a school and park site, or whether he will contribute money in lieu of land to Arlington Heights.

Ten months ago, it appeared that the problem had been resolved. On July 1, 1968, the Arlington Heights Village Board unanimously passed an ordinance approving, among other items, a $50,000 donation "in lieu of land" for the Stavros property.

APPROVAL OF that ordinance followed negotiations between Stavros, his attorney William Moore, and members of the village administration. One village official termed them "hard negotiations."

Cite School Paper

The Hersey High School newspaper, The Correspondent received second place recognition for overall excellence from the Northern Illinois School Press Association Saturday.

Four members of the Correspondent staff also received awards in the category which included northern Illinois high schools with a student enrollment of 1,000 to 2,000.

Michael Dresser, a junior, received first place for news writing and sophomore John Sienicki took second.

George Solomon received a third-place

award for sports writing and Faith Ottery, a third for editorial. Both Solomon and Miss Ottery are juniors.

HERSEY'S SCHOOL PAPER received All American Newspaper status from the National Scholastic Press Association in March following its first semester of publication. Richard Nelson is the paper's faculty adviser.

Selections from high school newspapers in the northern Illinois area, including Chicago, were judged by members of the journalism department of Northern Illinois University in De Kalb.

Schools participated in the competition on the basis of their enrollment. The other four Dist. 214 schools were entered in the over-2,000 enrollment competition.

In that competition, Wheeling's Regina Lehrer received two awards — a second for news writing and a third for editorial writing.

FOREST VIEW HIGH School received three awards with Tim Priests taking a second for features, Nancy Cooper receiving a second for editorial writing, and Pam Granzow getting a third for news writing.

Arlington High School students received two first-place awards with Sue Johnson taking honors for cartoon work and Ron Duenn for sports.

Glenbrook North received the first-place award for overall excellence in the competition that included approximately 100 schools in northern Illinois and attracted 1,000 students to Saturday's award presentation.

Residents Criticize Annex Bill

A form letter from residents in a Prospect Heights area fighting House Bill 1241 is being sent to representatives of the Illinois House, reiterating objections to the bill.

The group has five major objections. They feel the bill does not allow residents in an unincorporated area to vote either for or against a proposed annexation. Also, the group notes that an area under annexation proceedings can not block the annexation while arguments are being heard in court.

A third objection mentioned in the letter is that the bill, if passed, "would allow strip annexing of all commercial, industrial, and vacant property without regard to the needs and best interests of the adjoining residential areas."

THE LETTER points out the group's objection to what is described as a "disregard" for their rights as residents of an unincorporated area.

Still another objection of the group concerns the provision in the bill for disconnection from an annexing municipality. The bill stipulates three years must pass after the date of annexation before disconnection proceedings can begin.

Residents of the Prospect Heights area who are fighting the bill's passage are also engaged in a petition campaign. Copies of the petition are to be sent to the representatives with the cover letter.

Members of the group were in contact with representatives of the third District over the weekend, according to Mrs. Georgine Gardner, a leader in the fight against the bill.

Property Dispute Renewed

1968, by the legal committee. The ordinance was approved on July 1 by a 5-0 vote.

However, the struggle to determine whether money or land should be dedicated for public use began almost two years ago in June, 1967.

Stavros told the Plan Commission in 1967 that he would not prefer a land dedication, as it would take too much land out of a "high use" category.

In September, school officials in Dist. 21, which serves Buffalo Grove, remarked Stavros' plans. Supt. Kenneth Gill remarked

ed that Stavros had not set aside a school site, despite the need created by a single-family boom in the area.

In November, the village purchased a 56-acre landfill site south of the property from the Stavros brothers, Gust and Jim. The property, when filled in within 20 years, will be used as a recreation area.

THEN, IN JANUARY, 1968, officials of Dist. 21 attended a legal committee hearing, and asked for a site. They said they anticipated about 300 children from the Stavros development. Money in lieu of land would give the village about $75,000 it was reported.

And the legal committee agreed with the request for land. Moore grumbled and said he'd meet with his client to discuss the "ultimatum."

In March, Stavros was told that it was either a land dedication or $300,000 in lieu of land. Stavros muttered, "They can have the 9.3 acres on the south side of the road if somebody is going to make up the difference."

In March, Stavros threatened to disannex from Arlington Heights. He complained about the $300,000 for land dedication, or a nine-acre school site. He charged that too many restrictions were placed on the use of the property.

However, after more talking, money in lieu of land was approved by ordinance on July 1. Total cost to Stavros: $50,000, which would be paid as the project was developed.

SO, WITH AN ordinance on the books approving the donation to the village, the plan commission voted last week to approve a preliminary subdivision plat for the property, but, as Cmr. James Ryan put it in a motion, "We call specific attention to the board that we don't feel the needs of the park district and Dist. 21 are met by the acceptance of money in lieu of land."

So, what is normally a fairly routine procedure — land dedication — has thrown up an obstacle which may make it difficult to satisfy all the parties involved.

The idea of land dedication for public use is a common Arlington Heights procedure in which developers on large projects are required to dedicate land — or money — for public use.

A land contribution goes to one of the school districts serving Arlington Heights or to the park district. Money, on the other hand, goes into a special village fund.

In most cases, the developer and the parties involved huddle to come up with most agreeable solution. In this case, the parties huddled, but the school district charges it isn't satisfied.

SEVERAL POSSIBLE reasons are available to explain the approval of money, rather than a land dedication. First, the golf course, mingled with the apartment and single-family zone, is covered by a restrictive covenant that prohibits Stavros from ever using the land for any construction.

Such a covenant cuts Stavros' use of the land and hurts him in the pocketbook. It makes every inch of available land more precious — and makes the thought of land dedication unpleasant, to say the least.

Second, the golf course cannot be used during the winter. As several plan commissioners pointed out Monday night, the property could be used as a park for sledding — if the owner of the course is willing to cooperate.

It is not clear what the solution will be to the dilemma. Whatever happens must be resolved in conference between the parties involved.

However, a triangular stripe of land is at the base of the property, across Nichols Road. If Stavros wanted to give it up, it could be used for a school site, even though it is not ideally shaped for such use.

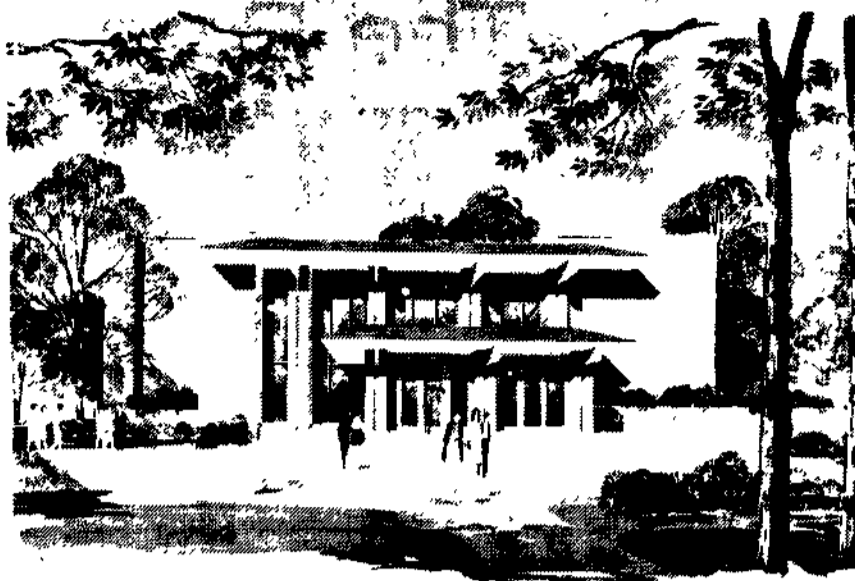

Open land is available near the site, and perhaps that land could be acquired and dedicated to Dist. 21.

Whatever solution is found, Stavros and Moore hope for a solution as soon as possible. They are anxious to gain final plat approval and break ground for the project, which has been on village maps for at least a year.

GENERALLY, however, the questions raised by Stavros and Dist. 21 raise another important point: Arlington Heights could tend to compete against a school district or a park district to purchase land.

Arlington Heights has an interest in gaining money in lieu of land — the village can use it for a land purchase later. Similarly, the park district or a school district would naturally want to use whatever property it gains from a developer.

Unless effective communication is established between various groups, there's a chance that resentment can be created. Perhaps it was the problem with the Stavros problem.

AN ARCHITECT'S DRAWING shows the proposed James E. Roling Memorial Library at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn. It will be completed in about a year.

Hansen in Groundbreaking

Dr. Robert O. Hansen, 10 Stonegate Drive West, Prospect Heights officiated at the ground-breaking April 27 for the James E. Roling Memorial Library on the campus of Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn.

Hansen, a Prospect Heights dentist and chairman of the 21-member Trinity Board of Directors, was present at the ceremony along with 400 friends of the college and members of the Roling family.

PRES. HARRY L. EVANS said the development of the $750,000 structure will be completed in about a year with construction due to begin this summer.

The library is being donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Roling, parents of Wurlitzer Co. executive James Roling who was killed in a 1960 airplane accident.

Hansen said the pressing need for a seminary library has been a concern to the administration and board due to the growing collection of books and rapidly expanding student enrollment.

Park Your Camper? Hearing Set

Continuation of a Zoning Board of Appeals Hearing on the parking of camping and recreational trailers in Wheeling is set for 7 p.m. Friday.

The hearing, which originally drew close to 100 residents advocating and opposing changes in the ordinance which prohibits parking of any trailers in the village, was continued so the board members would have time to study a proposal from planner Thompson Deyle.

D. Wayne Peake, a member of the village's public relations commission and head of the group advocating trailer parking in the village, testified at the first part of the hearing that there were over 100 trailers parked illegally within the village at present.

Dist. 21 Pay Raise Details Are Listed

Here are some details concerning the salary schedule adopted in Dist. 21 for the coming school year.

Base salary for teachers with the B.S. degree was raised by the Board of Education to $7,000 a year, beginning with the 1969-70 school year. Starting salary for teachers at this educational level was $6,400 for the 1968-69 academic year.

Maximum salary for persons with the B.A. degree is now $11,060.

Base salary for teachers with the M.A. degree is now $7,500, compared with a salary of $6,912 for 1968-69.

Maximum salary for teachers at the master's degree level is $12,740.

Teachers holding an M.A. degree plus 30 additional hours of course work will receive a base salary of $7,840. Maximum salary at this educational level is $13,020.

School Fact-Finding Set

A joint student-faculty committee has been named at Adlai Stevenson High School to study a variety of subjects to improve academic and extra-curricular programs for the 1969-70 school year.

The 19-member fact-finding committee will have about three weeks to gather information, evaluate it and submit recommendations to Supt. Harold Banser. "The committee is free to tackle any type of subject matter," Banser told the group during an organizational meeting Friday.

Some of the areas of investigation will probably include a review of Stevenson's 72-minute class period, attendance rules, smoking problems, homeroom activities, parking for parents and the limits of responsibility which can be readily accepted by teenagers, he said.

Although a review of parking lot permit procedures may be one of the items which could be considered by the group, there is no connection between establishing the fact-finding committee and the recent parking lot protest," Banser said.

"We have been discussing creation of this study group for some time with student council leaders."

ABOUT 60 Stevenson students were put on probation last Tuesday for protesting the school's policy on student parking permits.

The committee was selected by student council representatives, including President Jackie Berg, the superintendent and his administrative assistant, Edwin Griffith. The five student members include Rick Ireland, 1969-70 president-elect of the student council, Barbara Lewis, senior and editor of the school newspaper, The Statesman, class representative Candy Carleton, junior, Mike Shimer, sophomore, and Pam Morris, freshman.

Faculty members on the fact group are Allen Botimer, social science instructor; Mary McKinney, guidance counselor; Carol Johnson, physical education teacher; Dennis Bancroft, math instructor, and Edwin Ellis, business manager.

Concannon of Bears To Address Cub Pack

Jack Concannon, quarterback for the Chicago Bears, will address Cub Scout Pack 36 at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at Sullivan School.

At a meeting of the Pack April 17 awards were presented to members. Bennet Gorecki received the Bear award and John Walpole, Bradley Stemm, Remas Juchnevicius and Edward Peterson received Wolf awards.

John Walpole, Thomas Baxter, and Dean Peterson were awarded the Gold Arrow. Brian Caputo was awarded the Gold and Silver arrows.

Jefrey Hadrick, James Lindell, Tim Phelan and Matthew Henry received Craftsman awards.

Outdoors, Naturally

A nature lesson outdoors is planned later this spring for the sixth graders at Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove.

The day's activities will include a picnic luncheon and a discussion of trees, animal life and conservation. The students also will be asked to examine a square foot of earth and describe what they see in it.

In preparation for the day of outdoor education, the sixth-grade teachers at the school recently attended an outdoor workshop at Pottawatomie State Park in St. Charles, which was conducted by a park forest ranger.

Drunken Driving, Bribery Charged

A Chicago man was charged by Wheeling police early Sunday with bribery after being indicted for driving while intoxicated and improper lane usage.

Valter L. Markiewicz, 48, 635 N. Sardis Ave., was arrested by Patrolman Bill Halton after the policeman received a report of a drunken driver at Dundee Road between 12th St. and the Soo Line railroad tracks.

Halton said he saw a car driven by Markiewicz weaving back and forth over the center line of the street at about 1 a.m.

Markiewicz was taken to the Wheeling police station where he was given a breathalyzer test and formally charged, police said. At the station Markiewicz tried to persuade Sgt. Thomas Conte, Halton and Officer Clarence Trausch from giving him a citation, according to police. While in the squad room, investigators said Markiewicz said, "Let's hold court right here and now."

WHEN INFORMED THAT there was no judge available at the time and that he would have to appear in court in Arlington Heights, Markiewicz said he wanted to settle the matter immediately, police said. He was told again that the station was no courtroom. He then handed the policemen five $10 bills and asked them to drop the charges and return his license to him, Conte said.

Conte then charged the man with bribery. Markiewicz is to appear in Arlington Heights Court May 16.

Blood Debt Explained

A blood debt owed by a Wheeling man to an Evanston hospital does not involve the American Red Cross, the Herald learned Monday.

Victor R. Petersen, 315 E. Highland Ave., in Wheeling is seeking blood donations from local veteran organizations and individuals in replacing blood from the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank.

The blood was used by Petersen's son Victor L. Petersen, 36, of Prospect Heights who died recently from cancer at the Evanston hospital.

Petersen told the Herald that he lacked the funds to pay for the 106 pints of blood and needed donations of blood to repay the hospital's blood bank.

AN EARLIER Herald story reported erroneously that the blood was owed to the American Red Cross. All blood supplied by that organization is without cost, and the Red Cross is not involved in providing blood to the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank to which Petersen owes the debt.

Donations by area residents can be made at area hospitals and earmarked for St. Francis Hospital on behalf of Victor L. Petersen.

Further information on donations is available from Petersen at 537-4382.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

self, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said. Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying, 'This is the way we did it in China...' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randolph, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses latently personality Griswell as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randolph security guard, telling him of future successes, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Road Plan Is Revised

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.
An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Fortas Resignation?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Monday he has "very reliable" information that Justice Abe Fortas will resign this week from the Supreme Court.
Fannin said the information came to him from a Washington attorney in a position to know. At the same time, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell confirmed that he met secretly with Chief Justice Earl Warren to give him "certain information known by me which might be of aid to him."

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.
And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.
White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Stage Perfect Holdup

NEW YORK — Four bandits escaped with $350,000 in cash yesterday after staging a perfectly executed holdup in Brooklyn's largest department store, while thousands of shoppers were unaware.
Police said the three holdup men and a driver got away in a Volkswagen after seizing a payroll bag from the Abraham & Strauss department store. They took a guard for the U.S. Trucking Co. with them but dumped him out a few blocks away.

Asks Softer 'MP' Law

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren yesterday gave tentative endorsement to a controversial proposal to ease the penalties on first offense on marijuana charges.
It was Warren's first official agreement with a report of his technical advisory committee on drug abuse. Meanwhile, Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery called on the Assembly State Affairs Committee for tougher penalties and "the total suppression of illegal drugs."

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

CLIFFORD ROYSE JR., a man known as Mr. Psychic, brought a touch of ESP to Randhurst Saturday. Among his predictions: an economic recession in July.

Puts You in Spirit of Things

Signals Not Up

In case you have not noticed, installation of temporary traffic lights for the Rand, Windsor and Thomas intersection near John Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, has not begun.
State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, noticed Friday that construction had not started. He called state highway officials and was told the installation of the temporary lights will begin this week.
"I told the state that if I got home this Friday and those lights were not started, they would hear from me again," Schlickman told the Herald yesterday.
The state promised the installation of temporary lights after petitions collected by students at Hersey were taken to Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by Schlickman.
Permanent lights are due for the intersection by Sept. 1.

Will Dispel Sex Rumors

"Truth squads" will be organized if necessary to dispel any rumors circulating about the Dist. 21 family living and sex education program, or any school program, according to Kenneth Gill, Dist. 21 superintendent.

In a letter to parents devoted to the current controversy over the district's sex education program, Gill this week encouraged parents to contact school staff concerning any rumors they hear about district programs.

"Do not be mislead by materials taken from context and presented in an unrelated form to you," Gill warned in the letter.

The superintendent urged parents to give their opinions of the program to persons serving on the Family Living and Sex Education Program Review Committee. "Ask them to keep you informed concerning progress of the evaluation," Gill said.

"We unalterably guarantee the right of any citizen to question the programs of this school district," Gill said. "To my knowledge this right has never been threatened, despite documents being circulated which state that this is being done."
"THIS PROGRAM IS meant to enlighten students, reinforce family life, and support the moral codes of our society. It is not meant to replace family responsibility but to reinforce and support it."
"If and when we find any portion of the program not serving the welfare of the students, we will delete such portions of the program. The will of the majority of the citizens of this school district will be the final determinant, (as it can most effectively be determined by the legally constituted Board of Education) of the programs of the school district," Gill said.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.
In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.
Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now

The Cook County Highway Department has submitted to Buffalo Grove its revised plans for the proposed alignment of Lake-Cook Road from Milwaukee Avenue to Arlington Heights Road.

The Cook County plan has been changed to satisfy some of the Buffalo Grove objections, but basic points of controversy remain the same.

The county still intends to tear up the present Buffalo Grove stretch of Lake-Cook Road because the road, donated by a builder, does not meet state standards necessary to obtain Motor Fuel Tax funds.

A spokesman for the highway department said the department regretted tearing up the road, but said it was impossible to use the road as a collector street. According to state standards, the road is satisfactory as a village street, but not wide or thick enough for an expressway.

THE VILLAGE contends specifications for the road were submitted to the Cook County Highway Department, but the highway department says it has no record of communication with the village until after the road was built.

The present Cook County plan calls for flattening out the curve in the road because the present curve can be dangerous to cars traveling at expressway speeds.

The Cook County proposal moves the road north to avoid the Buffalo Grove water reservoir and takes less area from the village park than previously planned.

The proposed road will still put the new municipal building on the north side of the village.

In order to allow fire equipment to cross at the intersection of the proposed road and Raupp Boulevard, a light will be installed to shut off the flow of traffic in an emergency.

If Buffalo Grove approves the revised plan, the highway department can begin to acquire property for the road. So far, Wheeling has presented no objections to the road, which cuts through the northern Wheeling area.

Dispute Renewed

by TOM WELLMAN

Gust Stavros, developer of the proposed 238-acre Three Lakes development; the Arlington Heights Park District; School Dist. 21, and the Village of Arlington Heights find themselves in a property dispute — for the second time.

The dispute concerns whether Stavros, who is hoping to develop his project on the northern tip of Arlington Heights, is going to donate land for a school and park site, or whether he will contribute money in lieu of land to Arlington Heights.

Ten months ago, it appeared that the problem had been resolved. On July 1, 1968, the Arlington Heights Village Board unanimously passed an ordinance approving, among other items, a $50,000 donation "in lieu of land" for the Stavros property.

APPROVAL OF that ordinance followed negotiations between Stavros, his attorney William Moore, and members of the village administration. One village official termed them "hard negotiations."

Cite School Paper

The Hersey High School newspaper, The Correspondent received second place recognition for overall excellence from the Northern Illinois School Press Association Saturday.

Four members of the Correspondent staff also received awards in the category which included northern Illinois high schools with a student enrollment of 1,000 to 2,000.

Michael Dresser, a junior, received first place for news writing and sophomore John Siemicki took second.
George Solomon received a third-place

award for sports writing and Faith Ottery, a third for editorial. Both Solomon and Miss Ottery are juniors.

HERSEY'S SCHOOL PAPER received All American Newspaper status from the National Scholastic Press Association in March following its first semester of publication. Richard Nelson is the paper's faculty adviser.

Selections from high school newspapers in the northern Illinois area, including Chicago, were judged by members of the journalism department of Northern Illinois University in De Kalb.

Schools participated in the competition on the basis of their enrollment. The other four Dist. 214 schools were entered in the over-2,000 enrollment competition.

In that competition, Wheeling's Regina Lehler received two awards — a second for news writing and a third for editorial writing.

FOREST VIEW HIGH School received three awards with Tim Priests taking a second for features, Nancy Cooper receiving a second for editorial writing, and Pam Granzow getting a third for news writing.

Arlington High School students received two first-place awards with Sue Johnson taking honors for cartoon work and Ron Duenn for sports.

Glenbrook North received the first-place award for overall excellence in the competition that included approximately 100 schools in northern Illinois and attracted 1,000 students to Saturday's award presentation.

Residents Criticize Annex Bill

A form letter from residents in a Prospect Heights area fighting House Bill 1241 is being sent to representatives of the Illinois House, reiterating objections to the bill.

The group has five major objections. They feel the bill does not allow residents in an unincorporated area to vote either for or against a proposed annexation. Also, the group notes that an area under annexation proceedings can not block the annexation while arguments are being heard in court.

A third objection mentioned in the letter is that the bill, if passed, "would allow strip annexing of all commercial, industrial, and vacant property without regard to the needs and best interests of the adjoining residential areas."

THE LETTER points out the group's objection to what is described as a "disregard" for their rights as residents of an unincorporated area.

Still another objection of the group concerns the provision in the bill for disconnection from an annexing municipality. The bill stipulates three years must pass after the date of annexation before disconnection proceedings can begin.

Residents of the Prospect Heights area who are fighting the bill's passage are also engaged in a petition campaign. Copies of the petition are to be sent to the representatives with the cover letter.

Members of the group were in contact with representatives of the third District over the weekend, according to Mrs. Georgine Gardner, a leader in the fight against the bill.

SOMEWHERE IN THIS young lady's heart, Clifford Royse offered pre-future, according to Mr. Psychic, is a dictions of love, heartache and success 150-pound man who will steal her to nearly 100 area residents Saturday.

1968, by the legal committee. The ordinance was approved on July 1 by a 5-0 vote.

However, the struggle to determine whether money or land should be dedicated for public use began almost two years ago, in June, 1967.

Stavros told the Plan Commission in 1967 that he would prefer a land dedication, as it would take too much land out of a "high use" category.

In September, school officials in Dist. 21 which serves Buffalo Grove, watched Stavros plan. Supt. Kenneth Gill remarked

ed that Stavros had not set aside a school site, despite the need created by a single-family boom in the area.

In November, the village purchased a 56-acre landfill site south of the property from the Stavros brothers, Gust and Jim. The property, when filled in within 20 years, will be used as a recreation area.

THEN, IN JANUARY, 1968, officials of Dist. 21 attended a legal committee hearing, and asked for a site. They said they anticipated about 300 children from the Stavros development. Money in lieu of land would give the village about $75,000 it was reported.

And the legal committee agreed with the request for land. Moore grumbled and said he'd meet with his client to discuss the "ultimatum."

In March, Stavros was told that it was either a land dedication or $300,000 in lieu of land. Stavros muttered, "They can have the 9.3 acres on the south side of the road if somebody is going to make up the difference."

In March, Stavros threatened to disannex from Arlington Heights. He complained about the $300,000 for land dedication, or a nine-acre school site. He charged that too many restrictions were placed on the use of the property.

However, after more talking, money in lieu of land was approved by ordinance on July 1. Total cost to Stavros: $50,000, which would be paid as the project was developed.

SO, WITH AN ordinance on the books approving the donation to the village, the plan commission voted last week to approve a preliminary subdivision plat for the property, but, as Cmr. James Ryan put it in a motion, "We call specific attention to the board that we don't feel the needs of the park district and Dist. 21 are met by the acceptance of money in lieu of land."

So, what is normally a fairly routine procedure — land dedication — has been thrown up an obstacle which may make it difficult to satisfy all the parties involved.

The idea of land dedication for public use is a common Arlington Heights procedure in which developers on large projects are required to dedicate land — or money — for public use.

A land contribution goes to one of the school districts serving Arlington Heights or to the park district. Money, on the other hand, goes into a special village fund.

In most cases, the developer and the parties involved huddle to come up with most agreeable solution. In this case, the parties huddled, but the school district charges it isn't satisfied.

SEVERAL POSSIBLE reasons are available to explain the approval of money, rather than a land dedication. First, the golf course, mingled with the apartment and single-family zone, is covered by a restrictive covenant that prohibits Stavros from ever using the land for any construction.

Such a covenant cuts Stavros' use of the land and hurts him in the pocketbook. It makes every inch of available land more precious — and makes the thought of land dedication unpleasant, to say the least.

Second, the golf course cannot be used during the winter. As several plan commissioners pointed out Monday night, the property could be used as a park for sledding — if the owner of the course is willing to cooperate.

It is not clear what the solution will be to the dilemma. Whatever happens must be resolved in conference between the parties involved.

However, a triangular stripe of land is at the base of the property, across Nichols Road. If Stavros wanted to give it up, it could be used for a school site, even though it is not ideally shaped for such use.

Open land is available near the site, and perhaps that land could be acquired and dedicated to Dist. 21.

Whatever solution is found, Stavros and Moore hope for a solution as soon as possible. They are anxious to gain final plat approval and break ground for the project, which has been on village maps for at least a year.

GENERALLY, however, the questions raised by Stavros and Dist. 21 raise another important point: Arlington Heights could tend to compete against a school district or a park district to purchase land.

Arlington Heights has an interest in gaining money in lieu of land — the village can use it for a land purchase later. Similarly, the park district or a school district would naturally want to use whatever property it gains from a developer.

Unless effective communication is established between various groups, there's a chance that resentment can be created. Perhaps it was the problem with the Stavros problem.

Park Your Camper? Hearing Set

Continuation of a Zoning Board of Appeals Hearing on the parking of camping and recreational trailers in Wheeling is set for 7 p.m. Friday.

The hearing, which originally drew close to 100 residents advocating and opposing changes in the ordinance which prohibits parking of any trailers in the village, was continued so the board members would have time to study a proposal from planner Thompson Dyke.

D. Wray Peale a member of the village's public relations commission and head of the group advocating trailer parking in the village, testified at the first part of the hearing that there were over 100 trailers parked illegally within the village at present.

Dist. 21 Pay Raise Details Are Listed

Here are some details concerning the salary schedule adopted in Dist. 21 for the coming school year.

Base salary for teachers with the B.S. degree is raised by the Board of Education to $7,900 a year, beginning with the 1969-70 school year. Starting salary for teachers at this educational level was $6,400 for the 1968-69 academic year.

Maximum salary for persons with the B.A. degree is now $11,000.

Base salary for teachers with the M.A. degree is now $7,900 compared with a salary of $6,912 for 1968-69.

Maximum salary for teachers at the master's degree level is $12,740.

Teachers holding an M.A. degree plus 30 additional hours of course work will receive a base salary of $7,940. Maximum salary at this educational level is $13,020.

School Fact-Finding Set

A joint student-faculty committee has been named at Adlai Stevenson High School to study a variety of subjects to improve academic and extra-curricular programs for the 1969-70 school year.

The 10-member fact-finding committee will have about three weeks to gather information, evaluate it and submit recommendations to Supt. Harold Baner. "The committee is free to tackle any type of subject matter," Baner told the group during an organizational meeting Friday.

Some of the areas of investigation will probably include a review of Stevenson's 72-minute class period, attendance rules, smoking problems, homework activities, parking lot permits, and the limits of responsibility which can be readily accepted by teachers, he said.

Although a review of parking lot permit procedures may be one of the items which could be considered by the group, there is no connection between establishing the fact-finding committee and the recent parking lot protest," Baner said.

"We have been discussing creation of this study group for some time with student council leaders."

ABOUT 60 Stevenson students were put on probation last Tuesday for protesting the school's policy on student parking permits.

The committee was selected by student council representatives, including President Jackie Berg, the superintendent and his administrative assistant, Edwin Griffith. The five student members include Rick Ireland, 1968-70 president-elect of the student council; Barbara Lewis, senior and editor of the school newspaper, The Statesman; class representative Candy Carleton, junior; Mike Shimer, sophomore, and Pam Morris, freshman.

Faculty members on the fact group are Allen Bollmer, social science instructor; Mary McKinney, guidance counselor; Carol Johnson, physical education teacher; Dennis Bancroft, math instructor, and Edwin Ellis, business manager.

Concannon of Bears To Address Cub Pack

Jack Concannon, quarterback for the Chicago Bears, will address Cub Scout Pack 36 at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at Sullivan School.

At a meeting of the Pack April 17 awards were presented to members.

Bennet Gorecki received the Bear award and John Walpole, Bradley Stemm, Remas Juchnevicius and Edward Peterson received Wolf awards.

John Walpole, Thomas Baxter, and Dean Peterson were awarded the Gold Arrow. Brian Caputo was awarded the Gold and Silver arrows.

Jeffrey Hadrick, James Lindell, Tim Phelan and Matthew Henry received Craftsman awards.

Outdoors, Naturally

A nature lesson outdoors is planned later this spring for the sixth graders at Joyce Kilmer School in Buffalo Grove.

The day's activities will include a picnic luncheon and a discussion of trees, animal life and conservation. The students also will be asked to examine a square foot of earth and describe what they see in it.

In preparation for the day of outdoor education, the sixth-grade teachers at the school recently attended an outdoor workshop at Pottawatomie State Park in St. Charles, which was conducted by a park forest ranger.

AN ARCHITECT'S DRAWING shows the proposed James E. Roling Memorial Library at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn. It will be completed in about a year.

Hansen in Groundbreaking

Dr. Robert O. Hansen, 10 Stonegate Drive West, Prospect Heights officiated at the ground-breaking April 27 for the James E. Roling Memorial Library on the campus of Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Bannockburn.

Hansen, a Prospect Heights dentist and chairman of the 21-member Trinity Board of Directors, was present at the ceremony along with 400 friends of the college and members of the Roling family.

PRES. HARRY L. EVANS said the development of the $750,000 structure will be completed in about a year with construction due to begin this summer.

The library is being donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Roling, parents of Wurlitzer Co. executive James Roling who was killed in a 1960 airplane accident.

Hansen said the pressing need for a seminary library has been a concern to the administration and board due to the growing collection of books and rapidly expanding student enrollment.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

self, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said. Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $6,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying... 'this is the way we did it in China...' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses late-night personality Griswell as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future successes, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Some ground squirrels spend as much as three-fourths of their lives sleeping underground.

Blood Debt Explained

A blood debt owed by a Wheeling man to an Evanston hospital does not involve the American Red Cross, the Herald learned Monday.

Victor R. Petersen, 315 E. Highland Ave., in Wheeling is seeking blood donations from local veteran organizations and individuals in replacing blood from the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank.

The blood was used by Petersen's son Victor L. Petersen, 36, of Prospect Heights who died recently from cancer at the Evanston hospital.

Petersen told the Herald that he lacked the funds to pay for the 106 pints of blood and needed donations of blood to repay the hospital's blood bank.

AN EARLIER Herald story reported erroneously that the blood was owed to the American Red Cross. All blood supplied by that organization is without cost, and the Red Cross is not involved in providing blood to the St. Francis Hospital Blood Bank to which Petersen owes the debt.

Donations by area residents can be made at area hospitals and earmarked for St. Francis Hospital on behalf of Victor L. Petersen.

Further information on donations is available from Petersen at 537-4382.

Migrants Ordered Out

3 Killed in Elmhurst

ELMHURST — Three boys, two of them brothers, were killed yesterday afternoon when struck by a car in an unincorporated area south of Elmhurst.

The victims and a fourth boy were on their way home from school when struck at an intersection. They were identified as Sterling Minnoch, 9, his brother, Mark, 8, and Richard Cimino, 9.

Given Death Penalty

CLEVELAND — An all white jury Monday convicted Black Nationalist Fred "Ahmed" Evans of first degree murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair for the ambush slaying of three policemen and a civilian here last summer.

Evans, 37, was taken immediately to death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary where the execution is scheduled for Sept. 22. Ten persons, including the three policemen, were killed last July 23 in a gun battle which touched off a wave of looting and arson.

Voting Machines OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring county boards of supervisors to reapportion districts along "one man, one vote" lines by July, 1971.

The bill, sponsored by the County Problems Commission and approved 32-10, would let counties elect supervisors by equal districts or at large. The House also passed, 42-3, a bill to require voting machines or electronic voting in Cook and DuPage counties.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Teachers End Strike

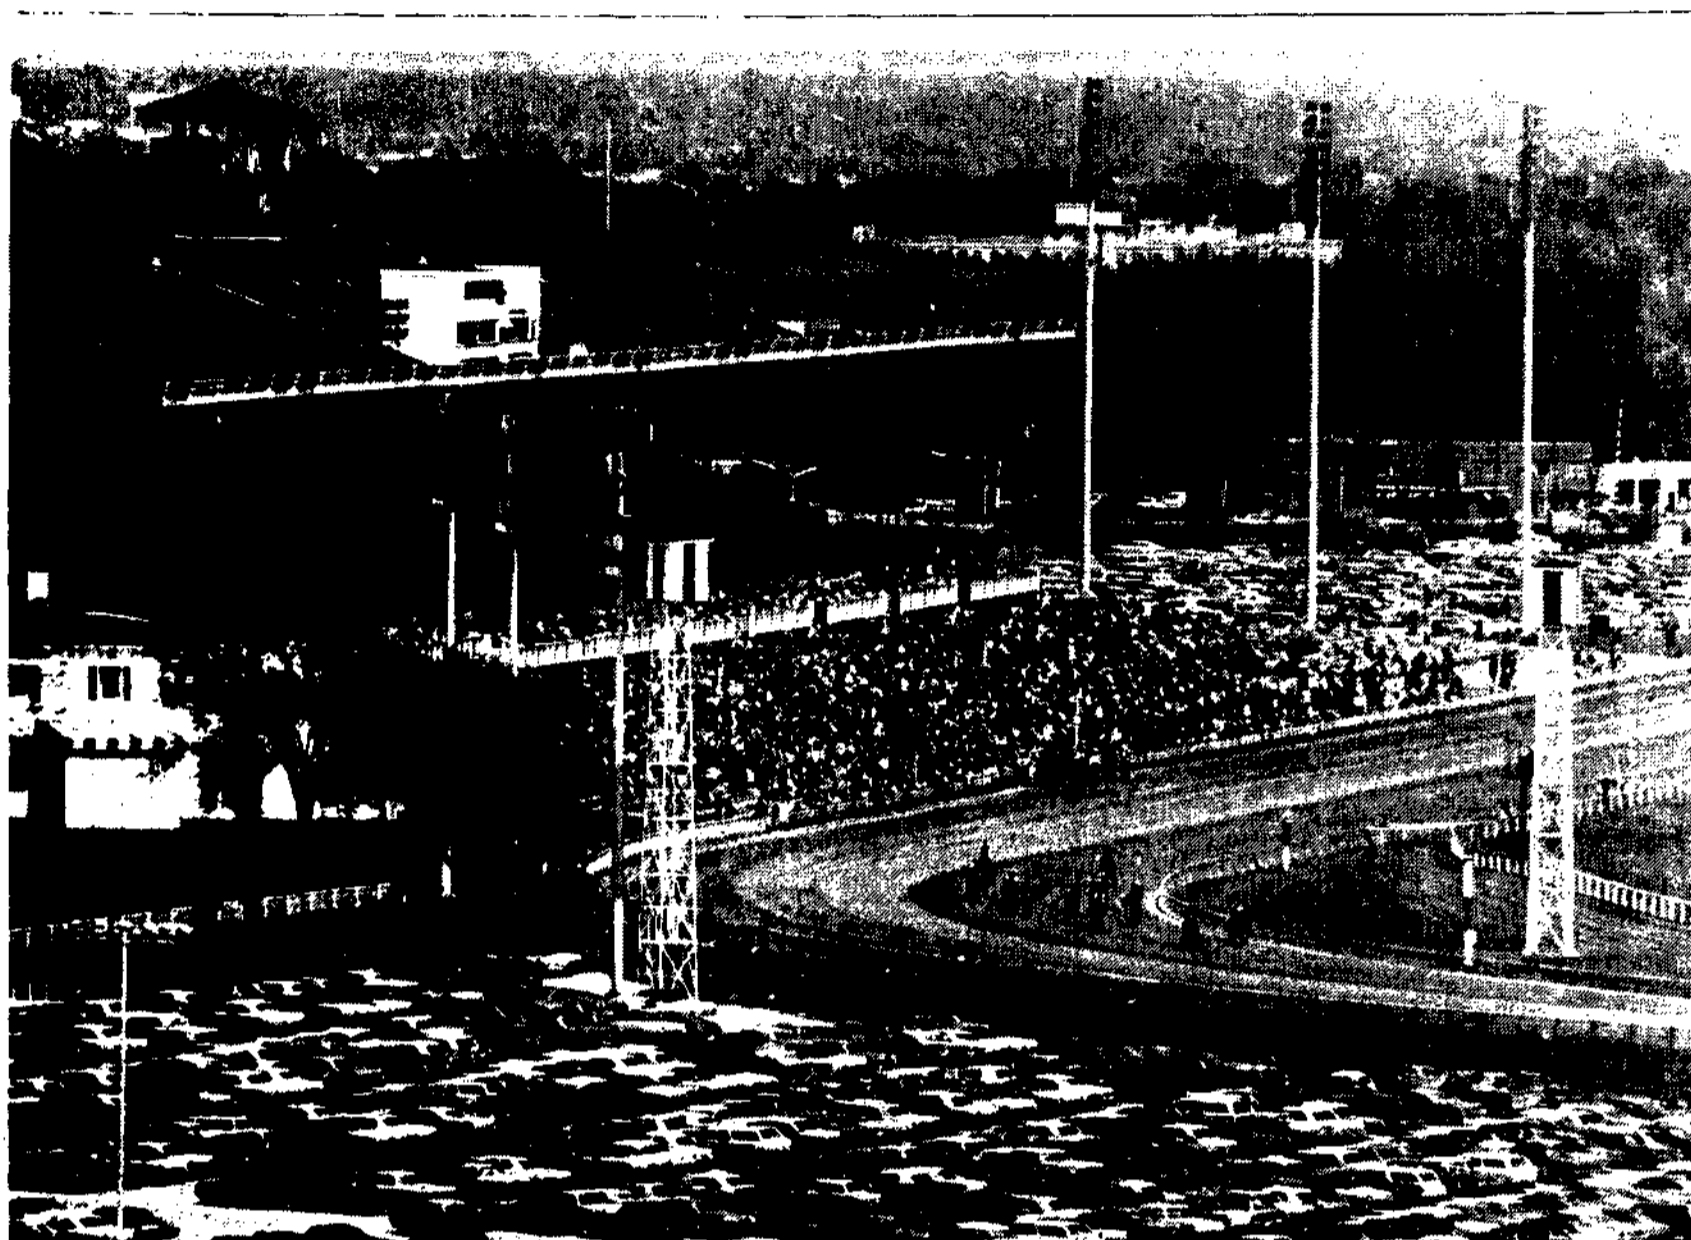

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

THEY'RE OFF! Arlington Park Race Track's 103-day season began yesterday amid the noise and excitement that ushers in every racing season. The grandstand was about half full as the horses headed into the first turn in the first race. This year's season will continue through September and may provide, among other things, the area's first experience with early evening racing. One other "new experience" came yesterday with this photo taken from the roof of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel by Herald Photographer Bob Strawn.

'Twas Money Time

"Way Back Then" is a regular feature of the Tuesday Herald. It discusses life in Palatine and Rolling Meadows in years past. Today features 1944 — 25 years ago when Palatine was still a country town and Rolling Meadows didn't even exist.)

by PETER WEISS

Financial news was in evidence 25 years ago as the Palatine taxing bodies received checks from the county treasurer's office for the first payment made in 15 years on taxes assessed against the Palatine Subdivision of that town.

The village got about $1,500, while the township received $1,000. The high school was granted $2,958 and School Dist. 15, $1,586.

The new tax rates were based on the full valuation instead of 37 per cent as in the past. Assessors adopted a 25 per cent increase in the value of improved property used for business.

An official of the realty division said, "We fix values on a million and a quarter pieces of property and we do not expect there will be no errors." He promised to do his best to keep them at a minimum.

A new store in Palatine was opened by Public Service, "so ultra-modern it was like a glimpse into the future." The business counter over which bills are paid featured curves that are "grace personified." They meant the counter, not anybody behind them, it is presumed.

THE WALLS were decorated in blue, orange-yellow, and blue-green. The office also featured an honor roll, kept up to date, listing local men and women in the service.

The only meat currently being rationed were steaks and roast. May 22 was set as Poppy Day in Palatine, while the town passed its Red Cross quota by over 105 per cent. They collected more than $3,700. The town participated in the War Loan drive, with a formal opening at Palatine High School.

G. A. McElroy was named principal of the high school, replacing John L. Reusser who left to take a position in Normal.

The high school turned out 34 graduates. Athletes from the school finished second to "a small, but talented team" from Bensenville, in the sixth annual Northwestern Conference Track Meet.

THE FIRST BALL given by the Police Department was "an outstanding success" in every way.

Local youngsters were busy learning about life on the farm to help meet Illinois demands for farm workers.

The movie theaters in the area featured such stars as John Garfield, Ann Rutherford, Jane Withers, Errol Flynn, and Dennis Morgan.

Which Road First?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst

Instructions to immediately evict all tenants from several migrant housing locations in Palatine Township were issued to two property owners Monday morning by Cook County officials.

At an administrative hearing, Francis Hogan, acting violation supervisor for the county building and zoning department threatened legal action if the tenants are not gone within 10 days.

Charged with zoning violations are Ivan Vasylyaty, who lives at 600 W. Wood St. and owns property there and at 1000 N. Smith Road and 263 N. Quentin, and Mrs. Jesse Morales, resident and property owner at 136 N. Quentin.

Hogan plans to contact the state attorney's office today to discuss seeking an injunction to force compliance with the law.

"We can get a court order, if necessary," he said.

VASYLYATY SAID he intends to contact an attorney before evicting tenants. He was told to return with his lawyer to another hearing next Monday.

Mrs. Morales agreed to evict a family and several single men from her house by the end of the week.

The owner of several shacks at all three locations, Vasylyaty said he rents living quarters to migrant workers "because they have no other place to go."

He said he charges $5 a week to a single man and from $60 to $80 a month to a family.

"But I don't need the money. I need the help," he said.

In the landscaping business, Vasylyaty said some of his tenants also are his employees. Then later, he said that most of the men work in factories in the area.

County officials were trying to decide if housing on his property could be classified as a migrant camp outlined in a 1961 Illinois statute. But they determined definite zoning violations since tenants are charged rent and all are not employees.

A COUNTY official asked, "Why don't you tear the shacks down?" after Vasylyaty said he can't refuse homeless migrants when they knock at his door.

"I've even let them sleep in my own bedroom and in my car. Maybe I could fix up the shacks," Vasylyaty suggested.

But Ed Hennessy, county plumbing supervisor, said, "There's no possible way you could bring those shacks up to standards which would comply with our ordinance."

The Cook County Public Health Department also has investigated the migrant housing locations and reported "conditions unfit for human habitation."

In addition to undesirable living conditions on the Morales property, county officials were concerned about abandoned autos on the two-acre tract.

Mrs. Morales, who said she's been renting rooms to single men from Mexico and Texas for the last eight years, said most of the cars were left on the property last year by men transported back to Mexico when police discovered their illegal entry into the country. She said the cars and tenants would be gone by Saturday.

Road to Meacham Road. The 3½-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing north-west suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

HERY YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3½ miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,835,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Route for relocated Wilke Road has not been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out. Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

Ground Breaks in Rain

Despite steady falling rain, ground breaking ceremonies for Schaumburg High School were held Saturday, with plans calling for the school to be ready by the middle of the 1970-71 school year.

Among those attending the rain-soaked event were Lyle Johnson, president of Dist. 211 school board, Robert Atcher, Schaumburg mayor, Dist. 211 superintendent Gerald McElroy, Carl Weimer, principal designate of the new school, Eric Jones, of the architectural firm of Fitch, LaRocca, Carington, and Jones, and Henry Tonyan, construction superintendent. Tonyan Brothers Construction Company won the contract with a low bid of $5,181,037.

The school is being built for a minimum of 2,500 students. It will open as a freshman-sophomore school and add a junior class one year, and a senior class the next.

The school will be air conditioned, and have many modern features.

The high school is being built with funds loaned to 211 by the Illinois State Building Commission. The title for the land is in their name and will revert back to the district, when the building is paid for.

Covering 40 acres, Schaumburg High School will have an area of 298,000 square feet. The three-story building will be 170' wide by 650' long.

The school will be the fourth high school in the district. Tonyan Brothers have worked on three previous projects in the district.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or all at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next? D. H. Fresno, Calif.

Dear D.H. Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The so-called "psychic" is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. It's your desire for spiritual progression in fact, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy. Signed, Mr. Psychic. The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr.

sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Kind of grabs your mind, doesn't it? It should, because that is Mr. Psychic's business.

He and other seers are professional mind-grabbers. Royse believes that he has the powers of ESP. His followers believe it, and by the time you leave a two hour session with him, you begin to believe it yourself.

A session with Mr. Psychic is a journey to a different world, where every event is colored by the mysticism of ESP and clairvoyance.

Patrons of Mr. Psychic filled into the Randhurst community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newsletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax herself, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said.

Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clapping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying... this is the way we did it in China... but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses late-night personality Gaiwells as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future successes, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Teacher Resignations In

The resignations of 29 certificated staff members in Dist. 15 will be considered by the school board at its regular meeting, Wednesday night.

Ten teachers are seeking leaves due to pregnancy. They are Mrs. Jeanne McDermid, Mrs. Sharon Winsauer, Mrs. Darlene Fiocca, Mrs. Kathleen Zender, Mrs. Annette Sather, Mrs. Judith Steinberg, Mrs. Rosalie Elkin, Mrs. Joanne Peterson, Mrs. Sylvia Bath and Mrs. Ramona Parker.

Mrs. Judith McCaskey requested a termination of maternity leave.

Another six teachers are leaving to accept positions closer to home. They are Gloria Tetzlaff, John Swanson, Kristin Nelli, Nancy Baxley, Elizabeth Smith and Suzanne Engbreton.

Moving to another area are nine teachers: Barbara Scrimenti, Lydia LaMere, Doris Byrne, Anne King, Sue Angelos, Judith Bishop, Janet Orndorff, Mrs. Lorraine Coakley and Richard Haldeman.

PERSONAL REASONS were stated by three teachers: Frances Applehans, Jane Dennison and Virginia Christensen.

Other reasons are marriage and moving away. Jamie Sanders; returning to college, Lynn Keefer; leaving to assume another type of work, Thomas Francis; needed at home, Mrs. Dorothy Mawicke, and other reasons, Mrs. Claire Dailey.

Mary Lang has requested a leave of absence while Mrs. Helen Young, nurse, has resigned.

Four teachers will be considered for employment. They are Mrs. Mary Barnes, Mrs. Darlene Sheffield, Susan Jones and Mrs. Helen Schulte.

The board will consider the addition of Alfred Murphy to the maintenance crew and Romauld Dzadzowski, as night man at Marion Jordan School. He would replace Jesus Morales, transferred to the Grey M. Sanborn School.

'Y' Staff Named

Eight staff positions have been filled for the Summer Camping Program of the Country Club YMCA in Palatine.

Directing both Camp Countryside and Camp Countryside II will be Gary Meier, program director. Meier comes to the YMCA from New Jersey where he spent three years as a youth director and camp director for the Madison Area YMCA. He received a B.A. degree from Valparaiso University and a master's degree from Springfield College.

Assisting in the eight-day overnight Camp Countryside II beginning June 20th will be Meier's wife, Kathy. A graduate of Valparaiso University and a certified teacher in five states, she will work primarily with the nature crafts program of the camp.

David and Jean Clifford, another husband and wife team, have volunteered to work on the Camp Countryside II staff.

The Cliffords live in Palatine with their two children, Danny and Betsy. Clifford is a pilot with Delta Air Lines and is a member of the Marine Reserves. He is currently chief of the 19-tribe Indian Guide organization at the "Y".

MRS. CLIFFORD is a certified teacher and serves occasionally as a substitute teacher when not taking care of the family. Both are graduates of DePaul University and will work as cabin counselors and activity leaders.

A second program director at the "Y", Mrs. Roberta Turcotte, will also lead a hand at camp.

She has more than 12 years experience in "Y" Aquatics and Camping programs. Her education was acquired at George Williams College and her main concern at Camp Countryside will be to assure every camper quality swimming and boating experience.

Three qualified high school students have also joined the summer camp team. Mary Anderson, of Arlington Heights, has had experience with children working both Vacation Bible School and Girl Scout day camp staffs. Mary holds a current Red Cross first aid certificate and will be responsible for modern dance and singing at camp.

JOHN COX AND Larry Nelson, both of Barrington, are certified in Red Cross first aid and lifesaving.

Tom will help provide direction for the waterfront program. Larry will be the camp's music director.

The "Y" is still accepting applications for counselor and junior counselor positions.

There is a special need for college age students who are 18 and older. In addition, high school students under 17 can apply for the voluntary position of junior counselor.

Persons interested may contact the "Y" at 359-2400.

Yates To Evaluate

Congressman Sidney Yates, D-Illinois, will evaluate the first 100 days of President Richard Nixon's administration at Thursday's luncheon of the 13th District Democratic Women.

Yates, currently serving his 10th term in Congress, as representative of Chicago's north lake front area, has been on the House Appropriations Committee for 19 years and the House Committee for Small Businesses for 10 years.

The luncheon begins at noon at the Glenview Country House, 1560 Waukegan Road. Glenview Reservations may be made by phoning 251-4474.

3 Killed in Elmhurst

ELMHURST — Three boys, two of them brothers, were killed yesterday afternoon when struck by a car in an unincorporated area south of Elmhurst.

The victims and a fourth boy were on their way home from school when struck at an intersection. They were identified as Sterling Minnoch, 9, his brother, Mark, 8, and Richard Cimino, 9.

Given Death Penalty

CLEVELAND — An all-white jury Monday convicted Black Nationalist Fred 'Ahmed' Evans of first degree murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair for the ambush slaying of three policemen and a civilian here last summer.

Evans, 37, was taken immediately to death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary where the execution is scheduled for Sept. 22. Ten persons, including the three policemen, were killed last July 23 in a gun battle which touched off a wave of looting and arson.

Voting Machines OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring county boards of supervisors to reapportion districts along one man, one vote lines by July 1971.

The bill, sponsored by the County Problems Commission and approved 32-10, would let counties elect supervisors by equal districts or at large. The House also passed 42-3 a bill to require voting machines or electronic voting in Cook and DuPage counties.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semitrailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station and a camper van parked at the station.

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American groups," was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $600 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1960 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3 1/2-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

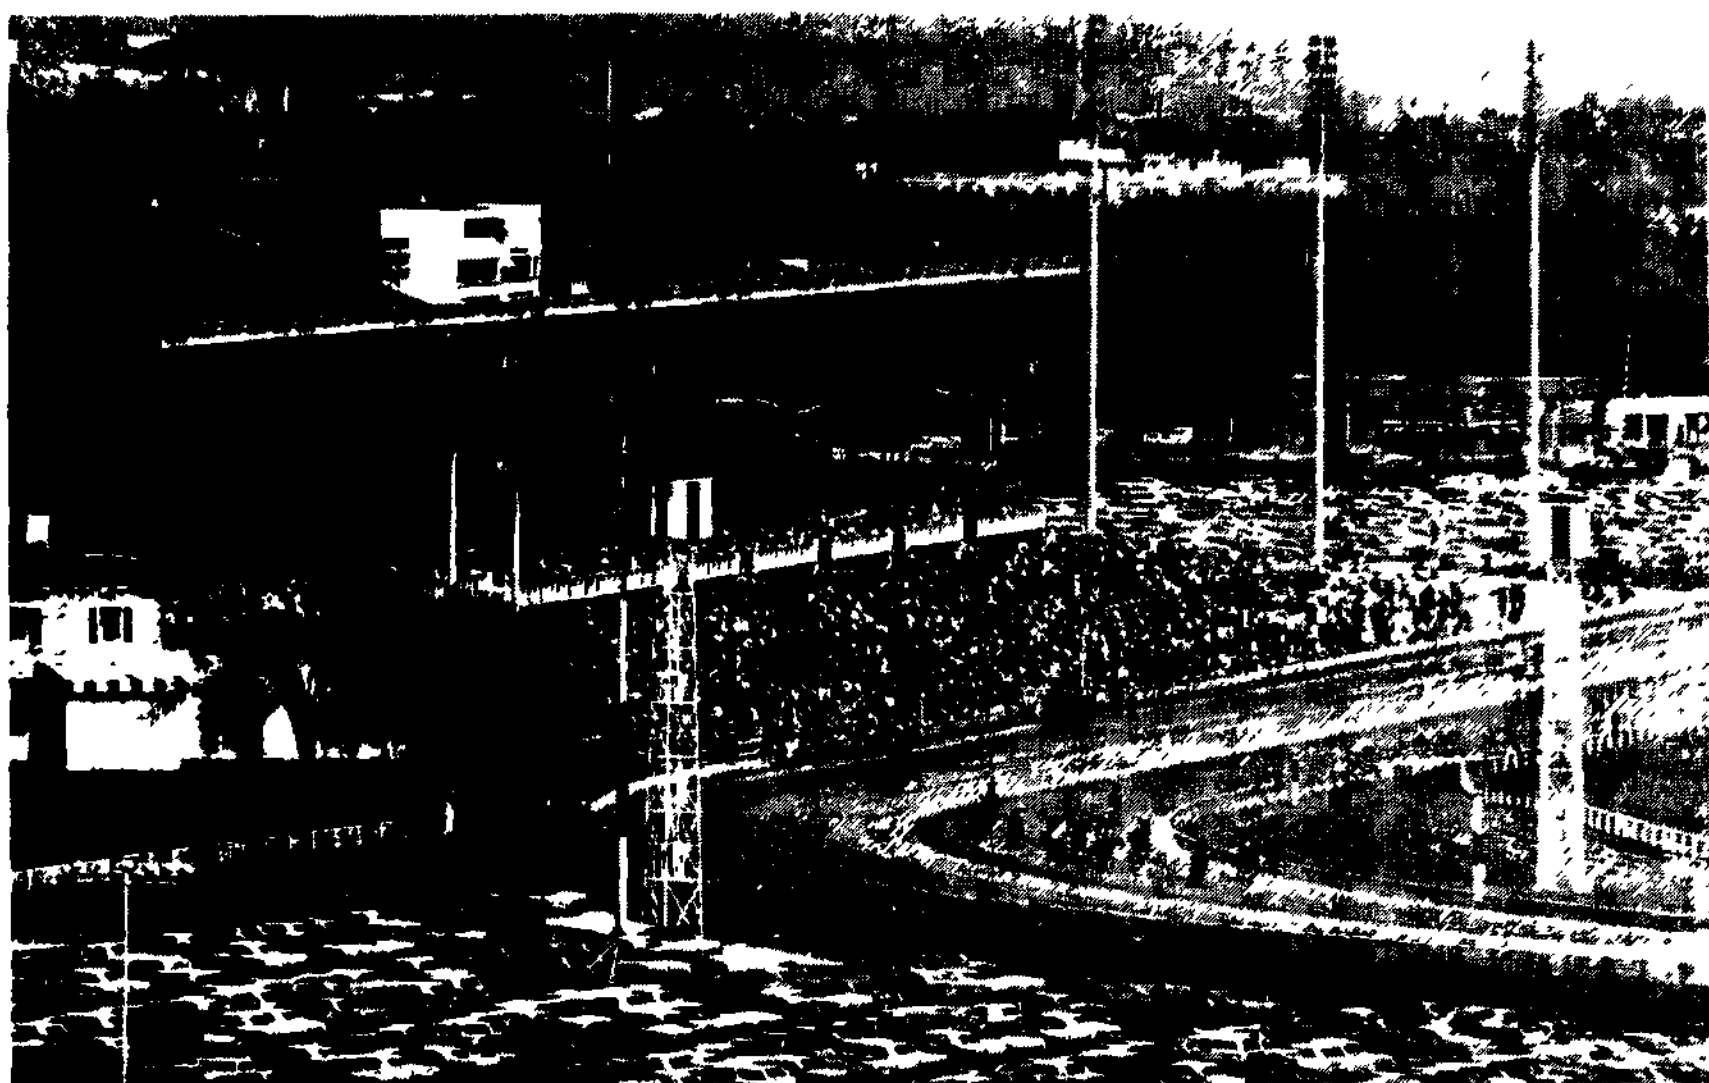

HERY YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3 1/2 miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,855,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Route for relocated Wilke Road has not been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out. Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

THEY'RE OFF! Arlington Park Race Track's 103-day season began yesterday amid the noise and excitement that ushers in every racing season. The grandstand was about half full as the horses headed into the first turn in the first race. This year's season will continue through September and may provide, among other things, the area's first experience with early evening racing. One other "new experience" came yesterday with this photo taken from the roof of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel by Herald Photographer Bob Strawn.

Board Hears Smoking Area Request

Board President Arthur Aronson made it clear from the beginning that there would be no decision last night, but the Dist. 214 board of education did listen to a request for a smoking area at Elk Grove High School.

A survey of residents throughout the district may result from last night's meeting of the board of education. The board heard a lengthy presentation from Elk Grove High School Student Council Pres. James Brookman, and then opened up a question and answer period for both board members and the audience.

The board decided to wait until a report from Forest View High School is presented before taking action on the request from Elk Grove students. Forest View, in Arlington Heights, has established a smoking area on an experimental basis, and it was learned prior to the meeting last night that the report was not yet ready.

DURING THE COURSE of the question and answer period, residents challenged students to "direct your efforts at the real problem and not insult the board by talking about this particular issue."

The response from students was that they had become involved in such activities as Biafra Operation Thank You, and the California Grape Strike. The question of morality, health, and welfare of students was discussed but no real conclusions were made.

Brookman reported the results of student and faculty surveys and related incidents at the high school to the board. He pointed out that a survey of students showed only 170 felt enforcement of the current no smoking rules was adequate while 1,317 disagreed.

HE ALSO POINTED out that 1,000 students favored a smoking area while 394 were opposed. A survey of faculty showed that 14 teachers favored a smoking area and 41 were against; 23 teachers were offended by being required to patrol washrooms whereas 51 felt they were not. Comments from both students and faculty against, and for, a smoking area were read to the board.

Also read was an April 28 letter from Robert Haskell, principal of the school, to a number of parents to which board member Leah Cummings took exception to the letter's contents. While the school, according to Haskell, has a rigid enforcement policy, the student smoking committee has discovered significant enforcement problems.

RESIDENTS FAVORED stringent enforcement of school policy with or without a smoking area. There was some complaint from residents that no survey of tax payers has been made. Whether parents were for or against the smoking area, the board was encouraged to conduct a district-wide survey which would serve as a foundation of policy affecting all six high schools in the district on student smoking.

Haskell said he planned to distribute a parent letter explaining what took place at last night's meeting, but both Brookman and Elk Grove Village Community Services director Glen Powell were politely leary of that idea. Brookman wanted a student-prepared survey while Powell encouraged an "objective" letter.

'Twas Money Time

"Way Back Then" is a regular feature of the Tuesday Herald. It discusses life in Palatine and Rolling Meadows in years past. Today features 1964 — 25 years ago when Palatine was still a country town and Rolling Meadows didn't even exist.)

by PETER WEISS

Financial news was in evidence 25 years ago as the Palatine taxing bodies received checks from the county treasurer's office for the first payment made in 15 years on taxes assessed against the Palatine Subdivision of that town.

The village got about $1,500, while the township received $1,000. The high school was granted $2,958 and School Dist. 15, $1,568.

The new tax rates were based on the full valuation instead of 37 per cent as in the past. Assessors adopted a 25 per cent increase in the value of improved property used for business.

An official of the realty division said, "We fix values on a million and a quarter pieces of property and we do not expect there will be no errors." He promised to do his best to keep them at a minimum.

A new store in Palatine was opened by Public Service, "so ultra-modern it was like a glimpse into the future." The business counter over which bills are paid featured curves that are "grace personified." They meant the counter, not anybody behind them, it is presumed.

THE WALLS were decorated in blue, orange-yellow, and blue-green. The office also featured an honor roll, kept up to date, listing local men and women in the service.

The only meat currently being rationed were steaks and roast. May 22 was set as Poppy Day in Palatine, while the town passed its Red Cross quota by over 105 per cent. They collected more than $3,700. The town participated in the War Loan drive, with a formal opening at Palatine High School.

G. A. McElroy was named principal of the high school, replacing John L. Reusser who left to take a position in Normal.

Consider Grant for Books

The Rolling Meadows Library Board is inquiring about the library's possible eligibility for a federal grant for books.

"With the services the library receives from North Suburban Systems it still finds its budget inadequate to meet the demands for good library service," the library board said in a letter to the state library asking about funds.

The letter further noted that the library's new building has doubled the clubbity of a federal grant for books.

In other action last week the board passed a resolution to increase the library's insurance coverage to $155,000 for books and records.

A rules and regulations committee was appointed by Board Chairman William Billings. Committee members are Tom Grossman, chairman, John Lund and Mrs. Maurice Garland.

Billings said applications are now being accepted for board membership. Three vacancies will exist as of June 30.

Migrants Evicted

by MARTHA KOPER

Instructions to immediately evict all tenants from several migrant housing locations in Palatine Township were issued to two property owners Monday morning by Cook County officials.

At an administrative hearing, Francis Hogan, acting violation supervisor for the county building and zoning department threatened legal action if the tenants are not gone within 10 days.

Charged with zoning violations are Ivan Vasylyat, who lives at 600 W. Wood St. and owns property there and at 1000 N. Smith Road and 263 N. Quentin, and Mrs. Jesse Morales, resident and property owner at 136 N. Quentin.

Hogan plans to contact the state attorney's office today to discuss seeking an injunction to force compliance with the law.

"We can get a court order, if necessary," he said.

VASYLYATY SAID he intends to contact an attorney before evicting tenants. He was told to return with his lawyer to another hearing next Monday.

Mrs. Morales agreed to evict a family and several single men from her house by the end of the week.

The owner of several shacks at all three locations, Vasylyat said he rents living quarters to migrant workers "because they have no other place to go."

He said he charges $5 a week to a single man and from $50 to $80 a month to a family.

"But I don't need the money. I need the help," he said.

In the landscaping business, Vasylyat said some of his tenants also are his employees. Then later, he said that most of the men work in factories in the area.

County officials were trying to decide if housing on his property could be classified as a migrant camp outlined in a 1961 Illinois statute. But they determined definite zoning violations since tenants are charged rent and all are not employees.

A COUNTY official asked, "Why don't you tear the shacks down?" after Vasylyat said he can't refuse homeless migrants when they knock at his door.

"I've even let them sleep in my own bedroom and in my car. Maybe I could fix up the shacks," Vasylyat suggested.

But Ed Hennessy, county plumbing supervisor, said, "There's no possible way you could bring those shacks up to standards which would comply with our ordinance."

The Cook County Public Health Department also has investigated the migrant housing locations and reported "conditions unfit for human habitation."

In addition to undesirable living conditions on the Morales property, county officials were concerned about abandoned autos on the two-acre tract.

Mrs. Morales, who said she's been renting rooms to single men from Mexico and Texas for the last eight years, said most of the cars were left on the property last year by men transported back to Mexico when police discovered their illegal entry into the country. She said the cars and tenants would be gone by Saturday.

Ground Breaks in Rain

Despite steady falling rain, ground breaking ceremonies for Schaumburg High School were held Saturday, with plans calling for the school to be ready by the middle of the 1970-71 school year.

Among those attending the rain-soaked event were Lyle Johnson, president of Dist. 211 school board, Robert Atcher, Schaumburg mayor, Dist. 211 superintendent Gerald McElroy, Carl Weiner, principal-designate of the new school, Eric Jones of the architectural firm of Fitch, LaRocca, Carington, and Jones, and Henry Toney, construction superintendent. Toney Brothers Construction Company won the contract with a low bid of $5,181,037.

The school is being built for a minimum of 2,500 students. It will open as a freshman-sophomore school and add a junior class one year, and a senior class the next.

The school will be air conditioned, and have many modern features.

The high school is being built with funds loaned to 211 by the Illinois State Building Commission. The title for the land is in their name and will revert back to the district, when the building is paid for.

Covering 40 acres, Schaumburg High School will have an area of 298,000 square feet. The three-story building will be 170' wide by 650' long.

The school will be the fourth high school in the district. Toney Brothers have worked on three previous projects in the district.

Mr. Psychic Does His Thing

by JAMES VESELY

Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or ill at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next? D. H., Fresno, Calif.

Dear D.H. Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy. Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr.,

sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks. I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Kind of grabs your mind, doesn't it? It should, because that is Mr. Psychic's business.

He and other seers are professional mind-grabbers. Royse believes that he has the powers of ESP. His followers believe it, and by the time you leave a two hour session with him, you begin to believe it yourself.

A session with Mr. Psychic is a journey to a different world, where every event is colored by the mysticism of ESP and clairvoyance.

Patrons of Mr. Psychic filed into the Randhurst community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newsletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax herself, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said. Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $5,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying, 'This is the way we did it in China,' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses late-night personality Griswell as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future successes, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

STUDENTS AT JONAS Salk School in Rolling Meadows left no doubts about who their favorite fictional characters were last week. As part of a demonstration for parents, the students dressed as their favorite characters. Raggedy

'Y' Staff Named

Eight staff positions have been filled for the Summer Camping Program of the Countryside YMCA in Palatine.

Directing both Camp Countryside and Camp Countryside II will be Gary Meier, program director. Meier comes to the Midwest from New Jersey where he spent three years as a youth director and camp director for the Madison Area YMCA. He received a B.A. degree from Valparaiso University and a master's degree from Springfield College.

Assisting in the eight-day overnight Camp Countryside II beginning June 20th will be Meier's wife, Kathy. A graduate of Valparaiso University and a certified teacher in five states, she will work primarily with the nature crafts program of the camp.

David and Jean Clifford, another husband and wife team, have volunteered to work on the Camp Countryside II staff.

The Cliffords live in Palatine with their two children, Danny and Betsy Clifford. He is a pilot with Delta Air Lines and is a member of the Marine Reserves. He is currently chief of the 19-tribe Indian Guide organization at the "Y".

MRS. CLIFFORD is a certified teacher and serves occasionally as a substitute teacher when not taking care of the family. Both are graduates of DePaul University and will work as cabin counselors and activity leaders.

A second program director at the "Y", Mrs. Roberta Turcotte, will also lend a hand at camp.

She has more than 12 years experience in "Y" Aquatics and Camping programs. Her education was acquired at George Williams College and her main concern at Camp Countryside will be to assure every camper quality swimming and boating experience.

Three qualified high school students have also joined the summer camp team. Mary Anderson, of Arlington Heights, has had experience with children working both Vacation Bible School and Girl Scout day camp staffs. Mary holds a current Red Cross first aid certificate and will be responsible for modern dance and singing at camp.

TOM COX and Larry Nelson, both of Barrington, are certified in Red Cross first aid and lifesaving.

Tom will help provide direction for the waterfront program. Larry will be the camp's music director.

The "Y" is still accepting applications for counselor and junior counselor positions.

There is a special need for college age students who are 18 and older. In addition, high school students under 17 can apply for the voluntary position of junior counselor.

Persons interested may contact the "Y" at 359-2400.

3 Killed in Elmhurst

ELMHURST — Three boys, two of them brothers, were killed yesterday afternoon when struck by a car in an unincorporated area south of Elmhurst.

The victims and a fourth boy were on their way home from school when struck at an intersection. They were identified as Sterling Minnoch, 9, his brother, Mark, 8, and Richard Cimino, 9.

Given Death Penalty

CLEVELAND — An all white jury Monday convicted Black Nationalist Fred "Ahmed" Evans of first degree murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair for the ambush slaying of three policemen and a civilian here last summer.

Evans, 37, was taken immediately to death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary where the execution is scheduled for Sept. 22. Ten persons, including the three policemen, were killed last July 23 in a gun battle which touched off a wave of looting and arson.

Voting Machines OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring county boards of supervisors to reapportion districts along "one man, one vote" lines by July, 1971.

The bill, sponsored by the County Problems Commission and approved 32-10, would let counties elect supervisors by equal districts or at large. The House also passed, 42-3, a bill to require voting machines or electronic voting in Cook and DuPage counties.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major flat intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 110-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

CLIFFORD ROYSE JR., a man known as Mr. Psychic, brought a touch of ESP to Randhurst Saturday.

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3 1/4-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

HERY YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3 1/4 miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,835,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Route for relocated Wilke Road has not been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out. Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

Discuss Bridges

The Mount Prospect Fire and Police Committee went under fire last night when they continued discussion of two proposed bridges to span Weller Creek at George and See Gwon streets.

The bridge, if approved by the village board, would be paid for with state MFT funds. The committee was fired upon by several residents of George Street who lived north of the creek and are opposed to a bridge which would make their neighborhood a thoroughfare for Golf-Hurst Subdivision south of the creek.

Golf-Hurst residents on the other hand are in favor of the proposed George Street Bridge because they are virtually landlocked with the exception of Golf Road. The idea to build a bridge at George Street was precipitated last fall when 121 Golf-Hurst residents petitioned the village for a relief street other than Golf. The proposed George Street bridge so far has been the only practical solution.

RESIDENTS NORTH of the creek suggested extending Sunset Road a block east to Golf-Hurst. So residents could cross the creek at Emerson Street. But this property, which is owned by Dist. 57, would have to be split to do this, and the district has said it has no intention of selling any portion of their land.

The village also decided as long as a bridge on the east side of town was being considered, a bridge on the west side to span the creek at See Gwon should also be studied. Village engineer Bill McManamon said estimated cost of a bridge at George Street would be $90,000 and $125,000 for See Gwon. The committee found that people north of the creek at both sites are opposed to the bridge idea and have asked the village to build them elsewhere.

McMANAMON SAID if approved, the bridges could be built in 100 days. Residents north of the creek said they liked the isolation of a dead-end street and still want to know why they are being picked on by the village.

The only thing decided so far is that the MFT funds are available from the state if the village decides to build the bridges.

Puts You in Spirit of Things

by JAMES VESELY

"Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or ill at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next?" D. H., Fresno, Calif.

"Dear D.H. Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy." Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randhurst last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Kind of grabs your mind, doesn't it? It should, because that is Mr. Psychic's business.

He and other seers are professional mind-grabbers. Royse believes that he has the powers of ESP. His followers believe it, and by the time you leave a two hour session with him, you begin to believe it yourself.

A session with Mr. Psychic is a journey to a different world, where every event is colored by the mysticism of ESP and clairvoyance.

Patrons of Mr. Psychic filed into the Randhurst community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newsletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax herself, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said.

Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out SOMEWHERE IN THIS young lady's heart, Clifford Royse offered predictions of love, heartache and success to nearly 100 area residents Saturday.

A Request For Smoking Area Heard

Board President Arthur Aronson made it clear from the beginning that there would be no decision last night, but the Dist. 214 board of education did listen to a request for a smoking area at Elk Grove High School.

A survey of residents throughout the district may result from last night's meeting of the board of education. The board heard a lengthy presentation from Elk Grove High School Student Council Pres. James Brookman, and then opened up a question and answer period for both board members and the audience.

The board decided to wait until a report from Forest View High School is presented before taking action on the request from Elk Grove students. Forest View, in Arlington Heights, has established a smoking area on an experimental basis, and it was learned prior to the meeting last night that the report was not yet ready.

DURING THE COURSE of the question and answer period, residents challenged students to "direct your efforts at the real problem and not insult the board by talking about this particular issue."

The response from students was that they had become involved in such activities as Biafra Operation Thank You, and the California Grape Strike. The question of morality, health, and welfare of students was discussed but no real conclusions were made.

Brookman reported the results of student and faculty surveys and related incidents at the high school to the board. He pointed out that a survey of students showed only 170 felt enforcement of the current no smoking rules was adequate while 1,317 disagreed.

HE ALSO POINTED out that 1,020 students favored a smoking area while 394 were opposed. A survey of faculty showed that 14 teachers favored a smoking area and 61 were against; 23 teachers were opposed by being required to patrol washrooms whereas 51 felt they were not. Comments from both students and faculty against, and for, a smoking area were read to the board.

Two Take Oaths

Michael Buckley and William Selepe elected last April to serve six-year terms as commissioners on the Mount Prospect Park Board took their oaths of office last night.

Buckley and Selepe will replace commissioners Edward Boddy and Richard Tank. Boddy, one of the founders of the park district, retired from office after having served 14 years on the park board. Tank was defeated in his bid for reelection on April 1.

Robert Jackson was reelected to serve a second term as chairman of the board. Park Commissioners Richard Ward and Roland Becker were elected to vice president and secretary respectively for the 1969-70 season.

Albert Jackson was reappointed to serve as the park district treasurer, Commissioner Buckley was named assistant treasurer, and William Ward, attorney.

WARD INFORMED the board that the park district's $2.4 million referendum was ruled valid by the court.

The petitioners who filed the case against the park district contesting passage of the referendum did not file a petition for a rehearing or a new trial by May 9 which was the deadline for the case.

With the definite passage of the referendum the park board signed the contract with Kessler, Merri, Brookthorpe and Lockner, Inc., architectural and engineering firm in Chicago to begin work on the park district comprehensive development and improvement plan.

Report Bogus Checks

Police have reported a rash of allegedly bogus checks, the latest being passed at the Open Pantry Food Mart, 400 W. Central Road, Mount Prospect.

A spokesman for the store said the man, described as 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and wearing old clothes, presented a check from DuPage Hangers Inc. for $98.80 on May 7.

Over the weekend the check came back to the food mart from the State Bank of Elmhurst on which it was drawn, because the account was closed.

A POLICE CHECK disclosed that DuPage Hangers Inc., located in Hillside, had been robbed of 300 blank checks April 18. Checks in the same amount have been cashed at Polk Bros. in Arlington Heights and the Village Market in Mount Prospect.

Police said in all cases the check was made out in the same manner. A check protector was used to write the amount and it was hand written a second time. Names of the payer are fictitious and the name of the payee in each case was Richard Hobson of Forest Park, also a fictitious name, police said.

Hillside police have a photo of the man cashing one of the checks, but have not discovered his identity yet.

Vacancy On List Only?

While this time of year may bring thoughts of "Who's on first," Dist. 57 personnel may be wondering, "Who's off next?"

On Thursday a Herald reporter spotted a vacancy list for positions within the district on the bulletin board at one of the schools.

The vacancy list included a position for principal. No vacancy has been discussed in public at school board meetings although the board members are allowed executive sessions on matters of personnel, providing changes are then affirmed by public action.

Thursday afternoon Supt. Eric Sahiberg told the Herald reporter, "You couldn't have seen such a list."

When assured that the list did exist, Sahiberg said he would have it removed at once. The Herald learned that the list had been posted earlier in the week at all district schools. It was removed on administrative order on Thursday.

"THERE IS an error in the list," principals were told. The error was not specified.

Questioned concerning a vacancy among the eight principals in Dist. 57, Sahiberg said there is none. He told another Herald reporter that 28 vacancies in principal staff is "normal" for this time of year in Cook County school districts the size of Dist. 57.

The Herald has learned that one district principal who is on tenure has applied for an overseas position. If this new job is confirmed within a short time he will resign. If confirmation is delayed, there will be no resignation.

A second principal, one who is not on tenure, is reportedly considering a resignation. The district has three principals who are not on tenure. Principals who have been with the district three or more years hold tenure relating only to teaching positions, not administrative jobs.

The school board met in a lengthy personnel session on Saturday following their special board meeting. Reporters were excluded from the session, which is within the legal right of public boards.

Road Rally Sunday

The rally, in which 21 driving teams from the Northwest suburbs will compete, is being sponsored by Northwest Suburban Council of Explorer Scouts.

The rally is not a race, but is designed to test driving skills and the ability of each team to follow an unrehearsed route. At no time during the rally will cars exceed 50 miles an hour.

Each team will be comprised of a driver, a navigator-observer and an adult.

THE WINNING TEAM will be awarded rally jackets and a trophy at the Mount Prospect Country Club, where a dinner will be served Sunday night.

The top 37 teams in the nation will compete in a rally at Dearborn, Mich. in August.

Each member of the winning team will receive a $1,500 scholarship, use of a Lincoln-Mercury car for a year, and act as an official representative for the Lincoln-Mercury Division and the Explorers. Boy Scouts of America, in national tours for a year.

Real Estate Transfers

Ten property sales in Des Plaines and Mount Prospect tied for top activity spots in the latest monthly Elk Grove Township real estate transfer report from County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen.

The report contained four sales in Arlington Heights, and 38 in Elk Grove Village and the township.

Olsen recorded the following property transfers for the township:

Two Tarragon Socials Scheduled This Week

The Tarragon Young Adults Club of Mount Prospect will hold a scotch-doubles bowling party at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Montclare bowling alley, 3059 N. Harlem, Chicago.

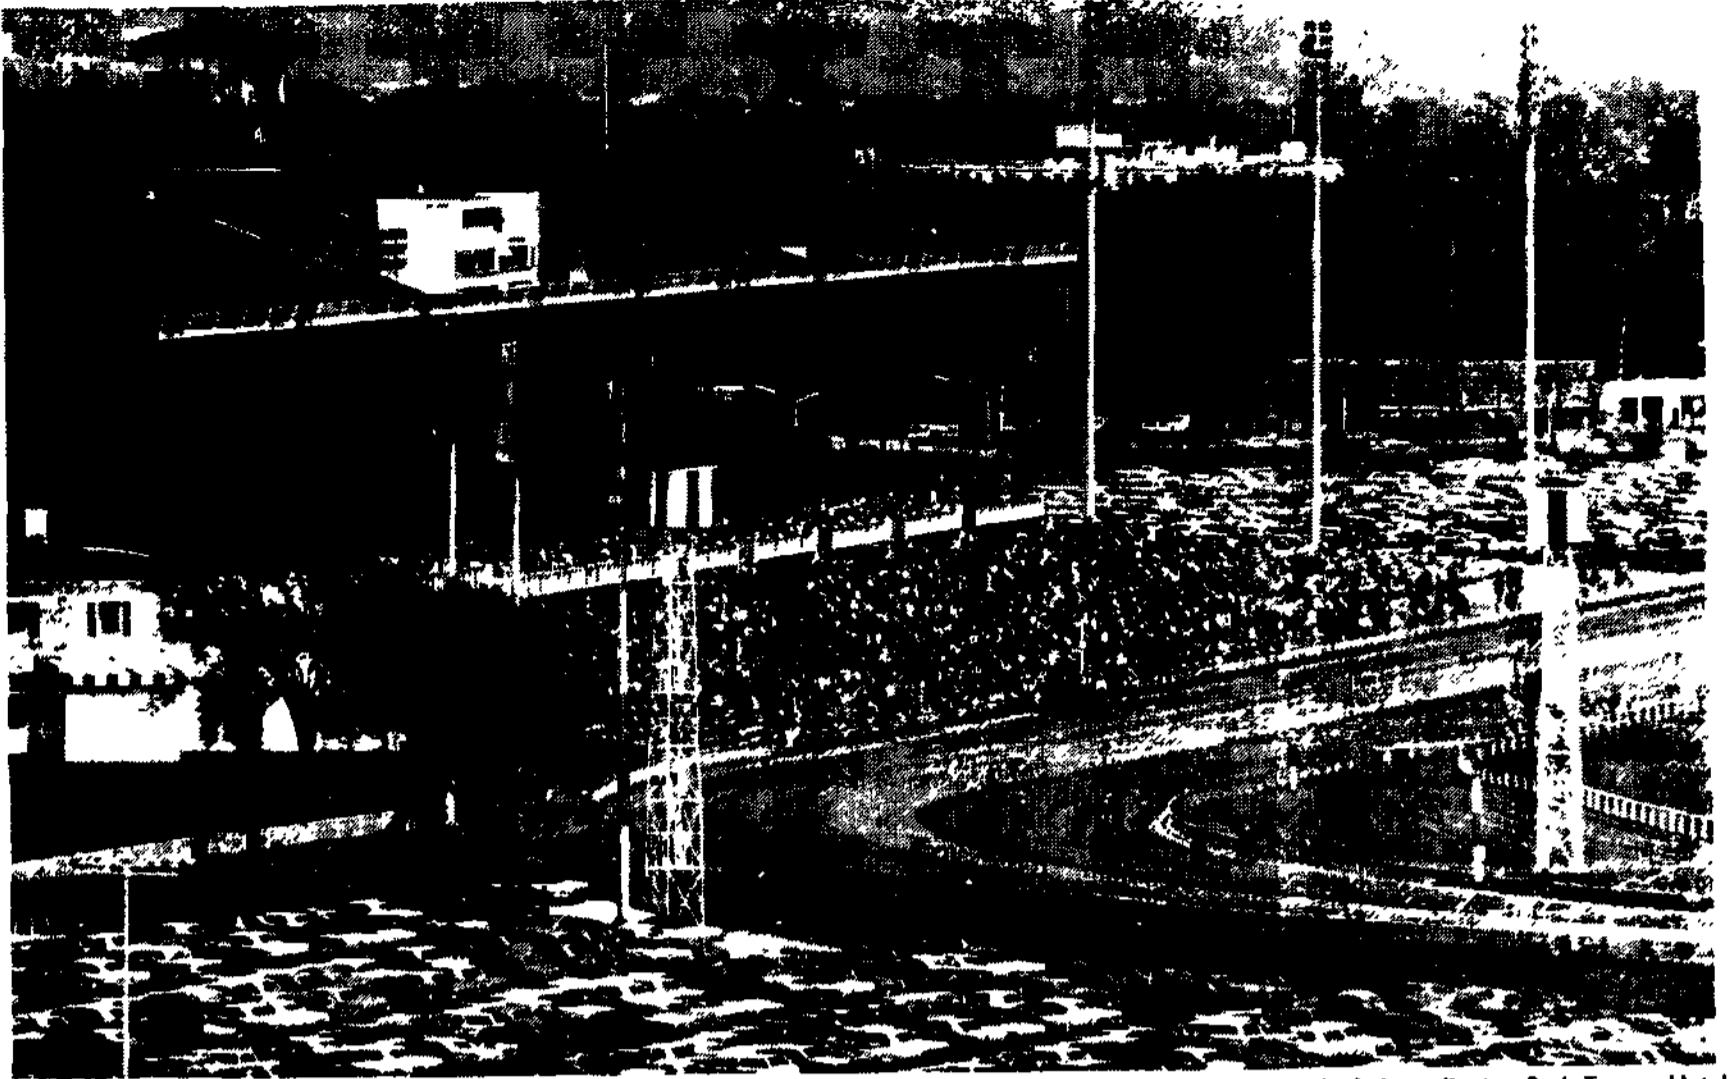

On Sunday the club will sponsor a dance at 8 p.m. in Nelsen's Restaurant, 6475 N. Mannheim Park Ridge. Music will be provided by the Wayfarers.

All single young adults, 21 and older, are invited to attend both events. For further information contact Shirley Keenan, 4302 N. Whipple, Chicago.

Local Scouts Honored

At a Court of Honor held April 30, eight Boy Scouts from Troop 55 sponsored by St. Raymond's Church in Mount Prospect received merit badges for their achievements in the scouting program.

Those scouts who received badges were Dennis Cyrier, Mike Kalasek, Steve Ksiasek, Mike Mokate, Mark Dopita, Tom Gracy, Bob Quinn and Mike Skelton.

THEY'RE OFF! Arlington Park Race Track's 103-day season began yesterday amid the noise and excitement that ushers in every racing season. The grandstand was about half full as the horses headed into the first turn in the first race. This year's season will continue through September and may provide, among other things, the area's first experience with early evening racing. One other "new experience" came yesterday with this photo taken from the roof of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel by Herald Photographer Bob Strawn.

He's Spiritually Yours

those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying... this is the way we did it in China... but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall. Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses late-night personality Griswell as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future successes, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Prospect Counselor Attends Conference

David Landemann of Arlington Heights, college counselor at Prospect High School, was among 37 participants in a recent conference on higher education at Northland College in Ashland, Wis.

The counselors studied and evaluated the "Northland Plan," the new academic program being introduced at the college next September.

The plan includes a cross-disciplinary approach in 11 subject areas for freshmen and sophomores, plus individualized programs for juniors and seniors with emphasis on off-campus study. A feature of the plan is the 14-15 week academic calendar with a short spring term devoted to a single course of study and overseas and off-campus study.

Yates To Evaluate

Congressman Sidney Yates, D-Illinois, will evaluate the first 100 days of President Richard Nixon's administration at Thursday's luncheon of the 13th District Democratic women.

Yates, currently serving his 10th term in Congress as representative of Chicago's north lake front area, has been on the House Appropriations Committee for 19 years and the House Committee for Small Businesses for 10 years.

The luncheon begins at noon at the Glenview Country House, 1560 Waukegan Road, Glenview. Reservations may be made by phoning 251-0474.

Auto Reported Stolen

Oliver Williams, a Chicago resident, reported his car was stolen from Striking Lanes parking lot in Mount Prospect Saturday.

Williams was driving a beige, four-door 1964 Buick. Police are investigating the case.

3 Killed in Elmhurst

ELMHURST — Three boys, two of them brothers, were killed yesterday afternoon when struck by a car in an unincorporated area south of Elmhurst.

The victims and a fourth boy were on their way home from school when struck at an intersection. They were identified as Sterling Minnoch, 9, his brother, Mark, 8, and Richard Cimino, 9.

Given Death Penalty

CLEVELAND — An all white jury Monday convicted Black Nationalist Fred "Ahmed" Evans of first degree murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair for the ambush slaying of three policemen and a civilian here last summer.

Evans, 37, was taken immediately to death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary where the execution is scheduled for Sept. 22. Ten persons, including the three policemen, were killed last July 23 in a gun battle which touched off a wave of looting and arson.

Voting Machines OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring county boards of supervisors to reapportion districts along "one man, one vote" lines by July, 1971.

The bill, sponsored by the County Problems Commission and approved 32-10, would let counties elect supervisors by equal districts or at large. The House also passed 42-3 a bill to require voting machines or electronic voting in Cook and DuPage counties.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, sedition or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $325.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the community of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3½-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. Dist. 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

HERY YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3¼ miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,235,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Roads for relocated Wilke Road has no been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out. Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

Discuss Bridges

The Mount Prospect Fire and Police Committee went under fire last night when they continued discussion of two proposed bridges to span Weller Creek at George and See Gwin streets.

The bridge, if approved by the village board, would be paid for with state MFT funds. The committee was fired upon by several residents of George Street who lived north of the creek and are opposed to a bridge which would make their neighborhood a thoroughfare for Golf - Hurst Subdivision south of the creek.

Golf-Hurst residents on the other hand are in favor of the proposed George Street Bridge because they are virtually landlocked with the exception of Golf Road. The idea to build a bridge at George Street was precipitated last fall when 121 Golf-Hurst residents petitioned the village for a relief street other than Golf. The proposed George Street bridge so far has been the only practical solution.

RESIDENTS NORTH of the creek suggested extending Sunset Road a block east to Golf-Hurst. So residents could cross the creek at Emerson Street. But this property, which is owned by Dist. 57, would have to be split to do this, and the district has said it has no intention of selling any portion of their land.

The village also decided as long as a bridge on the east side of town was being considered, a bridge on the west side to span the creek at See Gwin should also be studied. Village engineer Bill McManamon said estimated cost of a bridge at George Street would be $90,000 and $125,000 for See Gwin. The committee found that people north of the creek at both sites are opposed to the bridge idea and have asked the village to build them elsewhere.

McMANAMON SAID if approved, the bridges could be built in 180 days. Residents north of the creek said they liked the isolation of a dead-end street and still want to know why they are being picked on by the village.

The only thing decided so far is that the MFT funds are available from the state if the village decides to build the bridges.

Puts You in Spirit of Things

by JAMES VESELY

"Dear Mr. Psychic: I frequently feel very peculiar in the region of my stomach when meeting people, uncomfortable or ill at ease. Does this mean that I am psychic? If so, what do I do next?" D. H., Fresno, Calif.

"Dear D.H.: Yes, this is undoubtedly a psychic reaction you feel, as you associate it with meeting people, new contacts. You are sensitive to vibrations and unaccustomed to controlling your reaction. The solar plexus is only one of the centers for psychic reception, and your experience indicates that you are ready for instruction as to proper methods for further unfoldment. Hold your desire for spiritual progression in faith, and you will naturally gravitate toward your own type of philosophy." Signed, Mr. Psychic, The Psychic Newsletter.

Mr. Psychic is really Clifford Royse Jr., sensory perception and the keys to the kingdom of clairvoyance, mediumship and things occult.

In other words, step a little closer folks, I'm going to talk to your departed Aunt Bessy.

Or maybe that's unfair. Maybe the 100 people who paid $3 a head to see Mr. Psychic at Randolph last Saturday have the right idea. Maybe Royse and his followers are on to something really big and those of us who dismiss out of hand these soothsayers are in for the surprise of our lives.

Because if Royse is right, this country will suffer an economic recession in July followed by a sharp escalation of the Vietnam war.

AND IF ROYSE is right about other things, then the Russians are training their astronauts to communicate telepathically and the children being born now have the souls of those who died during the inundation of Atlantis.

Kind of grabs your mind, doesn't it? It should, because that is Mr. Psychic's business.

He and other seers are professional mind-grabbers. Royse believes that he has the powers of ESP. His followers believe it, and by the time you leave a two hour session with him, you begin to believe it yourself.

A session with Mr. Psychic is a journey to a different world, where every event is colored by the mysticism of ESP and clairvoyance.

Patrons of Mr. Psychic filed into the Randolph community room at 8 p.m. last Saturday past a large table with displays of books on every conceivable subject of the occult arts. Flying saucers to talking a man who claims the powers of extra trumpets, zodiac signs to psychic newsletters, they were all there.

Most of the people filed by the bookstand, however, in order to get front row seats.

After a discourse on the definitions of ESP and clairvoyance, Royse got the audience involved by asking everyone to exchange a personal belonging with someone they did not know.

Then we all closed our eyes, rubbed the object and waited for the vibrations to begin. A woman next to me had my watch. She was stroking it, trying to relax herself, trying to get some information about me out of an inanimate object.

AFTER A MOMENT, the mood of the audience changed. People were deep in concentration. A man dropped his head as if suddenly asleep. Later we all exchanged our knowledge about each other.

The woman with my watch accurately guessed the number of persons in my family but said I live in a seven-room tri-level and own a dog.

"That's not right," I said, "but I would like to own a dog."

"That must be it," she said.

Compared with the audience, Royse did much better. Without touching people or clasping their belongings, he spoke to nearly every individual telling them what their vibrations predicted.

He told several people that they should get their eyes checked, they will be wearing glasses soon. To others, he said, "Go to your doctor, attention now will prevent surgery later." To one young woman, he disclosed a young man in her life will soon be drafted and sent to Vietnam. "But he will return safely," Mr. Psychic said.

Clifford Royse Jr. says he is the sixth in a line of psychic personalities. He spent most of his life in Chicago and learned at an early age that he had the gift of amazing perception.

"As a child, my parents would ask me whether or not they should sign a contract or get in a business deal," he said.

IN LATER LIFE, ROYSE found it profitable to be able to psych out a gambling machine. Mr. Psychic said he won $8,000 in ten minutes in Las Vegas and would walk among slot machines, pointing out

A Request For Smoking Area Heard

Board President Arthur Aronson made it clear from the beginning that there would be no decision last night, but the Dist. 214 board of education did listen to a request for a smoking area at Elk Grove High School.

A survey of residents throughout the district may result from last night's meeting of the board of education. The board heard a lengthy presentation from Elk Grove High School Student Council Pres. James Brookman, and then opened up a question and answer period for both board members and the audience.

The board decided to wait until a report from Forest View High School is presented before taking action on the request from Elk Grove students. Forest View, in Arlington Heights, has established a smoking area on an experimental basis, and it was learned prior to the meeting last night that the report was not yet ready.

DURING THE COURSE of the question and answer period, residents challenged students to "direct your efforts at the real problem and not insult the board by talking about this particular issue."

The response from students was that they had become involved in such activities as Biafra Operation Thank You, and the California Grape Strike. The question of morality, health, and welfare of students was discussed but no real conclusions were made.

Brookman reported the results of student and faculty surveys and related incidents at the high school to the board. He pointed out that a survey of students showed only 170 felt enforcement of the current no smoking rules was adequate while 1,317 disagreed.

HE ALSO POINTED out that 1,020 students favored a smoking area while 394 were opposed. A survey of faculty showed that 14 teachers favored a smoking area and 61 were against; 23 teachers were offended by being required to patrol washrooms whereas 51 felt they were not. Comments from both students and faculty against, and for, a smoking area were read to the board.

Two Take Oaths

Michael Buckley and William Selepe elected last April to serve six-year terms as commissioners on the Mount Prospect Park Board took their oaths of office last night.

Buckley and Selepe will replace commissioners Edward Boddy and Richard Tank. Boddy, one of the founders of the park district, retired from office after having served 14 years on the park board. Tank was defeated in his bid for reelection on April 1.

Robert Jackson was reelected to serve a second term as chairman of the board. Park Commissioners Richard Ward and Roland Becker were elected to vice president and secretary respectively for the 1969-70 season.

Albert Jackson was reappointed to serve as the park district treasurer, Commissioner Buckley was named assistant treasurer, and William Ward, attorney.

WARD INFORMED the board that the park district's $2.4 million referendum was ruled valid by the court.

The petitioners who filed the case against the park district contesting passage of the referendum did not file a petition for a rehearing or a new trial by May 9 which was the deadline for the case.

With the definite passage of the referendum the park board signed the contract with Kessler, Merc, Bronkhorst and Lockner, Inc., architectural and engineering firm in Chicago to begin work on the park district comprehensive development and improvement plan.

SOMEWHERE IN THIS young lady's heart, Clifford Royse offered pre-future, according to Mr. Psychic, is a dictions of love, heartache and success 150-pound man who will steal her to nearly 100 area residents Saturday.

Report Bogus Checks

Police have reported a rash of allegedly bogus checks, the latest being passed at the Open Pantry Food Mart, 400 W. Central Road Mount Prospect.

A spokesman for the store said the man, described as 35 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and wearing old clothes, presented a check from DuPage Hangers Inc. for $98.80 on May 7.

Over the weekend the check came back to the food mart from the State Bank of Elmhurst, on which it was drawn, because the account was closed.

A POLICE CHECK disclosed that DuPage Hangers Inc., located in Hillside, had been robbed of 300 blank checks April 18. Checks in the same amount have been cashed at Polk Bros. in Arlington Heights and the Village Market in Mount Prospect.

Police said in all cases the check was made out in the same manner. A check protector was used to write the amount and it was hand written a second time. Names of the payer are fictitious and the name of the payee in each case was Richard Hobson of Forest Park, also a fictitious name, police said.

Hillside police have a photo of the man cashing one of the checks, but have not discovered his identity yet.

Vacancy On List Only?

While this time of year may bring thoughts of "Who's on first," Dist. 57 personnel may be wondering, "Who's off next?"

On Thursday a Herald reporter spotted a vacancy list for positions within the district on the bulletin board at one of the schools.

The vacancy list included a position for principal. No vacancy has been discussed in public at school board meetings although the board members are allowed executive sessions on matters of personnel, providing changes are then affirmed by public action.

Thursday afternoon Supt. Eric Sahlberg told the Herald reporter, "You couldn't have seen such a list."

When assured that the list did exist, Sahlberg said he would have it removed at once. The Herald learned that the list had been posted earlier in the week at all district schools. It was removed on administrative order on Thursday.

"THERE IS an error in the list," principals were told. The error was not specified.

Questioned concerning a vacancy among the eight principals in Dist. 57, Sahlberg said there is none. He told another Herald reporter that 28 vacancies in principal staff is "normal" for this time of year in Cook County school districts the size of Dist. 57.

The Herald has learned that one district principal who is on tenure has applied for an overseas position. If this new job is confirmed within a short time he will resign. If confirmation is delayed, there will be no resignation.

A second principal, one who is not on tenure, is reportedly considering a resignation. The district has three principals who are not on tenure. Principals who have been with the district three or more years hold tenure relating only to teaching positions, not administrative jobs.

The school board met in a lengthy personnel session on Saturday following their special board meeting. Reporters were excluded from the session, which is within the legal right of public boards.

Road Rally Sunday

A 124-mile safe-driving road rally will be held at Randhurst this Sunday at 1 p.m.

The rally, in which 21 driving teams from the Northwest suburbs will compete, is being sponsored by Northwest Suburban Council of Explorer Scouts.

The rally is not a race, but is designed to test driving skills and the ability of each team to follow an unrehearsed route. At no time during the rally will cars exceed 50 miles an hour.

Each team will be comprised of a driver, a navigator-observer and an adult.

THE WINNING TEAM will be awarded rally jackets and a trophy at the Mount Prospect Country Club, where a dinner will be served Sunday night.

Each of the five top teams will receive engraved dashboard plaques.

The top 38 teams in the nation will compete in a rally at Dearborn, Mich. in August.

Each member of the winning team will receive a $1,300 scholarship, use of a Lincoln-Mercury car for a year, and act as an official representative for the Lincoln-Mercury Division and the Explorers, Boy Scouts of America, in national tours for a year.

Real Estate Transfers

Ten property sales in Des Plaines and Mount Prospect tied for top activity spots in the latest monthly Elk Grove Township real estate transfer report from County Recorder Stanley R. Olsen.

The report contained four sales in Arlington Heights, and 39 in Elk Grove Village of the township.

On record the following property transfers for the township:

207 W. Victoria, Arl. Hts., Wm. J. Johnson to Theodore E. Olson; 1230 S. Prairie Arl. Hts., Vic. Marzulli to Mario Marella; 94 W. Victoria Lane, Arl. Hts., Wm. J. Hoeter to Evan B. Lopatka; 111 W. Cedar, Arl. Hts., Chas. M. Higgins Jr. to Wm. R. Milligan; 721 Easy St., Des Plaines, Wilbur D. Henry to Leroy J. Swier; 923 Spruance Pl., Des Plaines, Donald A. Niederst to Peter A. Bertocini; 2100 Plainfield Dr., Des Plaines, Lawrence Nielsen to John T. Saletta.

129 Michael Ct., Des Plaines, John E. Labinski to Hugh H. McMillan; 573 Jill Ct., Des Plaines, Julius Cohen to John J. Barron; 381 Dara James Rd., Des Plaines, Wm. Engelbert to Wm. Bedwell to Kathleen V. Bedwell; 643 Debra Dr., Des Plaines, Fred A. Roberts to Jos. W. Gayton Jr.

Two Tarragon Socials Scheduled This Week

The Tarragon Young Adults Club of Mount Prospect will hold a Friday-doubles bowling party at 7:30 p.m. on Friday at the Montclair bowling alley, 3089 N. Harlem, Chicago.

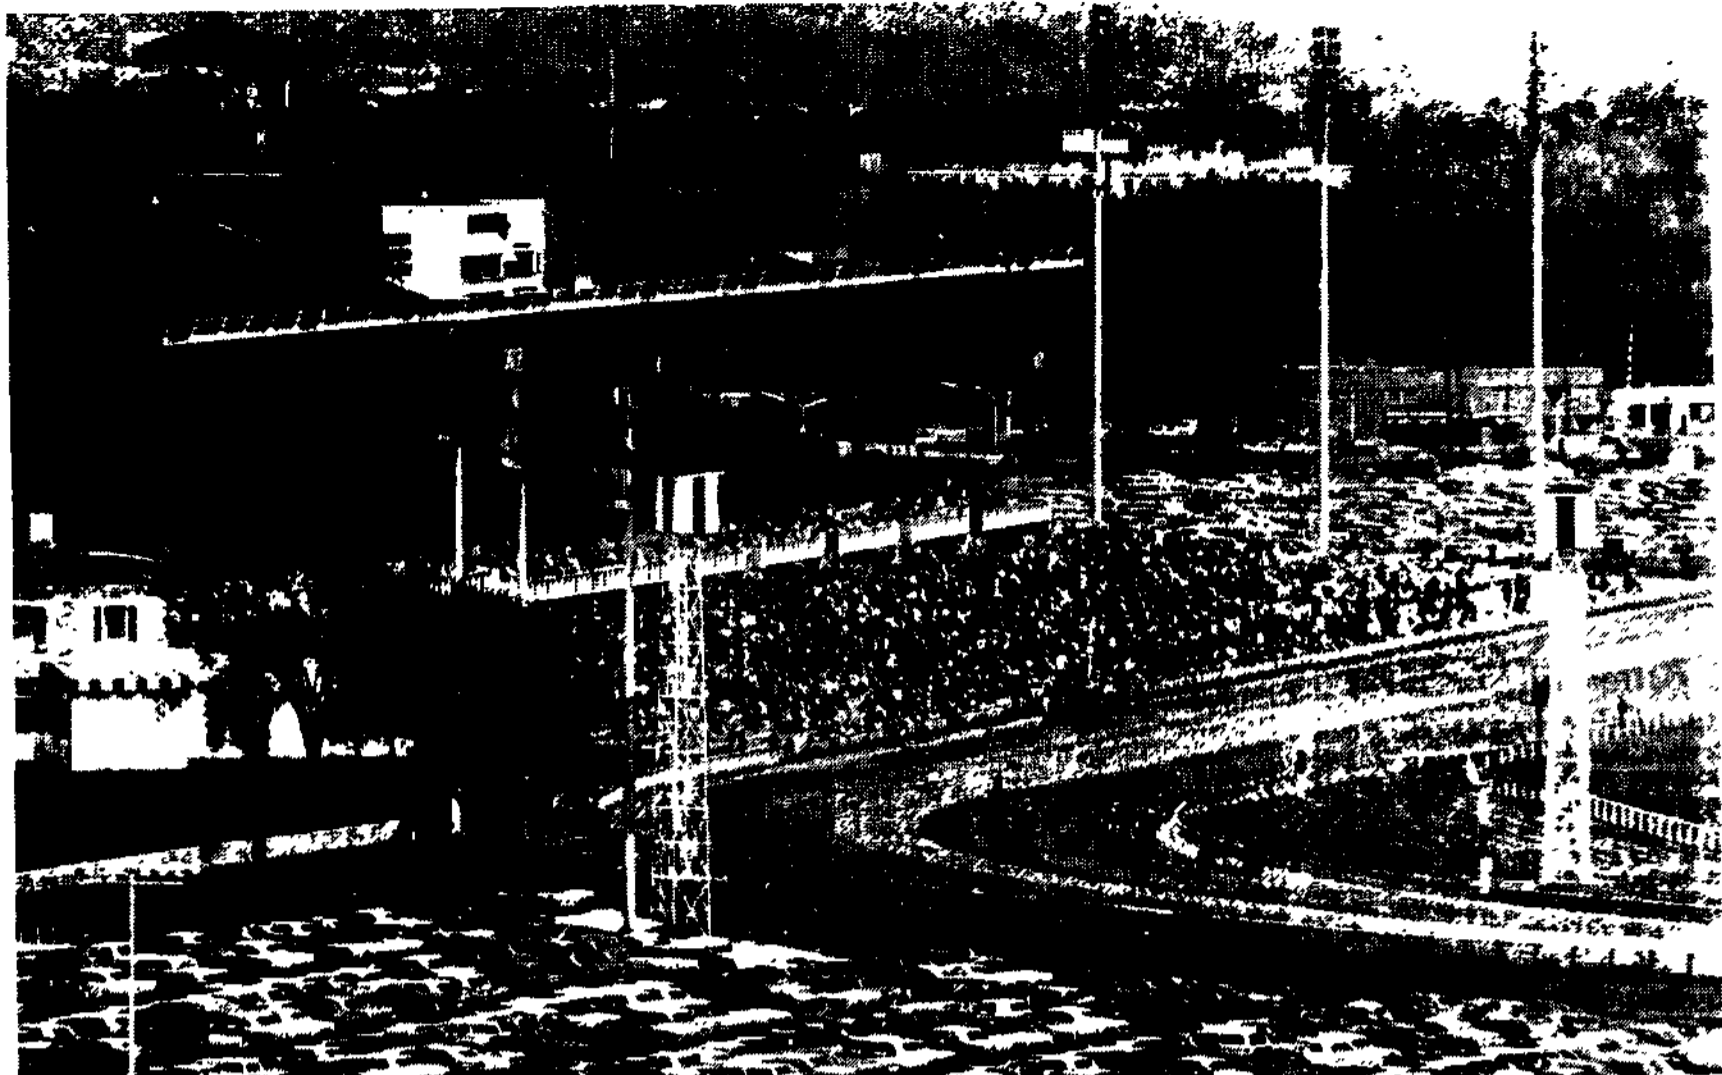

On Sunday the club will sponsor a dance at 8 p.m. in Nielsen's Restaurant, 6475 N. Mannheim, Park Ridge. Music will be provided by the Waylifers.

All single young adults, 21 and older, are invited to attend both events. For further information contact Shirley Keenan, 4502 N. Whipple, Chicago.

Local Scouts Honored

At a Court of Honor held April 30, eight Boy Scouts from Troop 55 sponsored by St. Raymond's Church in Mount Prospect received merit badges for their achievements in the scouting program.

Those scouts who received badges were Dennis Cyrier, Mike Kiassek, Steve Kiassek, Mike Mokate, Mark Dopita, Tom Grady, Bob Quinn and Mike Skelton.

THEY'RE OFF! Arlington Park Race Track's 103-day season began yesterday amid the noise and excitement that ushers in every racing season. The grandstand was about half full as the horses headed into the first turn in the first race. This year's season will continue through September and may provide, among other things, the area's first experience with early evening racing. One other "new experience" came yesterday with this photo taken from the roof of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel by Herald Photographer Bob Strawn.

those machines on the verge of paying.

Royse also claims that his 9-year-old son had displayed evidence of possessing a soul which inhabited a body living in ancient China.

"My son would allude to things by saying, 'this is the way we did it in China...' but we didn't know what he meant."

Judging from the audience at Randhurst, Royse must have a thriving clientele. One woman rose to explain that her family is sure they are sharing their house with another "entity" which raps on the door and is felt in the room.

Another woman disclosed that on the night of a relative's death, a small circle of light appeared in a room of the house and wandered over the wall, Royse explained that this was probably the presence of a previously departed relative come to escort the latest relative away.

Despite the astounding nature of his remarks, Royse is dead serious about his activities. He dismisses lateness personally as merely an "entertainer," and says that acceptance of "teachers" such as himself is growing.

"YEARS AGO, all we would see in the audience would be the old, lonely people, seeking someone to talk to. Now, our audiences are filled with young people, anxious to learn about ESP and the mysteries of the mind."

Royse makes his headquarters at the Oak Park Arms Hotel. He gives personal sessions at $25 a reading. His wife gives readings at bargain rates and people can also have telephone conversations or exchange letters with the clairvoyant at lesser rates.

At the end of Saturday's session, when all the people were gone and his aides were quietly stacking the books which describe the voices of the unknown, Royse was still at work.

Mr. Psychic was last seen deep in conversation with a Randhurst security guard, telling him of future at oases, of coming events, of the world of mysticism and gentle madness and the driving need to find out what will be.

Prospect Counselor Attends Conference

David Lindemann of Arlington Heights, college counselor at Prospect High School, was among 37 participants in a recent conference on higher education at Northland College in Ashland, Wis.

The counselors studied and evaluated the "Northland Plan," the new academic program being introduced at the college next September.

The plan includes a cross-disciplinary approach in 11 subject areas for freshmen and sophomores, plus individualized programs for juniors and seniors with emphasis on off-campus study. A feature of the plan is the 14-14-5 week academic calendar with a short spring term devoted to a single course of study and overseas and off-campus study.

Moorish pirates operating from the coast of North Africa were at their most powerful during the 17th century.

Yates To Evaluate

Congressman Sidney Yates, D-Illinois, will evaluate the first 100 days of President Richard Nixon's administration at Thursday's luncheon of the 13th District Democratic women.

Yates, currently serving his 10th term in Congress as representative of Chicago's north lake front area, has been on the House Appropriations Committee for 19 years and the House Committee for Small Businesses for 10 years.

The luncheon begins at noon at the Glenview Country House, 1660 Waukegan Road, Glenview. Reservations may be made by phoning 251-0474.

Auto Reported Stolen

Oliver Williams, a Chicago resident, reported his car was stolen from Striking Lanes parking lot in Mount Prospect Saturday.

Williams was driving a beige, four-door 1964 Buick. Police are investigating the case.

3 Killed in Elmhurst

ELMHURST — Three boys, two of them brothers, were killed yesterday afternoon when struck by a car in an unincorporated area south of Elmhurst.

The victims and a fourth boy were on their way home from school when struck at an intersection. They were identified as Sterling Minnoch, 9, his brother, Mark, 8, and Richard Cimino, 9.

Given Death Penalty

CLEVELAND — An all white jury Monday convicted Black Nationalist Fred "Ahmed" Evans of first degree murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair for the ambush slaying of three policemen and a civilian here last summer.

Evans, 37, was taken immediately to death row at the Ohio State Penitentiary where the execution is scheduled for Sept. 22. Ten persons, including the three policemen, were killed last July 23 in a gun battle which touched off a wave of looting and arson.

Voting Machines OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the House a bill requiring county boards of supervisors to reapportion districts along "one man, one vote" lines by July, 1971.

The bill, sponsored by the County Problems Commission and approved 32-10, would let counties elect supervisors by equal districts or at large. The House also passed, 42-3, a bill to require voting machines or electronic voting in Cook and DuPage counties.

Truck Fire Kills 5

FLINT, Mich. — A gasoline truck flipped over and burst into flames at a major Flint intersection yesterday, incinerating nearby vehicles and damaging buildings. At least five persons were reported dead.

An unknown number of persons were injured. Witnesses said they saw individuals running from cars with their clothes on fire. The explosion and fire destroyed the semi-trailer truck, two cars, a cement truck, a gasoline station, and a camper van parked at the station.

Ask Clabaugh Repeal

SPRINGFIELD — A repeal of the Clabaugh Act, which prohibits the use of buildings owned or operated by the University of Illinois by "subversive, seditious or un-American" groups, was called for yesterday by the House Executive Committee by a 11-0 vote. The Supreme Court recently ruled such laws were unconstitutional.

And in Champaign yesterday, the university refused to allow Students for a Democratic Society to hold a national convention on its campus, citing a financial reason — the necessity of hiring extra police and other personnel for such a convention.

War Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has announced that he will report to the nation tomorrow on prospects of ending the Vietnam war.

White House officials said the President will not use the speech to announce a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. The President conferred for the first time Monday with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, military chief in Vietnam.

Teachers End Strike

KANKAKEE — The striking Kankakee Teachers Union voted yesterday to accept a new contract with a minimum salary of $7,000 if state aid advances to $500 per pupil and to $7,200 if aid increases to $525.

Algonquin or Higgins?

by MARTHA MOSER

The widening of Algonquin Road, from Busse Road to Route 53, may be started this year while the scheduled widening of Higgins Road may not be.

Substitution of Algonquin Road improvements for those on Higgins Road in the Illinois Division of Highways' 1969 budget could hinge on right-of-way acquisition.

George March, Dist. 10 engineer, Division of Highways, said Monday only four parcels of right-of-way remain to be purchased for Algonquin Road, while 70 parcels must be purchased along Higgins.

March spoke at a public hearing in Arlington Heights Village Hall. Twelve local officials attended the 40-minute session to learn proposed improvements to Algonquin. There were no objections to the presentation on improvements.

THE DISTRICT will go ahead with plans to widen Higgins Road if all right-of-way can be acquired by this fall, March told a Herald reporter. Failing this, the $4-million Algonquin Road project will be substituted to get some northwest suburban road improvements in the 1969 budget, he said.

Widening Algonquin Road to four lanes as proposed will primarily benefit the communities of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. The widening of Higgins Road would benefit Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, principally.

According to the 1969 highway budget, $4.56 million has been allotted to widen Higgins Road to four lanes from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road. The 3½-mile stretch of Algonquin Road was allotted $20,000 for right-of-way acquisition between Route 53 and Elmhurst Road. District 10 officials recognized both projects are urgently needed in the fast-growing northwest suburbs.

According to construction plans, Algonquin Road will be four lanes with a 16-foot median strip and channelized intersections at Arlington Heights, Golf and relocated Wilke Roads.

HERB YAMANAKA, Dist. 10 design engineer, said construction will begin at Dempster Street and go 3½ miles to Route 53. Dempster Street will be improved in conjunction with Busse Road, a late summer project of the Cook County Highway Department, the engineer pointed out.

After the meeting Yamanaka said Busse Road will be widened following the state's completion of widening Elmhurst Road through south Mount Prospect.

It is hoped Golf Road, from Elmhurst Road to Meacham Road, will be under contract some time this year, the design engineer continued.

Widening of Golf Road has been allotted $5,835,000 in the 1969 State highway budget. March predicted this will be under way by the middle of June.

Route for relocated Wilke Road has not been confirmed by the Cook County Highway Department, Yamanaka brought out.

Later, officials pointed out Wilke Road may go farther east than had earlier been planned.

Ask Denial Of Funeral Home Zoning

A collection of homeowners from eastern Arlington Heights appeared before the zoning board of appeals last night to protest a petition by Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home.

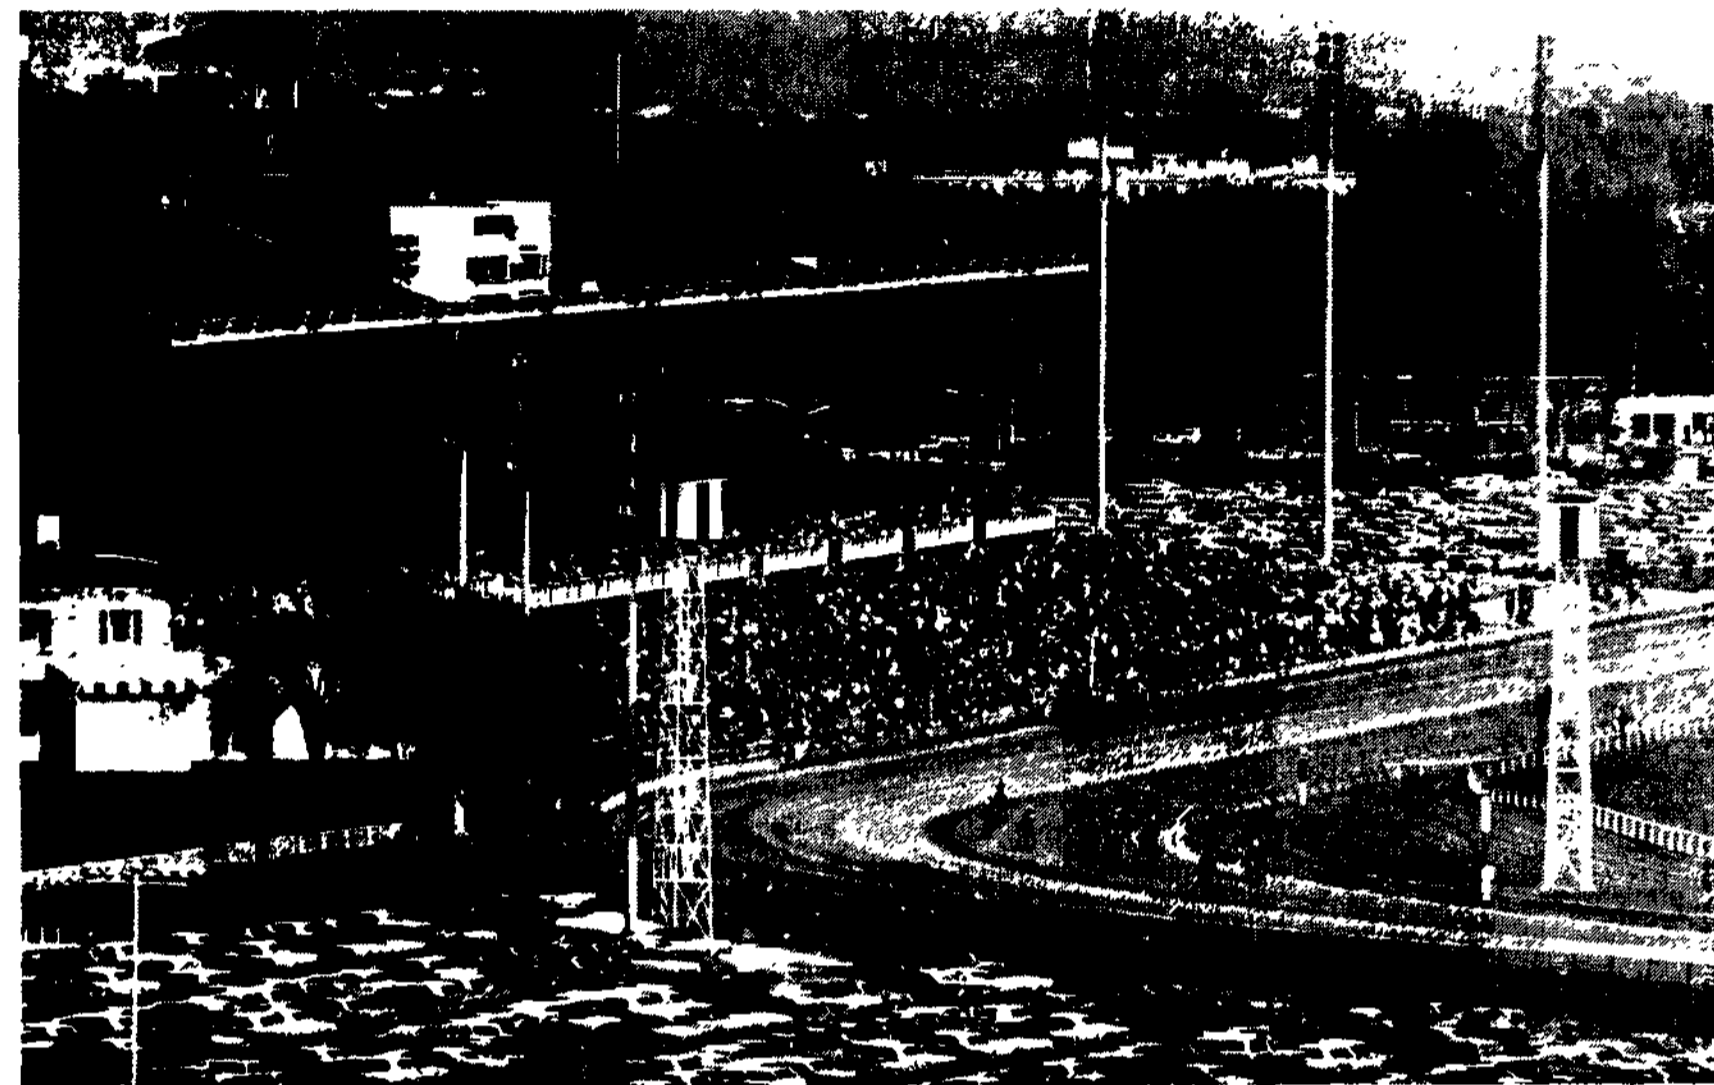

Board members decided to recommend that the village board deny the request made by the funeral home located at 2000 E. Northwest Highway.

The petition for rezoning asked that the present residentially zoned lot at Prindle and Gregory, located across from the funeral home, be used to provide 14 additional parking spaces for visitors to the home.

ATTY. STEPHEN JURCO told the board that the additional parking would provide relief to neighbors in the area. Presently when Lauterburg and Oehler's parking lot is filled, customers park on the adjacent street.

Robert Schaer, partner in the funeral home, testified that the home has attempted to acquire other space for parking in the vicinity but has been unable to do so. A study done by the home showed 1,781 cars had entered the lot during the last 29 days.

The site of the lot is approximately 55 by 132 feet. Plans called for an entrance on S. Prindle and an exit on E. Gregory. Schaer said he would do anything the neighbors wanted in the way of screening the parked cars.

THEY'RE OFF! Arlington Park Race Track's 103-day season began yesterday amid the noise and excitement that ushers in every racing season. The grandstand was about half full as the horses headed into the first turn in the first race. This year's season will continue through September and may provide, among other things, the area's first experience with early evening racing. One other "new experience" came yesterday with this photo taken from the roof of the Arlington Park Towers Hotel by Herald Photographer Bob Strawn.

Predicts Research at Library

by JOAN KLUSMANN

Harold Ard, executive librarian of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, sees the building becoming a research facility in the future.

"With the growth of Harper Junior College, I think there will be a demand for materials to supplement the college library and those of other schools."

Appointed to the post in February, Ard took command in the midst of trustee planning for a spring referendum.

The board will seek voter approval Saturday of a dual referendum which will raise the maximum tax rate for general operating expenses from 12 cents to 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation and authorize the sale of $500,000 in bonds for book purchases.

A member of Phi Beta Mu, international library science honor society, the 28-year-old father of one is a graduate of Illinois State University. He received his master's degree from Rosary College and has served as auditing committee chairman of the Illinois Library Association.

If funds permit, Ard would like to have a "business collection" at the library containing books on business management, bookkeeping systems and other subjects useful to individuals in this field.

"There are small industries around Arlington Heights which cannot afford well-developed libraries and they deserve something for their tax dollar as well as the general public."

ALSO SCHEDULED FOR future purchase are reference works, social studies and history books and many new volumes for the Children's Department.

Interested in technical processing, which includes ordering books for other libraries and making them ready for distribution to patrons, Ard directed an April workshop on the subject sponsored by the Illinois State Library.

He set up a profit-making processing department while head of the Barrington library and this month began a similar center in Arlington Heights on a three-month experimental basis.

He estimates that working at full capacity, the local library can process its own materials and those of five "strong" libraries.

Other libraries profit from the procedure as the center can order in quantity and receive larger discounts. Many libraries also have insufficient space or staff to adequately process the books. Proceeds of the new venture are slated for book purchases.

While in Barrington Ard also built up an expensive record collection. He plans to add Shakespearian albums and other "talking" records to the recently-established Arlington Heights collection of classical and popular recordings.

ANOTHER GOAL OF the new librarian is enlargement of the microfilm department. He says many patrons request back copies of The New York Times and an ideal collection might include similar editions of The Chicago Tribune for comparison purposes. He adds that "many doctoral dissertations are available only on microfilm."

While envisioning growth in all departments, Ard emphasizes that patron-staff relationships should maintain a friendly and personal tone.

Head of a staff of 32, Ard's primary aim is to see the library on a "two-book-per-capita" basis. Last year's figures show Arlington Heights ranking 26th in a comparison of 27 libraries in the North Suburban Library System. Trustees hope to reach the two-book standard within a five-year period if Saturday's vote is successful.

When not in the world of books, Ard enjoys collecting stamps and antiques, gardening and sports.

Hear Smoking Area Request

Board President Arthur Aronson made it clear from the beginning that there would be no decision last night, but the Dist. 214 board of education did listen to a request for a smoking area at Elk Grove High School.

A survey of residents throughout the district may result from last night's meeting of the board of education. The board heard a lengthy presentation from Elk Grove High School Student Council Pres. James Brookman, and then opened up a question and answer period for both board members and the audience.

The board decided to wait until a report from Forest View High School is presented before taking action on the request from Elk Grove students. Forest View, in Arlington Heights, has established a smoking area on an experimental basis, and it was learned prior to the meeting last night that the report was not yet ready.

DURING THE COURSE of the question and answer period, residents challenged students to "direct your efforts at the real problem and not insult the board by talking about this particular issue."

The response from students was that they had become involved in such activities as Biafra Operation Thank You, and the California Grape Strike. The question of morality, health, and welfare of students was discussed but no real conclusions were made.

Brookman reported the results of student and faculty surveys and related incidents at the high school to the board. He pointed out that a survey of students showed only 170 felt enforcement of the current no smoking rules was adequate while 1,317 disagreed.

HE ALSO POINTED out that 1,020 students favored a smoking area while 394 were opposed. A survey of faculty showed that 14 teachers favored a smoking area and 81 were against; 33 teachers were offended by being required to patrol washrooms whereas 51 felt they were not. Comments from both students and faculty against, and for, a smoking area were read to the board.

Members of Seminarians Organized for Racial Justice who prompted John Cardinal Cody to leave St. Edna's Catholic Church before dedication ceremonies Sunday, previously canceled a May 1 speech by Father Edward M. Egan, co-chancellor of the Chicago Archdiocese for Human Relations and Ecumenism.

The group picketed the chancery office Friday and said they would follow Cardinal Cody until he spoke with them concerning "Project Equality," a program encouraging churches to purchase goods and services from firms which seek to hire more black and Latin American employees.

When Cardinal Cody, scheduled to dedicate St. Edna's at 4 p.m., was dressing for the ceremony, he spotted members of the Seminarian group and decided not to take part in the dedication.

Fr. Egan issued a statement late yesterday which said the protestors "rendered impossible the dedication of the church by

Futurities

The Park Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Pioneer Park, 580 S. Fernandez Ave.

The legal committee of the village board and the CATS Study Committee of the Plan Commission will hold 7:30 p.m. meetings at the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road.

Youth Commission Nets 60

The Arlington Heights Youth Commission, one of five groups that crowded into the Municipal Building last night, learned that Youth Opportunities Unlimited's plunge into four area high schools has netted about 60 interested students.

The group, started by the Youth Commission, is designed to permit high school students to develop their own recreational program.

JAMES EWART, a commission member who spoke at some of the high schools, stressed that personal contact and more effective communications will be necessary to increase the reach of the group.

Despite the limited turnout, the members of the Youth Commission stressed that they will work to improve their reach into area high schools, including Arlington, St. Viator, Hersey, and Prospect.

What Price Books?

Arlington Heights Library Trustees were looking for a legal precedent for their plans to transfer $150,000 from the library's building fund to use it to purchase books.

Library Atty. Marlin Smith researched the matter, but told board members at their meeting Friday night that he was unable to find any Illinois cases to support their planned transfer.

The board recently found that it had excess funds from the 1966 referendum which approved construction of the new building. The trustees hoped to use the money to buy books for the sparsely-filled library shelves.

They also used the $150,000 in figuring the amount of money to ask for in the book-bond referendum this Saturday. The board is asking voter approval to issue $500,000 in bonds to purchase books.

THE TOTAL $650,000 planned by board members to be used for book purchase would help bring Arlington Heights' library up to the minimum standard recommended by the American Library Association. That standard is two books per resident.

Library shelves currently hold 68,000 volumes or about 11 books per person. That ratio puts Arlington Heights almost on the bottom of the list of books per capita among members of the North Suburban Library System. Saving Arlington Heights from last place is the Fox Lake library, which contains an average of one book per person.

Board members decided to wait until after Saturday's referendum to approve using the funds for purchase of books. The hesitation to use the funds arose because laws for spending money from voter-approved bonds are very specific.

THE MONEY can only be used for the purposes stated when the bonds were issued and sold.

A corporate ruling body cannot divert bond proceeds from one purpose to another, Smith has told the board. However, to put the library's situation in focus, he cited the 1966 ordinance which approved the selling of $1,425,000 in bonds for site construction and purchasing of necessary equipment for a new library.

The problem facing the board members was to decide whether books are considered necessary equipment for a library. They turned to their attorney to find the answer but he could find no court cases which specifically related to the issue.

One board member at Friday night's meeting suggested that perhaps there have been no cases concerning whether books are "necessary equipment" for a library because the issue has never been questioned. He said perhaps people just assumed books as part of the necessary equipment and thus no one had ever challenged it.

The board plans to wait to see if the referendum asking for the right to issue bonds and the option to raise the library tax rate from 12 to 20 cents before it approves using the excess funds for books. The tax-rate increase would not be taken advantage of immediately, according to the board's plans. The rate would be increased only gradually over a period of years, not exceeding a 4 cent raise until 1974.

IF THE BOARD had found it could not use the $150,000 to purchase books, it might have taken longer to implement the four-year plan to reach the two books per resident goal. The other alternative would be for the board to use a higher tax rate sooner than they planned.

However, if the referendum is approved, the board will probably authorize the use of the excess funds. This way, residents could see a much quicker result to their vote for more books.

Money from the bonds would be available only after bonds were sold. Bonds cannot be issued until lengthy legal procedures are worked out and the bonds are put on the market. The present market for bonds is not very good and it may take some time to sell them. Immediately after their sale, then money would be available to purchase books.

Library trustees said that if the voters approve the referendum, it would indicate informal voter approval of the use of the $150,000 for books. Since voters have been told the money has been used in planning the referendum then their yes vote would indicate their approval of the action.

Officer Election

Arlington Heights Park Board members will elect new officers and appoint new committee members at their regular meeting at 7:30 tonight in Pioneer Park, 300 S. Fernandez Ave.

LeRoy Bressler and Thomas McShane will make their debuts at the meeting, serving for the first time as park board members. They were winners in the April 1 election.

Other items on the agenda include a discussion of the district's budget for the fiscal year which began May 1 and formal approval of changes in contracts concerning park development.

A locker salesman will present a demonstration on his company's lockers. The board is considering two companies' products for installation in the planned new park-pool sites. The sites include Frontier, Camelot, Heritage and Olympic Pool parks.

Board members have already heard a presentation by another representative and will decide later which company's lockers will be used in the new parks.

ST. EDNA'S CATHOLIC Church dedication ceremonies Sunday brought picketers as well as church officials to Arlington Heights. John Cardinal Cody, who planned to officiate at the 4 p.m. dedication, did not take part in the ceremony for fear the protesters would disrupt the program. The Chicago

Archdiocese has already told the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race that it would support the program, if adopted.

Property Dispute Renewed Signals Not Up

by TOM WELLMAN

Gust Stavros, developer of the proposed 238-acre Three Lakes development, the Arlington Heights Park District; School Dist. 21, and the Village of Arlington Heights find themselves in a property dispute — for the second time.

The dispute concerns whether Stavros, who is hoping to develop his project on the northern tip of Arlington Heights, is going to donate land for a school and park site, or whether he will contribute money in lieu of land to Arlington Heights.

Ten months ago, it appeared that the problem had been resolved. On July 1, 1966, the Arlington Heights Village Board unanimously passed an ordinance approving, among other items, a $50,000 donation "in lieu of land" for the Stavros property.

APPROVAL OF that ordinance followed negotiations between Stavros, his attorney William Moore, and members of the village administration. One village official termed them "hard negotiations."

Approval of the money in lieu of land was agreed upon on Monday, June 10, 1966, by the legal committee. The ordinance was approved on July 1 by a 5-0 vote.

However, the struggle to determine whether money or land should be dedicated for public use began almost two years ago, in June, 1967.

Stavros told the Plan Commission in 1967 that he would not prefer a land dedication, as it would take too much land out of a "high use" category.

In September, school officials in Dist. 21, which serves Buffalo Grove, watched Stavros' plans. Supt. Kenneth Gill remarked that Stavros had not set aside a school site, despite the need created by a single-family boom in the area.

In November, the village purchased a 56-acre landfill site south of the property from the Stavros brothers, Gust and Jim. The property, when filled in within 20 years, will be used as a recreation area.

THEN, IN JANUARY, 1968, officials of Dist. 21 attended a legal committee hearing, and asked for a site. They said they anticipated about 300 children from the Stavros development. Money in lieu of land would give the village about $75,000 it was reported.

And the legal committee agreed with the request for land. Moore grumbled and said he'd meet with his client to discuss the "ultimatum."

In March, Stavros was told that it was either a land dedication or $300,000 in lieu of land. Stavros muttered, "They can have the 9.3 acres on the south side of the road if somebody is going to make up the difference."

In March, Stavros threatened to disannex from Arlington Heights. He complained about the $300,000 for land dedication, or a nine-acre school site. He charged that too many restrictions were placed on the use of the property.

However, after more talking, money in lieu of land was approved by ordinance on July 1. Total cost to Stavros: $50,000, which would be paid as the project was developed.

SO, WITH AN ordinance on the books approving the donation to the village, the plan commission voted last week to approve a preliminary subdivision plat for the property, but, as Cmr. James Ryan put it in a motion, "We call specific attention to the board that we don't feel the needs of the park district and Dist. 21 are met by the acceptance of money in lieu of land."

PTA Sponsors Coffee

The Ridge School PTA will sponsor a "thank you coffee" at 1:30 p.m. today for all room mothers and their assistants.

James Hall, director of publications for School Dist. 25, and Lewis Crane, audiovisual consultant, will demonstrate some of the equipment presently used in classrooms.

The coffee will be held in the multi-purpose room of the school, 800 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights.

Interested persons are invited to the program.

In case you have not noticed, installation of temporary traffic lights for the Rand, Windsor and Thomas intersection near John Hersey High School, Arlington Heights, has not begun.

State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, noticed Friday that construction had not started. He called state highway officials and was told the installation of the temporary lights will begin this week.

"I told the state that if I got home this Friday and those lights were not started, they would hear from me again," Schlickman told the Herald yesterday.

The state promised the installation of temporary lights after petitions collected by students at Hersey were taken to Gov. Richard Ogilvie's office by Schlickman.

Permanent lights are due for the intersection by Sept. 1.

Vocational Funding OK

Funding of a Dist. 57 vocational program by Elk Grove Township will apparently be continued, according to Bernard F. Lee, township auditor.

Lee said reports that the highly acclaimed vocational program was to be cancelled were "premature." He also gave a breakdown of the steps involved in the township's allocation of the $10,000 budgeted for youth activities.

Lee said the $10,000 budget was established for the Youth Commission at the annual meeting.

School Dist. 57 has requested continued participation by the township in the practical arts program.

This request has been forwarded to the Youth Commission with a recommendation for continued participation by the township in this project.

THE YOUTH Commission will meet with Dist. 57 to evolve a continuation of the program and an appropriate amount of funding.

Reports that the Township Youth Commission would grant its full $10,000 allocation to the Elk Grove Park District Teen Center are not true, according to Lee.

The auditor said the township cannot, by law, contribute funds for capital expenditures. Lee added that a request by the Elk Grove Park District for aid in operating its programs was received and that the board of auditors has agreed to set aside $3,500 for assistance to the project, providing the park district is able to erect and staff the facility.

LEE SAID "there is little doubt" that Dist. 57 will receive funds to continue the vocational training program and that the funds will be offered in ample time for full scheduling of the classes.

The auditor said "at no time was action taken or were any recommendations made which would result in the withdrawal of township support from the practical arts pilot program."

Democrats To Discuss Membership, Officers

The Regular Democratic Organization of Elk Grove Township will meet tonight at 8 at the Mount Prospect Country Club to plan the annual membership drive and to elect new officers.

Stated for discussion is the role of township government and its relationship to the school districts. Township residents are invited to attend the open meeting.

Lee, a recently successful candidate on the GOP slate for township office, then leveled his own attack on the statements of Paul Shaneyfelt, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for township supervisor.

LEE SAID SHANEYFELT apparently "intends to continue his program of sniping at constructive township activities from behind the scenes."

Lee charged Shaneyfelt with failure to attend the township's annual meeting and that he has "not bothered to attend any of the regular scheduled monthly meetings of the township officials, nor have any of the other Democratic candidates."

Speaking of the Dist. 57 vocational training program, Lee said "it was one of the campaign pledges of the township officials to investigate — to attempt to sponsor — and to provide 'see' money for the youth activities program. This pledge will be fulfilled."

Prospect Counselor Attends Conference

David Lindemann of Arlington Heights, college counselor at Prospect High School, was among 37 participants in a recent conference on higher education at Northland College in Ashland, Wis.

The counselors studied and evaluated the "Northland Plan," the new academic program being introduced at the college next September.

The plan includes a cross-disciplinary approach in 11 subject areas for freshmen and sophomores, plus individualized programs for juniors and seniors with emphasis on off-campus study. A feature of the plan is the 14-14-5 week academic calendar with a short spring term devoted to a single course of study and overseas and off-campus study.

the Cardinal." He explained that Cardinal Cody did not want a possible demonstration by the group to ruin the ceremonies for parishioners and the dedication was performed by The Rev. James Doherty, St. Edna's pastor.

FR. EGAN MET with five members of the Seminarian group in April concerning Project Equality and asked for an opportunity to speak to the entire student group. He was asked to a May 1 program but the invitation was later rescinded because the students "had matters of greater urgency to discuss at that time."

In February the Protestant Church Federation of Greater Chicago asked the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race to seek adoption of Project Equality by the metropolitan religious community.

The Chicago Conference, in turn, asked 50 denominations if they would enter into an employment compliance program and assist with its funding.

Fr. Egan responded, saying that the Chicago Archdiocese "was prepared to take part in such a project" and to share costs.

On April 18 a committee was appointed by the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race to explore inauguration of a Project Equality program and to study effects of similar programs in other areas. The committee's report is due today.

The six protesters at the Arlington Heights church Sunday carried signs simply saying "Project Equality." Mrs. Becky Sutton of the chancery office in Chicago said Cardinal Cody had no plans to speak to the group at the present time as Fr. Egan had already talked with representatives of the organization.
